A LOW-LIVED TRICK.

Some low-lived individual has entered the trophy room in the Temple and walked off with a number of pictures of football men. Pictures of Captain Mason, Captain Beltzer and Chauner have been taken. They have not been stolen, for a trick of this kind is not stealing. It requires no skill, or cautiousness to perpetrate a deed of this sort; it is merely the the feeling extended to him. "I love victory," writes the Nebraska coach, "as much as any man living, and I am supremely happy over the results of the season just past. I should be happy to see all praise given to the men of the squad. No team ever deserved to win more than they."

FRESHMAN GIRLS ENTERTAINED.

Board of University Girls Club Gave Series of Parties.

Saturday afternoon the board of the University Girls' club gave six parties to the freshman girls at the homes of Miss Ensign, Miss McGhey, Mrs. Avery, Miss Hrbek, Mrs. A. J. Sawyer, Miss Ida Robbins. These parties were planned with care and were a success in every way. As a result each freshman girl had an opportunity of meeting a group of her classmates. The object of the University Girls' club is to cultivate a friendly fellowship among all university women and to promote the spirit of unity and loyalty to the University of Nebraska. It may at any time bring before its members subjects of special interest and importance to college women. This is an organiza-lowest kind of a sneak who would do a thing like this.

The trophy room is a public place, maintained for the benefit of those who desire to view the prizes of Nebraska athletes. It cannot be locked, and it is but fair to the parties who have been lacking enough in moral bravery to take these pictures, that the rest of the collection be offered them. If you do not want the rest of the pictures, kindly return those taken. If not, Manager Eager says you might as well help yourself. Come now, be men and take back the pictures that do not belong to you, but to the university as a whole, and nothing more will be said regarding the matter.

LETTER RECEIVED FROM COLE.

Coach Praises Work of Men of 1910 Squad.

Chancellor Avery has received a letter from Coach W. C. Cole in answer to a letter of congratulations transmitted Cole by Dr. Avery at the request of the students who attended the Cornhusker banquet December 3. The chancellor was asked to wire the coach the congratulations of the banqueters. He found that Cole was not in touch with a telegraph station, and accordingly sent the news by letter. Cole responded from his ranch in Montana with words of warm praise for the team which won the Valley championship and of appreciation of tion which every girl in the university is requested to join. The annual dues of 20 cents are contributed towards a fund for the care of sick students and for the assistance of worthy girls through school. Any girl wishing to become a member may do so by seeing either a student or faculty member of the club board.

The Winter Course of
The University School of Agriculture

Begins January 2 and Closes February 17, 1911

This school is open to young men living upon farms who cannot arrange to attend the regular School of Agriculture.

It affords farmers of all ages an opportunity to study the question of soil fertility and of farm management so as to increase the yield per acre on their farms.

The instruction in breeds of live stock, judging cattle, sheep, swine, and horses, and the lectures on the management and feeding of live stock are of such a character as to add greatly to the profits of those in the live stock business.

The Department of Dairy Husbandry gives practical instruction in farm dairying. Lectures in Forestry and Horticulture deal with these subjects and show how farmers can engage in their production in such a way as to reap profits therefrom.

Practical work in the operation of farm machinery is given by experts. Lectures are given on the common diseases of farm animals. The serum treatment for hog cholera is explained.

The registration fee is $4.

Board and room can be obtained for from $4 to $4.50 per week. Thirty-five or forty dollars will be the total cost of attending the entire course.

For further information address the principal of the School of Agriculture, University Farm, Lincoln, Neb.
