If you can write an English sentence and want to earn two hours' credit on the Nebraska, leave your name with the editor. You should be well acquainted with the university and university affairs to hold the job.

OUR CHANCELLOR.

The people of the state have commenced to recognize the true worth of our chancellor. Thursday was a busy day for him. He spoke at a meeting of the Farmers' National Congress in the morning and in the afternoon he addressed the Germans at the state house. What the citizens of Nebraska are just learning the students of the university have known for two years. Three cheers and a tiger for Chancellor Avery.

Bear stories from South Dakota. It is sometimes found the bears have claws. Be careful, boys.

The senior laws vote in two class elections. The junior and freshman laws likewise. How would you like to be a law student? How about it, engineers, medics, and the rest of the line-up?

Middles at Annapolis cannot set with their lady friends at football games. Hard luck! What would happen if such a ruling was passed at Nebraska?

BUDD
1415 O ST.

A Minnesota co-ed left a bag of chocolate drops in her rhetoric recitation room. That is not half as bad as the Nebraska man who dropped his "crib" during an examination last spring.

CROSS COUNTRY.

While many of the men of the university are unable to get out for the football team, there are some who are able to do a little long distance running. You are just the man the school is looking for. Do what you can. If you can run a little get out. Don't say, "I can't." You are the man the university needs to get busy at once. The more men out the better the team will be. The university wants the best team it can get. Everybody out.

IOWA COLLEGE WOMEN.

We see by the Daily Iowan that the young ladies of one of the sororities of the University of Iowa have made some stringent regulations. They are not going for any afternoon strolls with the sterner sex, they must not desert chapel for the ice cream parlor or any such pleasure and, above all, they must not gossip at meals. Philoso-ophy, history, mathematics, or at least good books are the prescribed topics for conversation. They say they are living up to the rules. What a difference there must be between Iowa and Syracuse women.—The Syracuse Daily Orange.

TO HOLD HANDICAP MEET.

Board of Control Arranges for First Work in November.

A handicap track meet will be held at the state university during the month of November. A motion to this effect was made and passed at a meeting of the athletic board of the university Thursday morning in Dr. Clapp's office. The purpose of this track meet will be to develop material for the track team for next spring.

The board also advanced enough money to purchase a large number of torches which will be used by the student body in the celebrations which the men and women of the university are planning to hold during the football season and also next spring in the annual "nightshirt" parade. These torches will be sold to the students who desire to purchase them at cost.

Notice was also served that a motion for a change in the constitution would be made at the next meeting of the board by which the membership of several of the committees would be changed.

DEBATE CANDIDATES MEET.

Select Sides for the Try-out to Be Held Saturday.

Candidates for the debating squad met at 1:15 yesterday and selected sides for the try-out to be held Saturday. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That the movement of organized labor for the closed shop deserves the support of public opinion." The candidates are:

Affirmative—English, Votava, Oberfelder, Garrett, Funke, Rogers, Walter,

Nebraska has copped the first place in this event every year but two since it was started in 1904. With an abundance of material in sight from the freshmen who were not eligible last year, and with three or four veterans to count on, the chances for another winning are good.

At the University of Utah a flag rush is held between the sophomores and freshmen in which the latter try to pull down a large flag nailed to the top of a twenty-foot pole. The second year students surround this pole and act on the defense in their aim to prevent the freshmen from carrying out their purpose.
