The starting of the excursion to Kansas last night was almost as exciting as the torchlight parade the night before. The number was somewhat smaller, but the enthusiasm was there just the same, and the Union Pacific depot was a lively place along about train time.

About 150 students took advantage of the Union Pacific special rate to Lawrence. With the number who went with the team Thursday night and the members of the cadet band the total number in the delegation will be larger than has ever before gone to Lawrence for a Kansas game.

Will Play Off a Tie.

No football game between these two universities since they have been meeting on the gridiron has attracted more attention than the one to be played this afternoon. In the first place, the game this year will give the winning school the lead of one game as the record now stands eight games won and eight games lost for each. Second, the result will practically determine the Missouri Valley championship for this year. In the event of Nebraska winning, Ames would be the only opponent left to vanquish.

As the returns are received this afternoon they will be watched by hundreds of students who were unable to accompany the team, but who are just as much, if not more, interested than those who were fortunate enough to see the game.

Demonstration Tonight If—

If the Cornhuskers are able to wrest victory from the Jayhawkers the students of the University of Nebraska will turn out for a demonstration tonight which will surpass even the record breaking send-off of Thursday night. Arrangements have been made so that if Nebraska wins the students will gather at the campus at 8 o'clock for a torchlight parade, to end with a monster bonfire on the athletic field. All this is to be done if Nebraska wins, and it is more than an even bet that such will be the result.

As has been said time and again, the Cornhuskers are going onto the field this afternoon to go or die. Coach Cole had nothing to say before leaving Thursday night, excepting that every Cornhusker was in the best of condition and they ought to bring home the game. "We haven't been saking much lately," he said, "and haven't been telling what we intend to do at Lawrence. We have been quietly getting ready, but when we go up against Kansas every man is going to play his head off."

Practice at K. C.

An easy practice at Kansas City yesterday afternoon was the final work-out of the Nebraskans before the game. They were given the use of the Kansas City field for the afternoon and spent the time running signals and going through the new formations which are to be given their first trial this afternoon. The new plays tried in the Denver game met with remarkable success. Everyone is hoping the same thing will happen this afternoon.

Wellesley college girls are up in arms because a new rule has been adopted by the faculty which prescribes athletics as a compulsory study in the college curriculum. At Radcliffe, where athletic sports are optional, the girls are enthusiastically taking up outdoor sports, including baseball, and have produced some classy teams. The Wellesley girls point to Radcliffe as an example of the fact that voluntary participation in athletics is the preferable plan and are protesting strongly against the new system.

circles. For the last five years he has been the manager of the university athletics, and has distinguished himself in that department in the manner in which he reorganized the financial side of the athletic situation and put it on a paying basis.

An Athlete.

Four years previous to his first election to the position of athletic manager, "Dog" was a member of the university varsity football team. He played fullback throughout his varsity career, and was a member of the team of 1902 which played the entire season without being scored against. He also played in the game in which Minnesota was defeated so decisively (1902), and in fact the only game in which Nebraska ever succeeded in bringing the bacon back from Minnesota. Graduated in 1907.

"Dog" graduated from the college of law at Nebraska in 1907. His debut into the realm of things politic, which he is now making, is his first appearance under the role of his chosen profession, in as much as he was called to his present position before his graduation and has not desired to quit the work.

In other university activities he was very conspicuous while an "under grad." He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and as such, has been one of their most active and enthusiastic workers.

TRIP CALLED OFF.

Glee Club Not to Go to the Coast as Planned.

The trip which has been planned by the members of the University Glee Club to the Pacific coast during the holiday vacation has been called off. The organization planned the journey, but the authorities of the conservatory feel that a trip of this kind would not be a financial success.

A tour of the state during the two weeks' vacation, however, may be planned as a result of this change in the program.

INTERPRETIVE READING.

Miss Alice Howell Will Give a Dramatic Recital of "Jeanne d'Arc."

Miss Alice Howell of the department of elocution will give an interpretive reading of "Jeanne d'Arc" in the Temple auditorium. During the evening Miss Howell will impersonate over thirty different characters. The entertainment is free to the public. Her program will commence at 8 o'clock.

FRESHMAN STAG RECEPTION.

First Year Men to Be Entertained at the Y. M. Next Friday.

The plans for the freshmen stag reception to be given by the Y. M. C. A. are not yet definitely settled. It is officially announced, however, that such a reception will be held next Friday night in the association rooms. An effort is being made to make it a purely freshman affair, no upper classmen being invited except those officiating. The managers of the reception strongly urge that all the first year men who want to arouse some real class spirit attend this entertainment.

The freshmen won the annual canoe rush at the Ohio state university.

Forty-five freshmen answered the call for rowing at Princeton last week.

The University of Minnesota reports a registration of 5,678, which is an increase of 200 over that of last year.

As a result of a gift by Andrew Carnegie, Yale has recently dedicated a new swimming pool which cost $70,000.

BURGLAR GETS ONLY $1.55

CHI OMEGAS HAVE A "NOT AT HOME" PARTY.

GIRLS WERE VIEWING TORCH PARADE

CHAPERONE MAKES CONTRIBUTION OF 30 CENTS.

His Majesty, the Boogy Man, Overlooks Everything Valuable in the House.

"Help! Murder!! Thief!!!"

The Chi Omega house was plundered Thursday night by a light-burglar. The marauder only got away with one dollar and fifty-five cents, but he scared one poor girl half out of her wits. The burglar entered the house by the rear door, after convincing himself that he had things his own way.

It happened while all of the loyal Chi Omega girls were down at the Missouri Pacific depot, attending the big send-off for the football team, that the man attempted to carry away the valuables belonging to the sorority girls. It was shortly after the parade had moved from the vicinity, when the man evidently decided that the way was clear. He rang the front door bell. No one answered. Only one girl had been left in the house. She had retired to the third floor to study. When she answered the bell after some delay, she heard someone on the back porch. It did not take her long to get out of the house—by way of the front door.

Lenz to the Rescue.

Officer Lenz, sergeant of the Lincoln police force, was called to the house. He went through the place with the frightened girl. It was discovered that two pocketbooks had been taken. One of them was the property of the chaperone. It contained various sundry articles of use to a lady and 30 cents in change. The second pocketbook, which contained $1.25, belonged to one of the girls.

Mrs. W. W. Birge of North Platte has been visiting her daughter Alice for several days. She had left about $200 in one of the sleeping rooms, which the man did not find. Bureaus and trunks in all parts of the house had been searched and it is considered strange that he did not discover this $200 pile. Other valuable articles were overlooked by his majesty, the boogy man.

Screen Door Off.

A further search disclosed the fact that the man had removed the back door screen when he entered the house. The screen being hooked, it was necessary for him to force his way. When he made his get-away he left the back door and one window open. This is the first robbery to be reported this season from any of the Greek letter fraternity houses. And the robber only got one fifty-five.
