SPECIAL CLASSES FOR UNIMEN

AN OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE UTILITARIAN STUDIES.

Afternoon and Evening Classes in
 Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Typewriting,
 Penmanship At Nebraska School of Business.

EXPERIENCE OF UNIVERSITY MEN

The Nebraska School of Business, located in the Hall Bros. building, 1519 O street, is organizing special afternoon and evening classes at convenient hours for university students who wish to study either shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping or penmanship. The evening classes meet three evenings each week—Monday, Wednesday and Friday. University students may arrange for any number of hours per week that they may wish to take, and the rates for tuition will be very reasonable. The instruction is given by teachers of long experience and recognized ability.

Mr. Glenn O. Taylor, B. A., LL. B., speaking from his own experience, says: "I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the freshman in college makes a mistake if he does not avail himself of the opportunity of studying shorthand and typewriting. The student who has a knowledge of shorthand has not only a very rapid means of taking notes from class work to be used later as references in preparation for reviews and examinations, but also has a knowledge which may be readily turned into money during his spare hours and vacations. Moreover, such student, when his college course is finished, is assured immediate employment in the commercial world."

Mr. Frank Oates, a student of the N. S. B., who held a position with the B. & M. in this city last year, is now paying his way through Northwestern, at Evanston, with his shorthand and typewriting.

Any university students interested in these special classes are invited to call at the school and obtain further particulars. The school is located on O street in the Hall Bros. building, just east of the F. & M. bank.

The young people of the First Christian church are leaving nothing undone to provide entertainment for the two to three hundred students that are expected to attend their annual reception Friday evening. The reception will be held at the church, Fourteenth and M streets, and as in the past, a cordial invitation is extended to all strangers as well as students.

Mrs. H. H. Wheeler, Mrs. C. L. Hall, Miss Camille Hall and Miss Margaret Wheeler entertained at luncheon at noon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Edwin Hinkley Barbour and her daughter, Miss Eleanore Barbour. This is one of a number of functions given for Miss Barbour, one of the bride-elect of the season. The luncheon was given at 12 o'clock at the Hall residence, 1528 K street.

At the request of passengers living on the Randolph and North Twenty-fifth street lines, these lines will operate only to O street without crossing. The cemetery car, leaving the post-office at two minutes after the hour and every fifteen minutes thereafter, 2, 17, 32 and 47, will transfer to the Randolph street car going out, making connections at Twenty-fifth and O streets. Passengers for the North Twenty-fifth street line will connect with the state farm cars, leaving the postoffice on the hour, 15, 30 and 45 minutes after the hour, making connections at Twenty-fifth and O streets.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS

Drake.

Coach Griffith gave his football squad one of the hardest work-outs Monday night they have had this season, in preparation for the game with Illinois next Saturday.

Fiercer work on the part of the entire team is the slogan of Griffith after the showing made against Des Moines college last Saturday, and Monday night he pointed out to the men the necessity of playing the game at all times.

The likely and unlikely candidates are still being treated alike by Griffith and he has given no intimation whatever of his selections for the first squad.

Two more of last year's eleven, Jones and McCreight, both ends, joined the squad last night, which will give a lot of valuable material for the line.

Cornell.

While football practice at Cornell Monday afternoon was light, the coaches giving the men a rest after Saturday's strenuous game, the teams put in three hours of individual coaching. Dan Reed was impressed by the poor tackling of the forwards in Saturday's game and today set them at the tackling dummy for an hour's drill. Munk, Austin, Hale, Campaign, Carman, Zeller and Freidenrich were sent against the dummy, before which the coaches had stretched a rope about waist high. The men had to run under this rope, or a hake handle in the hands of Reed, before they could make their tackles. The coaches expect to teach the men to tackle just low enough by this device. The backs were drilled at the forward pass, both over and outside the line of scrimmage.

Illinois.

"Illinois must show better to beat Chicago." That was Jimmy Ashmore's statement after the Illinois eleven had taken his men from James Milliken University into camp in Saturday's game by a 13-0 tune. Ashmore was sincere. He is an Illinois grad himself, and is rated as the best first baseman that ever helped to win a baseball game for "G" Huff et al.

The Milliken coach is certainly right about Chicago's chances. Illinois put up just about the classiest exhibition of consistent fumbling that a college football team has ever shown. It was a signal for a demonstration when one of the backs caught a punt cleanly. Like as not the men were a bit unnerved, in that Captain Butzer, Twist, Oliver and Merriman were not in the game, but nevertheless most of the players were veterans. Illinois is loaded with them this year.

At Chicago university the members of the different classes try to outdo each other in fantastic costumes when they attend one of the big athletic carnivals. The class which makes the "best" showing receives a large banner.

Politics is a mooted question at other colleges than Illinois. The Daily Iowan says: "The liberal arts college has become one vast political camp. From the freshmen, who are just beginning to wake up, to the seniors, who have been campaigning for some time, politics is now a question which rivals football in interest."
