ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE

PLANS ARE TO MAKE THIS BEST ENCAMPMENT YET.

SHELBY TENTS TO BE USED

Cadets Are to Work Out Many Problems in Military Work—
Canteen to Be Established—
Cadets to Spend Some Time on Rifle Range.

The annual cadet encampment will commence next Wednesday. The cadets will assemble at the armory and there they will be marched to the Burlington station. They will be taken by train from Lincoln to about three miles north of Ashland, where they will march from to the place where the encampment will be held, at the government rifle range.

For the past two weeks preparations have been going on for the encampment. Captain-Quartermaster Modesitt has been working on the details of the camp for some time, and it promises to be one of the best encampments that has ever been held by the university cadets. This week the cadets have been issued haversacks, mess kits and canteens, for use at camp. This is government property, and the cadets will be also better equipped for this encampment than they ever have before.

Shelby Tents.

The cadets this year will be housed in Shelby tents. These are the conical tents which the government has had in use for the past few years. The tents will be distributed proportionately between the six companies and the two detachments. Three tents will be issued to each company for the use of the officers and the first and second sergeants. Eight tents will be used by the remainder of the company.

The camp this year will be different in many ways from former encampments. The men will be put to work in the solution of various military problems. In previous years the cadets have had daily drill and one problem in defense and attack of a position. This year they will have problems in outpost duty, and other similar military problems besides the problem in defense and attack. Drills and parades will also occupy a large part of the time of the cadets, and the encampment this year promises to be a busy five days for the four hundred men of the First battalion of university cadets.

Another new feature of this year's encampment will be the work of the cadets on the rifle range. Last year the whole battalion spent a day on the range. This year it is planned to have one company at a time spend a day on the range. This will give the cadets a chance to do their best work on the targets and in this way the men of the various companies can show what ability they have as marksmen.

A Canteen.

This year the cadet encampment is to have a canteen. This is another novel feature of the encampment. For the past few years the Y. M. C. A. has had a refreshment tent at camp, but this year the quartermaster will have a regular canteen. Here everything in the line of necessities may be purchased by the cadets. Clothing, refreshments, and all things that could be purchased at a regular army canteen will be kept on sale at the canteen at the camp. Things of this nature are expected to make the encampment one of the best ever held by the First battalion of university cadets.

DR. CONDRA IN CHARGE.

Will Teach in Largest Summer School.

Catalogs of the Cornell University summer school have been received on the campus. Dr. G. E. Condra is again to have charge of the department of geography in the Ithaca summer school. This is the largest summer school in the United States, professors and students and teachers being present from everywhere. Dr. Condra is to give lectures on industrial geography, physical geography and will be in charge of the field work, as well as direct the other work. He will have a corps of four instructors under him.

Cornell is well situated to be made an ideal place to study geography in the summer. Field excursions to Niagara Falls and New York city are listed. Cornell has the most beautiful campus in the country. Dr. Condra leaves about July 4 for Ithaca, giving summer school lectures here before going. It would be a good chance for Nebraska students who wish to get acquainted with eastern student methods and have an ideal place to do summer work to go to Cornell for their summer months.

QUESTION DECIDED FOR COLLEGE DEBATE

SUPPORT OF ORGANIZED LABOR WILL BE ARGUED.

HIGH SCHOOL QUESTION IS OUT

Unofficial Announcement of Intercollegiate Question Made Yesterday—High Schools Will Argue Navy Problem.

The question for the fifth annual debates in the Central Debating League has been unofficially announced. "Resolved, That the movement of organized labor for the closed shop should receive the support of public opinion," is the question which will be debated in the contests of the league next December.

The five members of the league, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois, each submitted a question and a vote was taken. This resulted in the selection of the closed-shop question as submitted by Minnesota.

The Nebraska try-outs for places on the squad will not be held until next fall. Students interested in this matter are referred to the intercollegiate debating bulletin, where an announcement will be made in a few days.

High School Question.

The question for the fourth annual Nebraska High School Debating League's contest was announced yesterday by Professor M. M. Fogg, president of the league.

The question follows: "Resolved, That the policy of maintaining the United States navy at its present strength is preferable to the policy of substantially increasing it." It was selected by a vote of the members from a list of ten which the executive committee suggested.

A bibliography of the question will be published in the third annual bulletin of the league, which will be issued next week. The annual will also give an account of the forty-five contests of the year just closed.

PLAN FOR SELF-HELP.

"Current Literature" Has Established Scholarship Fund for Needy Students.

Realizing that hundreds of capable young men and young women who, though in character and ability are entitled to every advantage of a higher education, are compelled to forego a college course on account of lack of funds, the Current Literature Magazine has been able to perfect a plan, by which it can enable an indefinite number of students to secure the money required to pay all necessary college expenses.

A Scholarship Fund, open to any young man or woman who has the proper recommendations, and available in any recognized college in the country, has been established. The plan has the endorsement of educators throughout the country, and the supervising board of the fund consists of six of the best known literary men in the United States. The Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, ex-vice-president of the United States; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr., University; Mr. Elgin R. L. Gould, ex-chamberlain of New York City; Dr. John H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York, and former professor of politics in Princeton; Dr. Ethelbert Warfield, president of Lafayette College, and Dr. Edward S. Wheeler, editor of Current Literature.

The fund provides for an unlimited number of scholarships worth $525 a year, for a four year course. There are at present 68 beneficiaries of the fund enrolled at 47 different colleges throughout the country, including 7 at Yale, 5 at Cornell, 1 at Harvard, and 1 at Dartmouth.

Full particulars may be obtained at the office of the State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Temple, Thursday and Friday from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 8 p. m., and Saturday from 9 to 11 a. m.

RECEIVE NEW MAPS.

To Enlarge Courses Next Year.

The department of geography has just received a number of maps and lantern slides to illustrate the countries of Europe and Asia. They will be used next year in the courses which deal with these regions. England, Ireland, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and the Bible lands are among the places which can be almost perfectly illustrated. The course next year will be enlarged and extended. There has been a demand for some time on the part of students of Bible history and of foreign industries for this work, and next year they can be accommodated.

NEW NEBRASKA SONG SUBMITTED TODAY

THE UNIVERSITY PUBLIC TO HAVE A VOICE.

CHOSEN BY THE COMMITTEE

Former Rumors as to Inability to Decide on Song Based on Misunderstanding—Chorus Will Sing It at Convocation.

The matter of choosing a university song is again to come before the public. At convocation this morning the chorus will sing "Our Nebraska," the song to be tried out before the university public.

Some slight misunderstanding has arisen with regards to the university song contest. It was due to this that the report was circulated some time ago that the committee selected to choose a university song had found no song worthy of selection.

The committee, it is true, did not feel ready to declare arbitrarily that any one of the songs submitted to them should be the official song of the school for all time. They did, however, find one song so good that the members agreed it was worth putting before the school, even at a great deal of pains. It was at first thought that the song could not be so "tried out" until next fall, hence the matter was considered closed for the time being. By quick work, however, the song has been published, and Mrs. Raymond has drilled the chorus in it. It will be sung and copies will be on sale in a day or two at different places in the city. It is hoped that a large attendance will be at convocation to pass judgment on the song.

As submitted to the committee the words of the song follow:

Our Nebraska.

On gold of the sun, and gold of the corn,
And gold of the golden rod,
Nebraska stands, our college dear,
Queen of her prairies broad,
Her spirit free as the winds that blow,
Her vision wide as the sky—
And high in the fight for truth or right
Her glorious colors fly.

Chorus.

Then on, on, winds of the prairie,
Sweep and leap o'er your billowing plains!
Swell the song our voices raise—
Nebraska! Nebraska!
Our Nebraska!

Hers is the wealth of ages gone,
Spoil of a million years,
Hers is the hope of days to come,
Strong as the sons she rears,
Mother of light to her children all,
Scattered from sea to sea—
They shout from the East, they shout from the West,
"Long life to thee!"

Chorus.

Then on, on, winds of the prairie,
Sweep and leap o'er your billowing plains!
Swell the song our voices raise—
Nebraska! Nebraska!
Our Nebraska!
