RELEASE MEN ON CAMPUS

STUDENTS CONFINED TO HOTEL DE PESTE ARE FREE.

HAVE RECOVERED FROM SMALLPOX

CUMMINGS AND KORSTIAN HAD LIGHT CASES.

No Fear of Disease Spreading—Nearly All Students Vaccinated—Seclusion Nearly as Bad as the Pestilence.

Ben Cumming of Lebanon, a junior, has been released from confinement within the walls of the notorious Hotel de Peste, located in the cornfields south of Lincoln. Clarence Korstian, another student, has also been released. He returned to the university several days ago after a stay of nearly ten days at the smallpox hospital. Neither man seems enthusiastic about the disease.

The hospital, it is said, is just a little better than the old one which was abandoned over a year. The old structure still stands near the new hostelry. There is some contrast between the two buildings, the new one being about the size of an ordinary boarding house, and the old one somewhat resembling a small low barn.

Cases Very Light.

Both the Cumming and Korstian cases were very light. Neither of the men was really sick. The doctors say that the cases were remarkably light. The seclusion, however, is almost as bad as the disease itself. It is especially lonesome at the Hotel de Peste when the guest list is limited to only one or two persons. Solitaire is the favorite game of the boarders.

Disease Will Not Spread.

There is no danger of a spread of the disease, is the verdict of the recently released patients. They were both "discovered" before the disease had reached the stage when it is contagious, and both men were exceptionally careful when they left the Hotel. Students who were in attendance at the university last year were all vaccinated and are thought to be immune, but occasionally a vaccinated person will come down with it. University authorities are not fearful of a spread of this disease.

LINCOLN HIGH AT OMAHA.

Les Mann and His Team Will Again Meet Their Rivals.

Lincoln and Omaha high schools will class on the Omaha field today in their second football argument of the season. Omaha was defeated by Lincoln in the first game to the tune of 9 to 6, and the game today is receiving no small amount of attention from followers of the two schools. Les Mann, the crack Lincoln quarterback, will be in the game. About a hundred Lincoln rooters will root for their team at Omaha.

"DELIVER ME FROM THEM."

So Says President Hutchins of Michigan of Women Who Prepare for a Career.

"Deliver me from the woman who comes to the university to prepare for a career," said President H. B. Hutchins of the University of Michigan, in his annual address last week to the women of the university.

He urged the women to select studies that would fit them to become home-makers and mothers. If they had particular ability, he told them, their careers would seek them out.

SENIORS HOLD HOP.

First University Dance of the Year Held Friday Evening by Upper Classmen.

The first informal dance of the university social season was held Friday evening at the Lincoln hotel. Every ticket which the committee had was taken. About two hundred couples were in attendance. The hop was considered very successful. Harold Nobel was chairman of the dance and Earl Lee was master of ceremonies.

Several other university dances have been scheduled for the coming weeks. The next dance on the program will be the sophomore hop, which will be given Saturday evening, November 19, at the same place as was the senior informal.

TODAY WILL TELL THE TALE

MISSOURI VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP HANGS IN BALANCE.

FIGHT SHOULD BE A WARM ONE

STUDENTS URGED TO WEAR COLORS AND BRING MEGAPHONES.

After Today Only One More Football Game Remains on the Nebraska Schedule.

Today will decide the football championship of the Missouri Valley conference, at least as far as Nebraska is from getting stale, and that is sufficient. If they can start the game in as good condition as they started the one at Lawrence, today's bit of gridiron pleasantries will be all Scarlet and Cream. Thursday afternoon the team went through a stiff scrimmage practice, slowing up yesterday afternoon with only a brisk workout on signals.

Bring a Megaphone.

If the students of the university respond today as they have in the past to the call for enthusiastic support, the game this afternoon will be another demonstration of real school spirit. It is the desire to make the south bleachers a solid mass of colors and megaphones. One of the requirements for admission to the center of the bleachers is that each student wear

DOES ANYBODY WANT A JOB?

BASKETBALL SHIP IS SAILING WITHOUT A PILOT.

SQUAD OF FIFTY IS GETTING OUT

COMMITTEE MEETS, BUT SILENT ON WHAT IS DONE.

Nebraska needs a basketball coach. Although the call for players was issued four weeks ago, and a squad of nearly fifty men has been getting out each practice day, they have had only such instruction as has been given by the older players. Among the candidates there is an abundance of good material. Efficient coaching begun at once would no doubt result in the turning out of one of the university's strongest teams. But if the selection of a coach is deferred until the eleventh hour, chances for a successful season will begin to get painfully slim.

The regular meeting of a special committee of the athletic board was held at 11 a. m. yesterday in Dr. Clapp's office. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing and acting up on the advisability of selecting temporary coaches for the different athletic departments, basketball included, to serve for the remainder of the school year. At the close of the meeting the committeemen refused to make known the action of the committee.

What One Student Says.

"I think it is a shame," said a prominent senior yesterday, "that something is not done to lift the basketball team out of its rut. The Cornhuskers have not been in first rank basketball circles in recent years. One of the chief causes for this condition has been the lack of consistent coaching. The basketball team has too frequently been a left-over in university athletics. A year ago the athletic board wasted six weeks' precious time before a basketball coach was finally selected. And in making the selection the board managed to make such a mess of the matter as to cause dissatisfaction and uncertainty. This year there may be some excuse for delay, but the delay has already extended long enough. The athletic board should get busy, do some thinking, and act."

MISSION STUDY FOR ALL.

Y. M. C. A. Committee Starts an Interesting Campaign.

The university Y. M. C. A. missionary committee met at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the purpose of instituting a canvass among all university students for enrollment in one of the series of group organizations now being formed by the association. This canvass is to be made before the Thanksgiving holidays. The plan of the committee, not definite as yet, is to organize the different university colleges into separate groups, and assign to each an outlined course of study, or field, upon which to concentrate their study. For instance, engineers will be organized under the direction of Professor Slaymaker for the purpose of studying the missionary field of South America. Laws will be united under the leadership of Dr. Lawrence under the course "The Challenge of the City." "Lits" and "medics" will probably combine and take a course of illustrated lectures with views of heathen conditions in foreign fields.

LEAVES TODAY.

Chancellor Avery to Speak at Washington, D. C., on Two Occasions.

Chancellor Avery leaves today for Washington, D. C., where he will attend the meetings of the American Association of Universities and the American Association of Agricultural Colleges. These associations will convene in the capital city next week. The chancellor will read a paper before each of the two organizations during their annual sessions.

BRYAN TALKS TO GIRLS.

Will Speak in Memorial Hall Sunday at 4 O'clock.

W. J. Bryan will speak to the university women next Sunday at 4 p. m. in Memorial hall. Some misunderstanding was prevalent that this lecture would be made to Y. W. C. A. members alone. Such is not the case. Every co-ed of the university is urged to be present at the lecture. Mr. Bryan's theme will be "The Fruits of the Tree." A ladies' quartet, composed of Misses Manning, Ransom, Koch and Stanton, will provide music for the entertainment. Miss Miller will render vocal selections.

concerned. Nebraska will meet Ames on Nebraska field at 2:30 this afternoon. Nebraska is so far undefeated in the Valley, and the tussle with the Iowa Aggies will tell the tale. If Nebraska wins, "King" Cole will be the happiest man in the state, outside of Jim Dahلمان.

While the Cornhuskers have not had much work since the Kansas game they have done enough to keep them

Scarlet and Cream and come with a megaphone, prepared to make the rooting the best of the season. If the Cornhuskers wrest victory from Ames and thereby capture the championship a celebration will be in order.

After the game today only one more remains on the Nebraska schedule—a contest with Haskell in Lincoln on Thanksgiving day. The Haskell game, however, does not count on the championship. Another strenuous game is anticipated from the Indians, with the odds so far slightly in favor of the Nebraskans.

DEBATERS GET NEW MEMBERS.

Besides They Discuss the "Closed Shop" Question in Regular Meeting.

The Platform club met Thursday evening in science hall in the Temple. A debate on the "Closed Shop" was given. Bruce Johnson and W. A. Vasey spoke for the affirmative and Clifford Phillips and Ralph Halldorson upheld the negative. Following the debate speeches were called for from the floor. A short business session was held when several new members were taken in, the names to be announced at a later date.
