FINALS TO BE PLAYED TODAY

LAST ROUND OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT WILL BE FAST.

FOUR MEN STILL IN THE RACE

ANY ONE OF WHOM IS LIABLE TO BE THE WINNER.

Goodbody, Weaverling, Parker and Flory are expected to attract interest in the closing matches.

Play in the annual tennis tournament of the University of Nebraska has been continued and matches are being pulled off in rapid succession in an effort to complete the finals during the present good weather season.

With Goodbody, Weaverling, Parker and Flory still in the game, a good amount of "final dope" is being dealt out among court visitors and enthusiasts. Two of the court favorites, Pierce and Osterhaut, who were members of last year's varsity team and who promised to win some of the tournament laurels, met their Waterloo at an early stage of the play. Pierce was attacked by Goodbody, who is now in the semi-finals, and Osterhaut received his "soothing" stroke from Parker, who is still a likely candidate for the finals.

Fast Match Today.

The match between Goodbody and Parker this afternoon at 3 o'clock, is "doped" to be one of the most exciting and spectacular of the entire event. Both of these men have been "probable winners" throughout the tournament, and with the semi-final match slated for them, there is every indication of "something doing."

Goodbody, without doubt, is playing one of the most brilliant games of all the court contestants. His strokes, although sometimes having the appearance of being non-conservative, are usually well placed and leave the balls in a position difficult to return. He has a pretty Lawford stroke and a powerful underhand drive, both of which are hard to receive.

Weaverling has not played much during the present tourney, but in his match with Hubbell, which he won 6-3, 6-1, he displayed some of the strokes which have usually carried him to the finals in the university tournament. His back hand Lawford, when well placed, is one of the worst returns that his opponents will have to meet.

The "dope" on Parker and Flory is a little scattered, although Parker seems to have the best of the odds.

Flory is a young player of the game, although he plays a very conservative game. His weakest point is his service, which may break down if he is pushed hard, as he probably will be in his round with Parker. The latter has some hard strokes which make him a court favorite, and which, in all probability, will make him a member of the varsity squad and team.

Some of the contestants who were defeated earlier in the game, put up as game a fight as did the men who saw the inside of the semi-final round. The match between Pierce and Goodbody and Parker and Osterhaut were of this type. One of the most bitterly contested and long drawn out of any of the matches was between Flory and Andrews in the round before the semi-finals. Here each contestant won a set, 4-6 and 6-2 respectively, while the third and deciding set went deuce to the score of 13-11. Flory being the winner. The three sets played between Kokjer and Parker were equally as well fought, one of the sets ending at 7-5, while the others went 2-6 and 6-2 respectively, Parker proving a little more sure in his strokes and won the match.

Other Results.

The results of the other preliminary matches are as follows: Dears won the first round by default, Beachley defeated Wake, second round, by default; Hubble defeated Hargrave, second round 10-8, 6-2; Weaverling beat Hiltner 6-3, 6-1, second round; Mortensen won first round by a bye; Andrew beat Mortensen, second round 6-4, 6-4; Kokjer won from Thompson, second round 6-1, 6-2.

It is the general opinion among the university club members that the association since the spring tournament of 1909-10, has taken in many good players, especially from the freshman class. For this reason, the prospects for Nebraska in this year's intercollegiate events are very encouraging. There is also a strong rumor about the courts that Smith, one of last year's varsity members, will return to the university next semester, which, also, is good news to the club manager.

BIG CAMPAIGN ON.

Y. M. C. A. Plans to Accumulate $2,000 for Work.

The big financial campaign, now being conducted by the university Y. M. C. A., is running full speed, and shows every indication that the minimum limit of $2,000 set by the Y. M. C. A. officials will be reached.

In conjunction with the campaign, a big "feed" is given in the Y. M. C. A. rooms every evening, which correspond in purpose to the suppers given by the association during the recent membership campaign.

One of the prime purposes of the present campaign is to provide sufficient funds to support a religious work director, whose duty will be to intensify the Y. M. C. A. work and obtain the co-operation of the university students in religious work about the school.

The idea of having a religious work director was first suggested by "Dad" Elliott, who recently visited Nebraska. The plan has been adopted by many of the larger schools, and, having proved so beneficial in other places, is to be given a test at this university, providing the present money campaign is successful.

In connection with this movement, the international Y. M. C. A. committee has publicly announced that, to stimulate the work, it will furnish three-fourths of the director's salary for the first year, one-half the second year, and one-fourth the third year, on the condition that he is well supported thereafter.

The outcome of the financial campaign is still a little uncertain. Two hundred and twenty dollars were pledged by sixty men at the supper Monday evening, which made a good start. Good reports are being made from every quarter, but as yet nothing definite has been published, nor will there be until the close of the solicitations. The campaign closes tonight.

One of the features of this campaign, which distinguishes it from those previously conducted by the association, is that the professors and faculty members will all have an opportunity to contribute. No restrictions are being made on the source of the money supply.

Statistics record that in 1908 there were 464 universities, colleges and technical schools in the United States.

BOYCOTT IN MUSIC MARKET

SOPHOMORE HOP COMMITTEE RECEIVES CALL FROM UNION.

ED WALT THE BONE OF CONTENTION

MUSICIANS' UNION SAYS ED WAS FORCIBLY EJECTED.

Asks Hop Committee to Employ Only Union Labor—But Walt Gets the Job.

Representatives of the Lincoln musicians' union dropped in upon a harmonious meeting of the sophomore hop committee yesterday and, with a solution of salt and water dropping from their organs of sight, pleaded with the committee to turn down the bid of Edward J. Walt, "the music man," for music at the coming sophomore dance.

Secretary Thornberg of the musical organization introduced President Pinney of the union. In a short address to the committee he said the union was a brotherhood of professional musicians who wished to create a spirit of brotherly love among the members thereof. He also said the officers never said anything either "for" or "against" one of their "brothers," but that when one who had at one time been in the fold and been expelled was getting business by putting up a hard luck story, they thought it only right that the committee should hear their side of the story also.

He said, "This is a delicate subject to handle."

Walt is Much Abused.

Pinney elaborated the entire story of how Ed Walt was kicked out of the union because he would not come through with a $40 fine which was imposed upon him "after due consideration by the controlling board of the union." The entire cause of this fine was that a particular newspaper meeting held in Lincoln was favored by a trombone solo played by a brother of Walt. The union officials were put out by the fact that Walt failed to use a certain other trombone player on that evening, cancelling the engagement which he had formerly had with said trombone player. Pinney went on to explain how Walt had been "tried and justly sentenced" and with tears in his voice said that the union hated to throw out Mr. Walt.

Walt tells another story. He says that he did not feel that he was fairly treated by the union officials. Over half of his orchestra left the union with him and others walked out later.

Gets the Job Anyway.

The committee decided to accept the bid of Mr. Walt although it was higher than that of the other organizations. Walt did not apply for the engagement. A member of the committee visited him yesterday to get his bid.

Chairman Andrews for an opportunity to explain their side of the case and their reasons why Walt should not be given their support. This request was courteously granted by the chairman. The committee considered the case carefully before deciding to ask the Walt orchestra to furnish the music, but when a vote was taken, Walt was the unanimous choice of the committee.

Just why busy members of a trades union should take their valuable time from their business to come up to the state university to tell college student committeemen why a non-union orchestra is an organization to be boycotted, the members of the committee could not understand.

The committee decided that university students should not be asked to help any of the local unions in their petty quarrels.

Sophomores Hop November 18.

The sophomore hop will be held at the Lincoln hotel on November 18. No effort will be spared by the sophomores in making it a big event. The number of tickets will actually be limited. Only one hundred admission cards will be sold. In the past classes have promised a limited number of couples, but the sophomores have decided to live up to their promise.

TO DEBATE FEE QUESTION.

Students in Rhetoric 15 to Argue Live Question—Visitors Admitted.

The debates in rhetoric 15 open this afternoon at 2 o'clock in U 106 with a discussion of a live college question: "Resolved, That the University of Nebraska should charge each student an additional fee of $2.50 each semester for the support of athletics, intercollegiate debating and the Daily Nebraskan." The speakers will be E. J. Lee and R. P. Wilson and G. E. DeWolf and W. R. Power, who have been working on the question for a month. Professor Fogg announces that students particularly interested in the question will be allowed to attend as visitors.

GERMAN CLUB ELECTS.

Twelve New Members Added to Organization.

The German club (Deutsche Gesellschaft Verein) held a very enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reinsch Thursday evening. The faculty men's dinner interfered with the presence of some of the Herren Professoren.

As the constitution calls for thirty regular active members, and only eighteen of the old members were back in school, twelve new members were elected. About twenty-four students were recommended by the instructors of the department, whereas only half of this number could be chosen.

The following students were elected to membership:

Lucy Harte, Minnie Funk, Louise Barr, Ruth Rinehart, Lucille Miller, Florence Whittier, Regina Schulte, Edward Huwaldt, Alvina Zumwinkel, Ina Hendricks, John Watson, Herbert Grummann.

It was further decided to take charge of a candy booth at the university county fair this year. The evening was delightfully spent in playing games and singing songs. Refreshments were served.

A new college, ranking about the same as Amherst will soon be established at Portland, Oregon.

BLANKETS FOR THE VARSITY

FOOTBALL COMMITTEE PROVIDES FOR THE PLAYERS.

TEAM GETTING READY FOR KANSAS

DOPESTERS ACCUSE JAYHAWKERS OF "POSSUM" GAME.

Coach Cole Plans Making Practice Secret in the Future—Will Use Farm Grounds.

Each member of the varsity football team will receive a scarlet blanket for use on the sidelines. This action was definitely decided by the football committee of the athletic board at a meeting yesterday morning. The blankets will be secured immediately.

The question of furnishing the Cornhuskers with blankets has been under consideration for some time. Nearly all the other leading colleges furnish their teams in this way and Nebraska has taken a seat in the band wagon.

Getting Ready for Kansas.

Between now and November 3, "King" Cole will put in his time getting ready for the Kansas game. The new shift plays, which were worked so successfully in the Denver game, will be practiced over and over until the team can go through them without a moment's hesitation.

The coach is framing up a number of other new formations for open play, and by the time the Kansas game arrives the team will be well prepared for the Jayhawkers.

Assistant Coach Ewing was a spectator at the Kansas-Drake game, when Drake held Kansas to only one touchdown, and dopes Kansas to have a team which is decidedly inferior to the team of last year. Johnson is in the game again, but in the Drake game he did not play the spectacular game which he has ordinarily put up.

Playing "Possum"?

As usual, Kansas is accused of playing "possum." Stories afloat now have it that the Jayhawkers were taking things easy in order to keep their real condition in the dark. Perhaps they were.

The outlook for a big delegation of Nebraska rooters to the Kansas game is good. If necessary a special "Cornhusker" train will be secured for the trip. At any rate there will be ample accommodations for all who are able to go.

To Take Precautions.

Coach Cole is planning making practice absolutely secret. The university farm grounds will be used as much as possible and the gates will be closed to all who have no business on the grounds. These precautions are to be taken just on general principles—not particularly because the boys are afraid of prowling scouts. They do say, however, that in a game now past and gone the Jayhawkers seemed to know all the signals.

Cornhuskers Improving.

As the season progresses the Cornhuskers are rapidly getting into good shape for the last big games of the season. Unless some unforeseen accident happens to necessitate changes, the varsity line-up now in use will likely finish the season.

The greatest room for improvement now is in offensive play. As far as defense goes no one could ask that the Nebraska team make a better showing than it has. But on offensive play, the team is not all it might be, and it is this the coach will do his best to remedy.
