EVERYTHING IS CHANGING

SO SAYS REV. S. MILLS HAYES AT CONVOCATION.

CHANGE IS SHOWN IN SENTIMENT

PHILOSOPHY OF FORMER GENERATIONS HAS NO PLACE TODAY.

Declares the United States is Conservative, Because of Safeguards in Our Constitution.

"Radicalism and Conservatism in American Life" was the subject of an address given by the Rev. S. Mills Hayes at convocation yesterday. Dr. Hayes is a forceful speaker, and his scholarly address was received with great interest by all that greeted him.

Forces Breaking Down.

"There seems to be a general breaking down of forces," the speaker said, among other things. "On every hand we are witnessing things that indicate change. Parties are constantly breaking down, and new ones springing up. Party leaders of yesterday no longer have the magic influence over the people that those of the day possess. Issues are ruthlessly cast aside, and it is not infrequent that the statesman must defend himself and his policies from the attacks of the majority of the people. Recent events show that the United States is entering upon a new era. They have decided that a change is needed, whether for good or for bad we can not now tell. The insurgent movement represents turmoil within the ranks. It represents something novel in policies and is characteristic of American life today.

Change in Education.

"And in education we find constant changes. The state university is, comparatively speaking, something new. The idea of a college where any one is free to enter providing he can meet the test is an advance from the old regime. The philosophy of former generations no longer holds a place among the advanced ideas of the thinker of today. We strive now for practical usefulness in education."

In explaining the meaning for the change, Dr. Hayes repudiated the popular idea that we are emerging into radicalism. Except in things material the United States does not lead the world. We still follow in the wake of European civilization in matters of morals and thought. Insurance, land policy, secret ballot, and municipal regulations we have adopted from Europe.

The United States is after all conservative, and very conservative at that. Our constitution is safeguarded in many ways such as is no other. We have the greatest respect for private property, and the rights of the individual citizen. Our constitution is difficult to amend, hence we are protected from the encroachments of the demagogue.

HOP COMMITTEE MEETS.

Freshmen Will Push Ticket Sales Before Holidays.

At a meeting of the freshman hop committee, held yesterday in U203, it was decided to push the sale of tickets before the Christmas vacation. While the dance will not be held until January 6, there will be little time left after the holidays, and the committeemen request that all who intend to go buy their tickets and make their dates before vacation.

WHO WILL BE THE ALL-YEAR COACH FOR THE YEAR 1911-1912

Will Johnny Bender be the all-year coach? Or will it be "King" Cole? Or "Deacon" Koehler? Or—last but not least—will it be Walter Steffen? These are a few of the questions Nebraska students are trying to answer.

The unconfirmed report is that these four men are applicants for the position. The committee appointed by the athletic board to make a selection has not given out whether or not they have received any applications, but there is a firm belief among the undergraduates that one of the four men named will be chosen for the year, beginning the fall of 1911.

If the students were to vote on the four there is little doubt as to what the result would be—"King" Cole. While it is known that any one of the other three could hold down the job satisfactorily, there is not a man who does not believe "King" Cole would bring the whole athletic department up to the mark made this year in football.

Koehler is a Cornhusker of the days of 1901 and 1902, when Nebraska was in the habit of going through seasons without being scored against. He is now coach of the Denver university eleven.

Bender was in the Scarlet and Cream ranks a year or two after Koehler. At quarter he was one of the most wonderful all-round men the team has ever had. At present he is coach of the Washington university team at St. Louis.

Steffen is not so well known in Nebraska, but his fame has spread abroad and his football record is sufficient recommendation. He is a Chicago man of a few years after Eckersall, and was as clever a player as ever wore the maroon.

The question is—WHICH?

JURY IS BEING SELETED

TWO JUDGES OF DEBATING HAVE ACCEPTED INVITATIONS.

SENATOR YOUNG UNABLE TO SERVE

WAS ON BOTH LISTS SUBMITTED TO COMMITTEE.

All Nebraska-Wisconsin Judges Are, or Have Been, Prominent Iowa Officials.

The selection of judges for the intercollegiate debates in which Nebraska will participate—a process naturally of interest to those working in the department—is being rapidly completed. Two of the jury that will determine the winners of the Nebraska-Wisconsin debate at Lincoln have acknowledged acceptance of their invitations. One of the judges for the Nebraska-Illinois debate at Urbana has agreed to serve.

Jury from Iowa.

The board of judges for the Nebraska-Wisconsin debate are all residents of Iowa and are, or have been, prominent officials of that state. The men who have agreed to serve are William Garst, former governor of Iowa, and Professor Frank I. Herriott, of the department of political science, Drake university. Concerning this debate, the officials of the department at Nebraska have just received the declination of United States Senator Lafayette Young of Iowa, recently appointed, who had been a member of both lists of judges submitted by Nebraska and Wisconsin. According to the ruling of the Central league all judges for the Nebraska-Wisconsin debate must come from Iowa.

Nebraska-Illinois Judges.

For the Nebraska-Illinois debate, the only man who has thus far agreed to act as judge is Professor Isaac A. Loos, head of the school of political and social science, University of Iowa. It is expected, however, that more acceptances will be received before long, some of the invited not having responded. The judges for this contest, according to the league ruling, must all be residents of Iowa and Wisconsin.

For the Iowa-Minnesota debate, for which the judges are to be Nebraskans, A. G. Shelton, director of the Nebraska legislative and referendum library, has been invited to act. This debate will be held at Iowa City.

NEW CONSTITUTION.

Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors Replaces Advisory Board.

The Y. M. C. A. is now operating under the new constitution, adopted Wednesday evening. The most significant change made, which will affect the workings of the association in no small degree, was the substitution of a board of directors for the old advisory board.

Concerning the benefits to be derived from this particular change, Secretary DerKinderen said: "The advent of the board of directors in the association will undoubtedly make the work more effective. It affords a means whereby faculty representatives can co-operate with the annual, and consequently new, student chairman of the committee. This office may at the start receive the experience and knowledge of the situation of the faculty members. Also the board will be a working board, in that every member will have an individual responsibility to assume."

SEVEN NEW MEMBERS.

Phi Alpha Tau Elects New Members for the Coming Year.

Phi Alpha Tau, the honorary debating fraternity, has elected new members for the coming year and invitations have been sent to the following men: W. C. Weiss, 1911; G. E. Reed, 1911; Searle Davis, 1910; R. W. Garrett, 1912; L. V. Bates, 1912; G. C. Kid-doo, 1912; and C. J. Lord, 1911. Honorary members were elected as follows: Dean Hastings and Professor Conant of the college of law and Professor Virtue of the department of political economy.

ANOTHER BIG CAMPAIGN.

Y. M. C. A. Will Start Work Right After Thanksgiving.

The missionary committee of the university Y. M. C. A. met last night in the association rooms and decided to institute a big campaign right after the Thanksgiving recess. The purpose of this campaign will be to enroll as many students as possible into separate college organizations of the university. Each of these sub-divisions of the missionary department of the association will exercise a different but specified function and will endeavor to make the work of the volunteers concentrated.

GO UP A NOTCH.

Appointments and Promotions Made in Regiment.

Announcement of the following promotions were made at drill Thursday evening:

To be lieutenant-colonel, Major H. W. Coulter.

To be mayor, Captain and Regimental Adjutant F. E. Rodhe.

To be captain and regimental adjutant, First Lieutenant and Adjutant D. W. White.

To be first lieutenant and adjutant, Regimental Sergeant-Major W. L. Bates.

To be regimental sergeant-major, Sergeant-Major J. W. Davies.

To be sergeant-major, Regimental Color Sergeant R. V. Skinner.

These promotions are all subject to the approval of the chancellor.

GUTHRIE WINS MEDAL.

First Pershing "Spell-Down" Held Thursday in the Armory.

Richard D. Guthrie of Lincoln and first sergeant of company B, won the Pershing Rifle gold medal Thursday night at a "spell-down" which was held by the company in the armory. This is the first contest of this kind held this year. Monthly "spell-downs" will be held in the future. The man winning the medal three times in succession becomes permanent owner. The medal has been won but three times in as many years, the winners being R. O. Guthrie, 1909; S. A. Mahood, 1910, and J. A. Scotney, 1910. All cadets who have had one year of drill are eligible for membership.

BREAK INTO BANKS.

Students Must Have Money Next Monday.

Monday will be tag day in Lincoln. The charity organization will try to rake in the shekels, which are needed to carry on its work during the year. The charity ladies will be everywhere on the campus and on all of the important corners near the university grounds. University men and women, who are usually so absorbed in the business of getting themselves educated, will on Monday be given the opportunity of donating a dime or a quarter and then thinking for a whole year of the good that dear little piece of silver is doing.

No man will be permitted to escape. Men will be popular only as they come through with the dimes. Nobody knows what will happen. It may be that the sororities will vie with each other to see which has the most friends or the richest friends. It may be that the men will try to buy a whole collection of the charity tags. This is an annual stunt in Lincoln, but this is the first time the university girls have been asked to assist in extracting the coin. The ladies of the Woman's club will stand on the street corners downtown and receive the dollars and gold pieces, while the college girls are going after the shekels on the campus. And it will be "all for charity."
