A score of 66 to 0 tells the tale of Nebraska's victory over Peru Saturday. Forward passes and end runs gained the big share of ground for the Cornhuskers.

While the football victory of Saturday over the Peru normal team does not rank among the season's hardest games, the overwhelming result served one definite purpose. It brought out the fact that "King" Cole has more good material to work on than Nebraska has had for many a day. The coach was highly pleased at the showing, which, with the new rules to contend with, was better than most followers of the game had anticipated.

With everything in favor of the Cornhuskers, both in weight and experience, it is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty what the result of a really hard game would be. However, in offensive play the university team showed up particularly well, especially on the forward passes. A few attempts during the first two quarters failed, but on the whole the passes were accurately made and well handled.

Warner and E. Frank Star.

Warner at quarter and Ernie Frank at right half put on a remarkable exhibition of speed and head work. Warner was at his best on end runs and several times worming his way through the Normalites for big gains made some of the longest runs of the game. E. Frank was a big ground gainer with a number of long end runs. Lofgren and Chaunter, on the ends, both played in good form.

After the showing South Dakota made against Minnesota the game next Saturday is looked forward to with considerable interest. This score would indicate that South Dakota has been doing some hard work and has some new men who are playing a fast game. In view of Nebraska's score against Minnesota last year, which is not so very different from South Dakota's this year, next Saturday may see a lively little tussle.

Minor Will Be In.

Minor, who was out of Saturday's game on account of credits, will doubtless be able to go in Saturday. He has removed one "obstacle," and will take an examination in the second week. Owen Frank was out last night working on goal kicking, and although he had a muddy field to contend with, he seemed to be back in something like old time form.

Nebraska's back field has come in for more or less criticism, the principal fault apparently being the lack of weight. It is true that the back field is as light as Nebraska has had for some time, but what Rathbone, Warner, Hascall and the two Franks lack in weight they certainly make up in speed. And in the game, according to the new rules, speed is supposed to come first, weight afterward. Of course more or less weight is an absolute necessity, but after the showing of speed made against Peru, criticism of the back field will be at least a little less severe.

Manager Eager has provided a university girls' section in the center of the reserved section of the grandstand. It was at first to be at the end of the section, but the center has been railed off and the seats are now the best on the grounds.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINS.

"Paddle Social" Helps University Men Get Acquainted.

Over four hundred university men attended the Y. M. C. A. "paddle social" at the armory Saturday evening. A large part of the men were new students, while the upperclassmen were present by scores to get acquainted with the freshmen. The attendance was cut somewhat by the conflict of rushing parties by various fraternities. The usual Y. M. C. A. stunts, with new variations, lent hilarity to the occasion. Randall Curtis of Omaha was chairman of the committee in charge.

CACTUS SPECIMENS ARRIVE.

New Addition to the Plant Collection Placed in Greenhouse.

The twenty species of cactus, which Dr. Bessey ordered from New Mexico, arrived Saturday and they have been placed in the greenhouse, where students of advanced botany will have an opportunity to study the various types of this thorny kind of plant life. The specimens range all the way from small ones only a few inches in height to those growing a foot or more into the air. Some of these plants will grow to be tall cacti, while others will never get more than four or five inches high. Some of the species have been grown in the greenhouse for several years and the specimens are very valuable. Several of them are three feet in height.

One very interesting plant, now in the greenhouse, was brought from the state of Washington by Miss L. Walker. It is commonly known as the "pitcher plant." The pitcher plant belongs to the carnivorous variety of plants, that is, they live partly on insects which are caught and absorbed as food for the plant. Each leaf has the shape of a pitcher. There are about twenty leaves on the plant which is growing in the Nebraska greenhouse.

SENIOR ELECTION TODAY

RAYMOND ANR STURMER ARE THE RIVAL CANDIDATES.

INTEREST IN ELECTION IS HIGH

CAMPAIGN MARKED BY ABSENCE OF "MUD SLINGING."

Supporters of Both Men Work Hard Monday Soliciting Support for Favorites.

The senior election will be held this morning at 11:30 in Memorial hall. A. R. Raymond of Fairmont and F. C. Sturmer of Beatrice are the only two candidates who are in the field for election to the office of president. Both men have been working hard in the organization of their respective campaigns and it is expected that no lack of enthusiasm will be notable at the meeting this morning.

A big attendance of the fourth year men is expected at this meeting which will be the culmination of an exciting campaign. In addition to choosing the leader for the class for this semester the class will be asked to attend a couple of other matters of importance to all seniors.

Candidates Busy.

Yesterday afternoon saw the backers of the two candidates taking advantage of the last few hours before the election, and soliciting votes for their favorite. Everywhere on the campus groups of senior political leaders could be seen, talking over the chances of their particular candidate, and comparing notes on "possible things that may happen to make it go against us." One student said that he had been approached by a half dozen men during a single half hour while he was sitting on the railing near the Administration building. Some of them were working for Sturmer and others for Raymond. The workers last night were all pledged to their candidate to labor until the election meeting was called to order and even until the vote is finally cast. Then, and then only, will they take time to draw a deep sigh and wait breathlessly to hear the returns.

Both Men Claim Victory.

Both candidates are working hard and both claim that victory cannot go to the other fellow. Sturmer has centered much of his campaign among the "laws" and the engineers. He figures that he will carry the vote in the law college by a big majority, but on the other hand the friends of Raymond claim a lead among the laws: They state that although Sturmer claims to have almost every senior law lined up, that actually Raymond has definite pledges from over fifty per cent of the laws. The engineer vote, it is thought, will be solid for Sturmer.

While both men have organized a strong band of friends to assist in the campaign, it is known that neither is governed in his actions by any sort of clique. The campaign, while one of the most aggressive and exciting in years, has been exceptionally clean. While some of the admirers have been scraping over the relative qualifications of the two candidates, the candidates themselves have refused to "sling mud" or "run down" the opponent, which is usually the case in the ordinary campaign.

The Candidates.

A. R. Raymond was the first man to announce his candidacy. His home is at Fairmont, Nebraska. He is a member of Phi Alpha Tau debating fraternity and of the Union Literary society. He is also a "barb." Raymond has been prominent and active in the affairs of the class, and was last year a member of the debating team which won the class champion ship of the school. He is registered in the science and arts college.

C. F. Sturmer was endorsed at a meeting of the senior engineers and placed in the field after that meeting. His home is at Beatrice. He is a member of the Engineering society and has been night librarian of the law school. He has been one of "King" Cole's hard working pupils for three seasons. He has worked hard for the interests of the class of 1911, and was one of its chief organizers the first year in school.

FORMER REGENT ON CAMPUS

REV. ELLIOTT DELIGHTED WITH THE UNIVERSITY.

WAS MEMBER OF THE FIRST BOARD

HELPED DESIGN OLDEST BUILDING ON THE CAMPUS?

Was Also One of the Founders of the First Presbyterian Church of Lincoln.

Rev. Elliott of Oregon, a member of the first board of regents of the University of Nebraska and one of the founders of the First Presbyterian church of Lincoln, made a short visit at the university yesterday. It was his first visit to Lincoln in forty years, as he left this city before the oldest building on the campus was completed. In a discussion with one of the university officials, Rev. Elliott revealed a fact which is of historical interest to the students of the university.

His remarks concerned the old University hall, and in part is as follows: "The first board of regents designed University hall as they believed it should be constructed. This plan they then submitted to Governor Butler of Nebraska for his approval. Such, however, was seemingly not forthcoming. Subsequently, Governor Butler presented to the regents a design radically different from the one previously opened for his inspection. This the regents in turn rejected.

"Governor Butler consequently agreed to comply with the request implied in the ruling of the regents. Upon adjournment of the board of regents, however, the construction of University hall proceeded according to the plans formulated by Governor Butler and his architect. Students, therefore, may be reassured that University hall is not a reproduction of plans designed by any previous board of regents. The credit must be attributed to ex-Governor Butler."

TWENTY-SEVEN EMPLOYED.

Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau Does a Flourishing Business.

The department for student employment at Y. M. C. A. quarters enjoyed a flourishing business last week. During that period forty applications were entered, twenty-seven of the same being promptly filled, with a remainder of thirteen positions still vacant. Applications for employment should be turned in to the secretary at once, if one has the expectation of securing work.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP.

Miss Gertrude Tyler of Auburn Receives $200.

Miss Gertrude Tyler of Auburn was awarded the state federation scholarship of $200, by unanimous vote of the committee at a meeting held Saturday at the office of Supt. E. C. Bishop. The state president, Mrs. F. H. Cole of Omaha, and Chancellor Avery, who form the committee with Mr. Bishop, were also present. The members of the state educational committee had also been invited to take part in the award, and the chairman, Miss Hershey, came from Nebraska City for the purpose, and Mrs. E. L. Hinman of Lincoln also went over the papers. Miss Tyler's scholarship and recommendations were found most satisfactory. She has already registered at the State University.
