FENCERS MEET.

Plans and Arrangements Discussed
Friday Afternoon.

A meeting of the University Fencing association was held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Dr. Clapp's office. The matter of interesting more men in the work was taken up. A regular practice hour was adopted, and arrangements were planned for the tournament which will be held in the spring, where the champion fencer of the university will be picked to represent the institution in the western intercollegiate gymnastic meet which will be held at Chicago in April.

SUNDAY MEETINGS.

Phildelah Rice Will Be First to Lecture Since Holidays.

The Sunday afternoon meetings for men at the Oliver are again to be continued. These meetings were started in the early part of last year and continued up until the beginning of the Christmas holidays. An ability, however, to secure able speakers caused a temporary suspension of the original program.

Phildelah Rice, an orator of much repute and an able religious work director, will deliver an address Sunday to the men of the city. The highest of recommendations have preceded Mr. Rice on his tour, and it is urged by the secretary of the university Y. M. C. A. that every Nebraska man make a special effort to hear him. The meeting will be called at 3:30.

"MICE AND MEN" TONIGHT.

Seats for the Dramatic Club Play Go Like Hot Cakes—But They Are Still on Sale.

A great rush characterized the first day of the seat sale of Dramatic club play tickets. Yesterday when the box office was opened in the Temple building, a long line of students and teachers awaited the chance to get the first shot at the best seats. More excitement than has ever attended a Dramatic club seat sale was shown yesterday. There is a great demand for tickets. When the box office was closed last night there were still several good main floor seats to be had.

A dress rehearsal was held last night, everything going off nicely. There were no hitches of the nature that usually attend amateur performances. The members of the cast have been working hard and the play should be a top-notch.

Richard C. Hunter, '09, will graduate in June from the Columbia law college, N. Y. He expects to practice in Omaha.

Bryant R. Simpson, '10, is a practicing physician at Adams.

William F. Chaloupka, '10, is engaged in irrigation engineering at Brogan, Oregon.
