Nebraska will meet Minnesota on the Minneapolis field this afternoon with a better chance of winning than the team has had for years. Every man is in good condition, and when the team trots out on the field it will be the best fighting machine the university has ever put out.

Just before the team left they were given a demonstration of enthusiasm such as the university has seldom seen. It showed that every student of the university is behind the team. The expression of loyalty had the ef-

Arrangements are under way for the big fight, known as the "Olympics." This is the organized class contest, which at Nebraska takes the place of the old-time color fights and can rushes. The "Olympics" are singularly a Nebraska idea, originating in the mind of Dr. Condra. The organized class fight which is given this fect of instilling into every football man a determination to do or die.

"King" Cole, while he would not come out with a flat prediction of victory, displayed a confidence in his men which told more than words. In the few speeches made by the football men at the two enthusiastic rallies every one expressed a confidence in himself and in his team. And confidence is one of the essentials.

Injuries Are Unimportant.

Rathbone has an arm that is easily injured, but it is in good condition at present. Ernest Frank has a bad wrist and Harry Minor is still bothered slightly by his bruised shoulder. Elliott has had a weak knee all season. These injuries are all of a minor character and are not apt to handicap play unless by some unfortunate accident the former hurts should be again injured.

The subs are all in fair condition. Russell has a knee which has been bothering him a little, but the rest are free from injuries. Seidell is the least prepared of all the back subs and the most apt to be used because of his ripping possibilities in hitting the line. He will be drilled on signals until the contest, and constantly coached in the finer points of play. Harmon, Sturmer, Ray, Gibson, Elwell and Freitag are all in perfect trim and ready to give a good account of themselves should the exigencies of play make their presence necessary.

while the Hastings dopester has it that the boys from the Capital City may meet a drubbing today at the hands of their team. The Hastings team weighs 162 pounds to the man, while the Lincoln boys are not able to tip the scale for quite so large an amount. Lincoln will undoubtedly run up against a worthy opponent when, at three o'clock today, the referee blows his whistle and signals for the kick-off. It will be the first home game this season for the Lincoln boys.

Leslie Mann, the famous star of the Lincoln boys, will run the team today. This will be the first time that Mann has been permitted to plan for his own runs, and some sensational work may be looked for. Dick Westover, a brother of the great Cornhusker player and coach, John Westover, is the captain of the Lincoln team. Coach Nichols' boys will present a good problem today for the out-state lads to solve. Hastings has been putting up a lively game this season. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

A NEW YELL.

This yell will be No. 6, and will hereafter be given as such:

N-E-B-R-A-S-K-A
Nebraska, Nebraska, Nebraska
Murrah!

Nebraska is just to be spelled out in a monotone, drawing the letters, and especially the last "A." Then yell "Nebraska" three times and yell "Murrah!"

Greek name and has been pulled off at Nebraska for two years, is a well regulated fight. It is a supervised scrap, but by no means a tame affair. Shirts which go into the fray in a wholly good condition come out dirty and fit only for the rag bag. It is a real scrap. Every man who has taken part in the two organized engagements has had his fill of class fights. First Started Here.

The Olympics were first instituted at Nebraska two years ago as a substitute for the fist fight on the campus. In past years it had been the annual custom of the sophomore class to attack the first freshman meeting and afterward kidnap the first year president. The freshmen, resenting such actions, would start something at a time when the sophomores were wearing their best clothes. This caused no little trouble for those who had to have their clothing repaired and their eyes and noses doctored up. May Wear Caps.

The organized scrap is now an annual institution at Nebraska. It has proved itself a distinct success. The winners of the contest are awarded the right to wear class caps during the current year, while the members of the losing class are warned by the other classes not to appear in numeral headgear, at least not upon the campus.

The referee has not yet been appointed, but will be announced early next week. The committees of sopho-
