ing of their quality was determined until they appeared in uniform ready to work for a position on the team. But this year it has been different. Coach Ewing has taken charge of the first-year men, and he has moulded from that mass of indeterminate material, a team which is far ahead of any of the college teams in the state. Not being allowed by the rules of the Missouri valley conference to test their strength on the teams which represent the colleges of the state, the freshmen have had to content themselves in helping build up the fighting machine which represents the university.

This they have done in a manner which has impressed the veterans time and time again. When the new plays of the varsity were to be tried out it was the freshmen who were to take the brunt of the battle. And with all this, Coach Ewing has been the man who has formed a team which is of a standard which any school would be proud to have represent them.

The loss of several of the veterans of this year's team will be felt to a great extent, and the men who made up the 1910 freshman team are the men who will have to fill their places. That they will be well qualified to do this is apparent, thanks to the excellent training they have received at the hands of Assistant Coach Ewing.

Receiving his degree this year, Coach Ewing will no longer be a student in the university and he will have the task of facing the world as a man. A Nebraska man, and true, clean and honest, he is a man who should win the love of every student who became acquainted with him. Any school in this broad land of ours may be sure that if Harry Ewing has charge of their football players that the team which he will produce will be one of the best. Should fate declare that he will have an opportunity to coach a team which should meet the Cornhuskers on the gridiron, then will be the time for the wearers of the Scarlet and Cream to look to their colors. lest the team which Coach Ewing will be able to develop with a fair amount of material may defeat the team which will represent his alma mater. To you Coach Ewing, we offer the thanks of the entire student body in that you have helped Nebraska three years as a member of the team, and this year in your efforts to develop men who will be qualified to fill the positions left vacant by the loss of several of the veterans of this year's team.

The Cross Country Race

By Dr. R. G. Clapp

The Alumni Committee of the Intercollegiate Conference in charge of arrangements for the annual Western Intercollegiate Cross Country Run decided that Jackson Park, Chicago, is not a suitable place to hold a cross-country race, and voted to run the race this year on the University of Wisconsin course at Madison. This course is not too hilly or too difficult for a typical cross-country course, but there are some decided objections to the course. The roads are too hard and rough to permit the using of ordinary running shoes and the air was so extremely cold and moist that it proved a serious handicap to all contestants not accustomed to these conditions. In spite of a further drawback—the difficulty most teams experienced in reaching Madison—eleven teams were entered for the race, all of which appeared at the starting mark except the University of Missouri.

For the first time in the history of the Western Intercollegiate Cross Country Association, the Nebraska team was entirely outclassed by the winners. The University of Wisconsin quintet were unquestionably the fastest and strongest team that has ever taken part in the annual cross-country contest,—as is shown by the new record,—and remarkably fast time of 26 minutes and 1/5 of a second.

Provision in Rules.

Cross country rules provide, in case any member of a team fails to finish, that such teams shall be disqualified. The cold Wisconsin air had a disastrous effect upon Bates' heart and lungs and caused him to fall out of the race twice—once at the end of the second mile and again, for good, at the end of the third mile. This, of course, disqualified the Nebraska team; however, had Bates been able to finish where he could reasonably have been expected to place, the Nebraska team would still have been outclassed by Wisconsin—although the competition would have been sharp between Nebraska, Minnesota and Ames for second and third places.

The average standard of the running was far superior to that of any previous year in spite of the fact that several of the teams entered this year for the first time. This is well illustrated by the fact that L. R. Ander-
