GILMORE ELECTED PRESIDENT

NEBRASKA CITY MAN DEFEATS EPPERSON AND PURDY.

BATES PRESIDES AT THE MEETING

CHANCELLOR AVERY OVERCOMES FEAR OF FIRST YEAR MEN.

New President of Freshman Class an Engineer—Also a Prominent Football Player—Also Debates.

William F. Gilmore of Nebraska City was yesterday elected president of the freshman class. His opponents were Charles Epperson of Clay Center and Leonard Purdy of Beatrice. Less than two hundred classmen attended the meeting, which was held after the football rally.

This is the last of the presidential elections in the four classes for this semester. There was no small amount of enthusiasm shown for so small a gathering. When the different candidates entered the room their supporters gave lusty cheers for them.

Chancellor Avery Speaks.

Chancellor Avery called the meeting to order. He was cordially received by the first year students. The chancellor explained to the freshmen that it was both advantageous and proper that the president of the junior class should be placed in charge of the initial meeting of the first year students.

He said in part: "In all of the eastern colleges of which I have learned, and I have been informed regarding several of these institutions, it is an old tradition that the juniors always are particular friends of the freshmen, who in turn accept their friendship. In the same way the seniors and sophomores are friends." He went on to explain that while this was only a tradition, that it was good to keep close to the traditions which have proven their worth. He introduced President Bates of the junior class as the presiding officer, and assured the freshmen that he would be an impartial official.

Bates Presides.

Bates was greeted with cheers when he arose to take charge. Before the meeting there had been a feeling of uncertainty regarding the matter of a member of another class presiding at a meeting of the class of 1914. This fear, however, was banished from their young minds when the chancellor introduced Bates. Upper classmen were not permitted to remain in the room to witness the proceedings.

Leonard Purdy of Beatrice was the first nominee. William Gilmore was then nominated as "Bill" Gilmore. Charles Epperson of Clay Center was the last man to be named. All of the candidates were called upon for short speeches. They responded to the demand. There was a big demonstration from the Epperson forces when he finished his speech. It seemed reasonable that he would poll a big vote. The other two men were given applause and the customary "three cheers."

Two Ballots Taken.

The first ballot showed a total vote of 168 ballots. This was considered as a very small vote for a freshman election, where there are about 500 students in the class. Epperson was in the lead. The figures for the first ballot showed the following vote:

Epperson	60
Gilmore	59
Purdy	49

A second ballot was taken, in which Epperson lost five votes and Gilmore gained forty-one. The bulletin board showed the following figures:

Gilmore	100
Epperson	55

President Gilmore announced after the meeting that he would appoint the members of the Olympics committee on Friday. The committee will get to work at once on plans for the big class fight. Gilmore is an engineering student. He was president at the Nebraska City high school, where he was a member of the football team and of a debating society. He was last year picked as a member of the all-Nebraska high school football team.

Nebraska rooters yesterday rallied to give the football team a rousing send-off with an enthusiasm that showed the spirit of the school to be gaining every year. In the morning at convocation hour Memorial hall was crowded to its limit by hundreds of students who gathered for a "root-fest" to inspire the football men for their coming game with Minnesota. At 6 o'clock in the evening, when the Professor Caldwell, chairman of the football committee, spoke of the necessity of every student in the school being full of enthusiasm and loyalty to the team, thereby encouraging and invigorating the players to do their best.

"King" Cole, the coach, said: "It is just such enthusiasm as this which is needed to carry our boys to victory when they meet the Minnesotans on Saturday. They are going into one of the hardest games of the season and they need to feel that every university student is behind them. You may well feel proud of your football team, for I know they will do their best, not only as athletes but as men."

Dr. Condra, who is called the dean of Nebraska spirit, was next on the list. "I believe we will defeat Minnesota," he said. "Here's hoping the boys will hit hard when they hit, and will hold their men when they tackle."

A NEW IDEA IN TRACK WORK

FALL MEET IN NOVEMBER MAY BECOME AN ANNUAL EVENT.

OLD MEN MAY BE HANDICAPPED

TRACK MEN WILL MEET IN THE GYM ON OCTOBER 18.

Dr. Clapp Urges More Men to Try for Cross Country Squad—Candidates Are Scarce.

Fall track athletics will be inaugurated at Nebraska in November, when a handicap meet will be held, open to all students in the university. If the meet this fall is a success it will no doubt become an annual event.

While old men are allowed to enter, they are handicapped, thus giving new men an equal opportunity to show what they can do. Medals will be given for first, second and third places.

All who care to go into training for the coming meet are requested to report on the athletic field between 4 and 5 p. m. All men who are interested in track athletics, whether they have been active in university athletics before or not, are urged to get out and take part.

Fall track meets have been started in other large universities and everywhere they have been found successful. Minnesota has a squad at work getting ready for the fall meet in which there are nearly 100 men.

Track Men to Meet.

On Tuesday, October 18, a meeting of all men interested in track work will be held in the gymnasium. The meeting will be called at 11 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

One of the strongest arguments in favor of a fall meet is that it induces the men to start training early. Few who go in for training for the fall meet give up their work, so that when spring comes they are in much better condition than they would otherwise be.

On the whole, Nebraska has an excellent outlook for a strong track team next spring. A majority of last year's best men have returned and there is an abundance of new material to work on. A number of men have been taking a daily work-out for the past three weeks.

Cross-Country Men Wanted.

Dr. Clapp expressed some regret at the fact that more men do not come out for the varsity cross-country team. He states that thus far not more than fifteen or twenty men have trained each evening, where there should have been fifty at least in the squad.

The fact that Amberson is ineligible for the varsity team and that Clark did not return to the university, affords an excellent opportunity for all to have a fair chance for varsity glories. Melick, Anderson and Lalar are all in good form and show every indication that they will again contest at Chicago in November. The most conspicuous new men who will be likely candidates are Bates and Hayes.

LATIN CLUB BEGINS WORK.

Officers for Semester Elected Tuesday Evening.

The initial meeting of the Latin club was held at the home of Professor and Mrs. G. E. Barber, Tuesday evening, October 11, at eight o'clock. The following officers were elected for the coming semester: President, Miss Drake; vice president, Miss Munger; secretary-treasurer, Miss Snapp. Miss Outhouse and Miss Dufur were elected as members of the executive committee.

Thursday morning at ten o'clock the executive committee, composed of the faculty of the Latin department, the president of the club and the two other members, met in the office of the Latin department. Miss Hunter and Miss Drake were named as program committee for the coming year, and the matter of programs was considered. New members will be chosen and elected within the coming week.

team took a train for the northwest, they were given a "farewell whoop-er-up" by the cadet band, the First regiment of cadets and several hundred other students.

As one man described the morning rally, it was an "epoch marking event." By 11 o'clock every seat in the hall was taken and those who came late had to stand at the doors and around the outside of the seats.

Cadet Band There.

The cadet band was seated on the platform and opened the festivities with a stirring, martial air that, in itself, was enough to make everyone present glad he had come. As soon as the band slowed down "Oble" came in with, "Now, boys, let's try No. 1," and everyone was glad once more that he had come.

The first thing done was to get every member of the team who could be located on the platform. This had to be done before there could be a proper rally.

Chancellor Avery Speaks.

Guy Reed, chairman of the meeting, first introduced Chancellor Avery. The chancellor is a true rooter and in his little talk he awoke a spirit of enthusiasm which increased through the meeting. "There are other victories the football team can win," the chancellor said, "aside from the mere piling up of a bigger score than their opponents, and the Nebraska team has done its share of winning victories of both kinds." He complimented the members of the team for the splendid record they have made, saying that on their trips they have been a credit to said: "It is your enthusiasm that makes us believe in ourselves. It thrills every man on the team; for it is true in football that a man can do what he thinks he can."

Sid Collins made a speech that called forth much applause. The reason why he felt that the team was going to win was that among the football men there existed a feeling of brotherhood. They work together like a big family. He urged the students of the university to keep up what they started at the rally and work up a spirit of enthusiasm in the school which will last as long as the school exists.

Shonka was the last speaker. "I don't believe," he said, "that the Minnesotans have been raised under any better an atmosphere than we have, or that they are backed by a stronger body of students."

All together there were nearly 700 students at the station last evening to wish the team good luck. The cadet regiment assembled at the corner of Twelfth and R streets at 5:30 p. m., and marched to the station.

Several speeches by football men wound up the send-off. With an express truck for a platform and a howling band of students for an audience a number of football men told how they appreciated the demonstration and how they would fight to the last ditch to make themselves worthy of the support they were receiving.
