CONVOCATION.

The two convocations which are held each week are for the benefit of the students. However, attendance is not compulsory. The university men and women will be greatly benefitted to attend every convocation which is held in Memorial hall. Each week a lecture well worth the time spent in listening to it is delivered, and it is to the interest of every man and woman to be present. Local musicians are often prevailed upon to give concerts for the benefit of the men and women of the university at this hour, and no man or woman who considers themselves loyal students of this institution can miss one of these concerts, which often cost a large price when heard at a music hall or a theater.

DRILL.

At the close of the first week's drill the usual grumbling among the new men of the university is heard about the work in the military department. It stands to reason that the men who mapped out the course for the men of the university knew a great deal more about what the freshmen need to take than do the first-year men themselves. As a result the freshmen should drill and be men about it. If they expect to play the "baby act," this is not the place for them to spend nine months out of each twelve for the next four years.

FOOTBALL GAMES.

The first game of the season comes tomorrow. At that time the men of the university will be out battling for the honor of the school on the gridiron. However, it is necessary for every man and every woman to be present at this game. No matter if the contest is with one of the smaller colleges of the state. The honor of Nebraska is being upheld by a number of men and it is necessary for you to give them your support. Get out and boost. What is the difference if you yell yourself hoarse? A man can go to this university but once in his life, and he should take advantage of every opportunity to show that he is a man with the real university spirit. University spirit, especially when it is University of Nebraska spirit, is the best thing to make men with red corpuscles in their blood. Get out and cheer. Support the Nebraska team. It is your team as well as a team being longed to the rest of the students. Fight for the Scarlet and Cream as hard as if you were wearing a football suit. It is your duty. Now do it.

THE FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY.

A movement in the right direction was started yesterday in calling a meeting of the members of the freshman class and telling them what they were in school for. It is necessary to act in this manner for the good of the new students. In many of the eastern colleges the under classmen are made to feel that they are an organized body working for the good of the institution of which they are a part.

OCTOBER

This is one of the needs of Nebraska, and in accomplishing this the assembly yesterday took a step in the right direction. Many of the new students do not know what they are here for, and instead of giving them aid and sympathy the upper classmen gently remind the freshmen how little they know and that they are of particularly no use.

However the freshmen are a necessary part of a college community, and for their benefit the upper classmen should seek to aid the new men and women, instead of making fun of them and seeking to criticize their every action.

In many instances the first year man also knows too much. He seeks to tell his fellow students how the university should be run, and what the heads of the departments as well as the executive of the institution should do. For this reason he should be made to knuckle down and bear the jibes and "slams" of the upper classmen. For the other reason aid should be given him.

Drake will require two years of collegiate work hereafter before admitting any one to the law school.

A class glee club is the latest organization to break out at Michigan. The sophomores have been the first to get together on the proposition.

Those students of the Montana Agricultural College who engage in oratory, debating or do regular staff work on the college paper will be given credit in the department of English.

In England one student in five takes part in some phase of athletics, according to a comparative study made by Professor Fairchild of the University of Missouri, while in American colleges the ratio is only one in fifty.

least two years' standing or a former student of good standing with at least two years of college credit who has been out of the university five or more years."

The Punishment.

For new students the degree of punishment lies within the discretion of the fraternity council, which they may inflict in case of identified violation of its statutes. The rule is: "If any fraternity shall violate the rule of this council with reference to rushing or pledging a student, such fraternity shall not be allowed to pledge or initiate such student within a period of one year from the date of such violation. Any student pledged or initiated in violation of the rules of the inter-fraternity council shall be liable to expulsion from the university, and the chapter concerned shall be publicly reprimanded as directed by the council. Ignorance of the law shall excuse no one."

The fraternity prospects for new pledges this year are brighter than ever before. At least such is the general consensus of opinion among university fraternity men. With the sororities of Nebraska establishing a pledging record which greatly surpasses any heretofore established by the sororities of this school, it appears at present as though the fraternities will "go and do likewise."

MEETING CALLED OFF.

Missouri Valley Officials Not to Interpret Rules.

The proposed conference of Missouri Valley football officials has been called off. After consultation with members of the national rules committee, Chairman Clapp of the conference officials committee decided that the meeting was not necessary. The interpretations of the New York and Chicago conferences will be accepted, and the officials will await developments. If it is found that there are differences of opinion as the season progresses, a meeting may be held at a later date.

Work has been in progress at Ames for two weeks. The largest enrollment in the history of the college is reported.

The Morningside football squad encamped at Blue Lake, near Onawa, for two weeks previous to the opening of college. The outing and systematic exercise did much to put the men in fine shape.

The University of Washington Daily is to have one column each week devoted especially to the interests of women of the university by reporting the doings of their sisters in other colleges.

A course of instruction in life saving is being offered at Syracuse University. Practical work in the water is given. Charts illustrating the various methods of saving the life of a drowning person are exhibited.

The annual rope-tying contest between the freshmen and sophomores at Stanford was won by the class of 1913, after a hard battle of thirty minutes. There were 171 sophomores and 180 freshmen in the rush.

The trustees of the Rhodes scholarships have issued a statement showing that 179 men were recipients of Rhodes honors last year. Of this number 90 were from the United States, 78 from the British colonies, and 11 from Germany.

The faculty of the University of Minnesota are having a controversy with superintendents of the state over the right of the university to be the sole judge of its entrance requirements.

The old terms applied to undergraduates, freshmen, sophomore, etc., have been replaced at Chicago University by a technical division of the students into groups, as the upper and lower seniors and the upper and lower juniors.

Entrance requirements at the University of Iowa have been made higher by an original method. Applicants from an unaccredited school must take examinations on one-half of their work done in secondary schools and make a general average of 75 to matriculate.

The executive committee of the council of New York University, at a special meeting a few days ago, appointed Francis Hovey Stoddard dean of the college of art and pure sciences. Professor Stoddard has been connected with the English department of the university since 1887 and is the author of "The Evolution of the English Novel."
