GILMORE SAYS FAREWELL

CHAPLAIN OF CADETS ACCEPTS A NEW PASTORATE.

GOOD MEETING AT THE OLIVER

CADET BAND IS PRESENT TO FURNISH MUSIC.

Speaker Takes as His Text, "Him Hath God the Father Sealed."

In a masterful address delivered before the men students of the University of Nebraska at the Oliver theater Sunday afternoon, Captain Charles Gilmore, chaplain of the university cadet regiment, paid a parting tribute to his regiment and tendered an informal resignation from the chaplaincy to the staff, due to his acceptance of a charge in the east which he will soon occupy. Basing his sermon on the theme, "A Captain's Commission," Captain Gilmore, by his clear, concise presentation of the facts and his characteristic combination of forcefulness, eloquence and sincerity, showed the application of the spiritual to the material needs of humanity.

The university cadet band provided music for the occasion, rendering selections both at the beginning and close of the address. The band occupied the stage with the regimental staff and the speaker of the day. Great enthusiasm was expressed by a good representation of the student body in the creditable manner in which the band played.

Choosing as his text the twenty-seventh verse, last clause, of the sixth chapter of John, "Him hath God the Father sealed," Rev. Gilmore said in part:

"To the great commission issued by the divine commonwealth to the Captain of our salvation is set the seal and attestation of the commander-in-chief of the armies of heaven and earth. In that seal we desire to discern this afternoon some six among many others that might be named.

"First, His Father vouches for Him. The heavens open at His baptism and the Father commends Him for His mission with the words, 'Thou art my beloved son in whom I am well pleased.' A like commendation on the mount of transfiguration with the added command, 'Hear ye Him.' A declaration in the temple, 'I have glorified thy name and will glorify it again.'

"Secondly, His works. The things He was permitted to do vouched for Him. The miracles of the New Testament, never abnormal, always purposeful, meet human demands. The centaur trotted down the street, to which Huxley referred, is a monstrosity going nowhere, aimless purposeless. The miracles of our Lord satisfy need.

"Third, His thoughts. The only personality forceful enough in His thinking to shade the opinions of friend and foe alike. His enemies still say, 'Never man so spake.' He is the great cosmopolitan whose words have the same meaning in all languages.

"Fourth, His resurrection. Its very purpose is the authentication of our Captain. The great logician says on Mars hill, 'God will judge the world by that man who he hath ordained, whereof he hath given assurance unto all men in that he hath raised him from the dead.' Joseph's new tomb empty on that first Christian Sabbath morning, and the angel upon the stone already rolled away, proclaim, 'He is not here, but is risen.' He Himself speaks to John at Patmos, 'Fear not, I am he that liveth and was dead, and behold I am alive for evermore.'

"Fifth, the perpetuity of the sacrament vouches for Him. The fact that by such simple acts as eating and drinking, He should keep alive His memory through nineteen centuries is pledge and promise of an immortal

PROGRAM FOR THANKSGIVING SONGS TO BE GIVEN TODAY

(Repeated by Request.)

Part I.
"The Pilgrims".....Chadwick
University Chorus, String Quintette and Organ.

"The breaking waves dashed high
On a stern and rock bound coast,
And the woods against a stormy sky
Their giant branches tossed.

And the heavy night hung dark,
The hills and waters o'er,
When a band of Exiles moored
their bark
On the wild New England shore.

Not as the Conqueror comes,
They, the true-hearted came,
Not with the roll of the stirring drums
And the trumpet that sings of fame;

Not as the flying come,
In silence and in fear,
They shook the depths of the forest's gloom
With their hymns of lofty cheer.

Amidst the storm they sang,
And the stars heard, and the sea,
And the sounding aisles of the dim woods rang
With the anthem of the free.

And the ocean eagle soared
From his nest by the white wave's foam,
And the rocking pines of the forest roared,
This was their welcome home.

There were men with hoary hair
Amid that Pilgrim band,
Why had they come to wither there,
Afar from childhood's home?

There was a woman's fearless eye,
Lit by her love's deep truth,
There was manhood's brow serenely high,
And the fiery heart of youth.

What sought they thus afar,
Bright jewels from the mine,
The wealth of seas, the spoils of war?
They sought a faith's pure shrine.

Ay, call it holy ground,
The soil where first they trod,
They have left unstained what there they found,
Freedom to worship God.

name and an imperishable work. His command is still fulfilled, "This do in remembrance of me."

"Sixth, His victory. Within a few weeks after His crucifixion 'without the gate' of their ultra-holy city, the very men who planned and compassed His death said to His followers, 'Ye have filled all Jerusalem with His doctrine.' Ten thousand men, besides women and children, believe upon Him, and under scourge and persecution are driven forth to testify in all the cities of the then known world to the power of this Jesus and the resurrection. In increasing numbers ever since, He is 'seeing of the travail and of His soul, and is being satisfied.' The file leader of faith, the Captain of our salvation, is in Godworthy fashion leading man sons unto glory. I pledge you today, university cadets, men of all creeds, Catholic and Protestant, to a new loyalty to the banner of Him who is mighty to save, the Captain of our salvation, the Prince of Peace."

NAME OMITTED.

G. T. Andrews is a Phi Alpha Tau Pledge.

In a recent issue in which the pledges of Phi Alpha Tau, the honorary debating fraternity, the name of G. T. Andrews was unintentionally omitted.

Seven other men were pledged to the honorary debating fraternity. Initiation of the eight men will be held tonight at the Lincoln hotel.

MYSTIC FISH PLEDGES.

Twelve New Members to Freshman Society.

The Order of Mystic Fish pledged the following twelve girls from the freshman class: Hazel Mann, Alpha Chi Omega; Ruth Wheelock, Alpha Omicron Pi; Ruth Nichols, Alpha Phi; Frances Peters, Chi Omega; Lucile Reeder, Delta Delta Delta; Ruth Gould, Delta Gamma; Rose Bergman, Delta Zeta; Helen Blish, Kappa Alpha Theta; Helen Sorrenson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Hazel Thompson, Pi Beta Phi; Marie Fowler and Isabel Coons.

The active members will entertain for the pledges Tuesday evening following vacation at the home of Marlen Swezey. Initiation will be held in about three weeks.

NINE NEW MEMBERS.

Union Literary Society Holds Its Annual Initiation.

Friday night the following students were initiated into the Union Literary society:

Clara Pearson, 1912; Mollie Hammond, 1914; Mattie Hall, 1913; Lois Smith, 1913; Elsie Jaeggli, 1914; Hugh Raymond, 1914; Harry Wharton, 1913; Robert Innes, 1913; Harry C. Hough, 1914.

Various stunts, pleasant and otherwise, were pulled off at the expense of the candidates, but no one suffered seriously because of the ordeal. After the initiation an important business meeting was held.

WOOD IS FRESHMEN COACH

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF FIRST YEAR MEN AT ONCE.

REGULAR GAMES WILL BE PLAYED

CLASS BASKETBALL WILL BEGIN BEFORE LONG.

Hon. D. Eager Expects Every Seat to Be Sold at the Haskell Football Game.

Wilber Wood, varsity basketball man of last year, will take charge of the freshman basketball squad and act as coach for this season. While the squad is spoken of as freshman, it will include all men who not eligible for the team this year, regardless of the class they belong to.

It is planned to secure a series of games for the freshmen, to be played as preliminaries to the varsity games. They will meet the scrubs of the varsity and likely teams from outside of the school. Enough games will be scheduled to make it interesting.

From the number of men who have been getting out for practice who will not be eligible until next year, it is certain that the freshmen will have a fast team. Several men are out who have had several years' experience in high school and smaller colleges.

Class Basketball Soon.
Class basketball has not yet commenced, although all classes have appointed their basketball managers. It is probable, however, now that a coach has been appointed, and the football season about closed, that the various classes will begin to put their men in the field.

Tickets for the Thanksgiving day game with the Haskell Indians are going fast and Hon. D. Eager predicts a sell-out. Teachers from towns and cities over the state, who will be here for the annual meeting of the State Teachers' association, are sending in seat reservations and will probably take as many seats as are taken by students.

The team went through a stiff practice yesterday afternoon, but the coach spent the greater part of the time in going over the new plays. Open formations and fake plays will be used against the Indians more than against any other team. Their games are always replete with strategic plays and unlooked for moves, and "King" Cole has figured out that it would be a clever stunt to beat them at their own game. Cole's schemes, too, have a habit of coming out as he figures.

MEDICAL SOCIETY BANQUET.

First Social Meeting at the Temple Saturday Night.

The Medical society of the University of Nebraska held its first social meeting at the Temple Saturday evening. In the room north of the banquet hall the officers of the society, A. L. Smith, president; Mr. Williams, secretary, and Miss Mason, treasurer, as reception committee, received the guests. At 6:30 the signal was given by Mr. Rosenbaum, playing a march, and the committee ushered the guests into the banquet hall, where plates were laid for eighty-four. Location of guests was by place cards marked with a design of "skull and cross bones," and this was used throughout in the decorative scheme. With the use of the university colors and flowers the tables presented a pretty picture. A dinner prepared and served by the women of the medical school was partaken of, after which toasts were responded to by the several members of the faculty.
