

The Daily Nebraskan

Vol. X. No. 69

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1911.

Price 5 Cents.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE

ENGINEERING LABORATORIES DEDICATED WEDNESDAY.

PRINCIPAL ADDRESS BY DEAN GOSS

HONORARY DEGREES TO BE CON-FERRED IN THE EVENING.

Governor Aldrich, President Allen of Board of Regents and Chancellor Avery to Speak.

Wednesday will mark the formal dedication of the state university's new engineering building. An entire day will be given over to exercises commemorating the permanent housing of the department of mechanical engineering in a $115,000 home. The building was first occupied in the fall of 1909, but it was not completely equipped for work in all departments until within the past few months.

The dedication of the building, the best adapted to its purpose of any building on the city campus, will be marked by addresses, a reception and the conferring of honorary engineering degrees. William F. M. Goss, dean of the college of engineering of the University of Illinois, will deliver the principal address.

The Program.

The program follows:

10 a. m.—Special address to engineering students by visiting engineers. Room 206.

12:30 p. m.—Faculty club luncheon, Lindell hotel.

2-5 p. m.—Inspection of building by the public.

8 p. m.—Formal dedication. Room 206.

Five minute talks by Governor Aldrich, President Allen of the board of regents and Chancellor Avery.

Address by Dean William F. M.
Goss of Illinois.

Conferring of honorary degrees.

Informal reception.

Inspection of building.

Planned by Dean Richards.

The working plans of the new mechanical engineering laboratories were prepared during the winter of 1907 and 1908 by Dean Richards of the college of engineering.

In the spring of 1908 the contracts were let, and the building was completed in the fall of 1909.

In style of architecture, the building may be classed as a modification of the Roman Doric, which gives to the exterior an air of massive stability—in spite of the large windows—which is in harmony with the uses to which the building is put. The exterior is finished with "iron spot" or "flash" pressed brick, trimmed with terra cotta which matches the brick.
The roof is of red tile and the cornices are of copper, the whole giving a pleasing color effect in shades of brown. The interior construction of the building is of the most substantial character, the floors being of reinforced concrete throughout, carried by heavy steel beams which are supported by steel columns. Since the building is primarily for laboratory purposes, the floors were made heavy enough to carry the large weight of moving machinery which comes upon them. All of the halls have wainscoting of white enameled brick with a rough plastered finish above. The class rooms and offices and halls are plastered and finished in golden oak.
The laboratories are left with the

THE CABMAN'S SILILOQUY

The cabman heaved a mournful sigh, and started in to storm and cry. No money jingled in his pockets, he eyed his bony team askance, and gave his cab a sorry stare—a cab in need of much repair, he spit his quid upon the walk, and straightway started in to talk. Said he, "Alas how times have changed, I well can think when prices ranged from three to six and even more, and every hack in town held four. These Uni boys dug up the cash that kept us hack-men full of hash. They'd soak their clothes, and even smile to take a cab and come in style. Ah them was days I'll ne'er forget, it makes me weep already yet; I had three square meals every day and each horse had a bale of hay. No matter how the student cussed, he couldn't break the hackmen's trust; it was no use to hand us talk, they'd either have to pay or walk.

Them days was simply grapes for me, but times has changed as you can see. My services they don't request, it seems they like the street cars best. The boys have one and all agreed that cabs are something they don't need. The girls, no matter what they say, they either come or stay away; B-Gosh, as far as I can see, they've tied the Indian sign on me." R. M.

plain brick walls painted in two shades of gray enamel. All of the plastered walls have been finished in pleasing shades of calcimine.

NEBRASKA DEFEATS WESLEYAN.

Cornhusker Varsity Basketball Team Overwhelms Methodists, 42-26.

The university varsity basketball team defeated the Wesleyan varsity by a score of 42 to 26, Saturday evening on the armory floor. This was the Nebraska varsity's second game of the season and the last of the games preliminary to the conference series.

Wesleyan was easily routed. Although fighting stubbornly throughout the first half, the Methodists gradually weakened after the beginning of the second half and devoted their time to ball dribbling and defensive play. The Nebraska line-up at the start was as announced, Owens and Gibson as forwards, Hiltner at center, and Carrier and Frank guarding.
During the first ten minutes of the game, play was at a standoff, each team alternately shooting two goals.
Nebraska took this opportunity immediately after the whistle first sounded. Meyers, the Wesleyan star forward, was then ruled out of the game for fouling. The neighbor team instantly weakened and closed the first half with a score of 15-21.

At the opening of the second half, Captain Hutchinson was substituted for Owens. Wesleyan in turn lost one of their main support, the center, who was removed for his personal remarks to the referee. From this juncture the game devolved into a general "rough house," three of the Nebraska men, Frank, Hiltner and Gibson, being removed for committing four personal fouls. At the close of the second half the score stood 42-26.

ANNUAL "BELL SEARCH."

Phi Deltas Again Succeed in Foiling Delta Taus.

Pursuant to a custom of the two fraternities, Phi Delta Theta and Delta Tau Delta, the "annual bell search" was executed last Friday evening, the Deltas assuming the initiative. But again the Deltas were defeated in their purpose and returned to their abode without the consoling "ding dong" so intensely desired. The losing "bunch" have cherished as one of their ideals the attempt to wrest the prize from the parties having possession's nine points.

On the night of the Phi Delt formal, the Deltas seized the undisputed opportunity and instituted a search for the bell. According to a mutual understanding between the two fraternities, the bell must be kept somewhere on the premises. The Deltas, however, were unable to locate it; but, needless to say, they perpetrated an investigation which would warrant the praise and commendation of Sherlock Holmes and his aggregation of trained sleuths.

CHRISTIAN FUNDAMENTALS.

Series of Y. W. C. A. Lectures Begins
This Evening.

The first of the series of lectures entitled "Christian Fundamentals," which will be conducted under the direction of the university Y. W. C. A., will be delivered this evening at 7 o'clock in the Temple. The entire series of addresses will be given by Rev. A. J. Northrup, D. D., a lecturer of much prominence. The theme for discussion this evening is "The Spirit and Letter in Our Interpretation of the Scriptures."

Other classes which will be held today are as follows: The first of a series of five lectures by Rev. D. R.
Leland on "Five New Testament Portraits," at 7 p. m.; and a continuation of Miss Fannie Drake's classes at 5 p. m. All classes will be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms and will be open to both men and women.

Y. M. C. A. "FEED."

Membership Committee Meets Tonight in Association Rooms.

A big "feed" will be given by the members of the university Y. M. C. A. membership committee this evening at 6 o'clock in the association rooms.
The purpose of this assembly will be to investigate the membership enrollment of the university association and make some plans toward the inauguration of another membership campaign.
All the committee members are urged to be present.

NOTICE.

Applications for the position of editor, managing editor associate editor, business manager and assistant business manager of the Daily Nebraskan will be received by the Student Publication Board until Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. All applications are to be sent to A. A. Reed, secretary, or Charles A. Bennett.

TWO FRESHMEN ARE OUT

WHERRY AND LOCKWOOD TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT.

ONE MAN RACE IN SOPH THE CLASS

SENIOR AND JUNIOR CANDIDATES ARE BUSY.

Three-Cornered Contests in Two Upper Classes Prove Exciting and Attract Attention.

Two freshman presidential aspirants have appeared to share the bruises of a race for the place. Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City, who has been for several days considered as a possibility, is now known to be a candidate. Russell Lockwood of Omaha is the other man who wants the job.
He was announced yesterday by some of his friends.

Kenneth Wherry is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is a brother of Arthur Wherry, who was the first president of the class of 1913.
He is a popular fellow and is expected to make a good race. Several of his close friends were actively at work Sunday, visiting among the classmen to line up votes.

Russell Lockwood is not a fraternity man. He achieved some notoriety at the time of the freshman-sophomore Olympics, when he received a painful injury about the head.

The Upper Classes.

The race in the senior class goes merrily on, with three candidates all working hard to annex the job. The three-cornered contest in the junior class also attracts the attention of the student body. The races in the two upper classes are becoming exciting. Ambersson, Holland and Hathaway are the three men who seek the senior leadership. Parse, Boyles and Rogers are the three office seekers of the third year class.

A One-Man Race.

Although some, who claim to know, say that Clifford Phillips is to have some opposition in the sophomore class, it is hardly thought probable that any new candidates will appear later than today. It is generally understood that Phillips has a strong following of friends in the second year class. One of the strange things about it is that the sophomore class had only one candidate at the election in the fall. A class seldom has two successive elections without a good race livening up the second. A one-man campaign is not a stimulant for class enthusiasm. This is said to be the reason that some prominent members of the sophomore class are actively looking the field over for a second candidate. But at the present time interest is lacking in sophomore politics.

FRESHMEN TO MEET TODAY.

First Year Students Will Gather in Memorial Hall.

The first year students have been summoned by their president, William Gilmore, to attend a class meeting in Memorial hall this morning at 11:30 o'clock. Important business is to come before the class, but nothing regarding its nature could be learned.
This will be the first freshman meeting since the Christmas holidays, and business has piled up. A report from the hop committee is promised.