THREE INDOOR MEETS?

PLAN SUGGESTED FOR DEVELOPMENT OF MATERIAL.

INTERFRATERNITY MEET MARCH 4

QUESTION AS TO FORM OF MEET ON CHARTER DAY.

Faculty Coach Matter Still Receiving Attention of Committee—Report May Be Presented Next Week.

The dates for the two annual indoor athletic meets of the university have been definitely set, according to an announcement yesterday made by Dr. Clapp of the department of physical training. Charter day meet will come on the date customarily set, February 15, while the interfraternity meet, which is changed from a February date, as has been the custom in past years, will be staged on March 4.

The Charter day meet will be quite different this year from those which have been in vogue during recent years. It is not to be a "barb-frat" event. The interfraternity athletic board have decreed that an athletic contest between university organizations and "barbs" will not be a feature of the university anniversary. It is maintained that more or less sectional feeling arose consequent to the "barb-frat" meet last year, resulting in a contest that was not of the true university type and spirit.

The Form of Meet.

What the nature of the Charter day meet this year will be has not been definitely determined, although one of the following propositions, submitted to the committee, will probably be adopted: First, it should be an event open to all students; an event to which all entrance qualifications are unnecessary, except the general university requisites. Second, it should be operated on the plan proposed at the time the "barb-frat" meet was installed, namely, an interclass athletic contest. At the present time the latter plan is much in the minority, with the fact that the former plan will probably be recommended to and endorsed by the board.

This adoption, however, does not infer that the regular interclass athletic meet which will be an incident in the athletic happenings of 1910-11. Such is not the case. Whatever the action of the board, the interclass meet will probably be held, and if, as is conjectured, the "open" plan is adopted for Charter day, there will be three university indoor athletic meets this year. The plan of having three meets was proposed to the interfraternity board last year and received favorable consideration, so there is ample reason to believe that its adoption will be made soon.

The Events.

The events for the Charter day meet have been announced, as follows: Twenty-five yard dash; pole vault; twelve-pound shot-put; running high jump; running high kick; rope climb; fence vault; and one or two relay races. The events for the "interfrat" meet will be identical with those mentioned, with the addition of the tug-of-war, one of the most interesting of the entire series. The regulation medals will be given this year for all the events.

Preliminaries will undoubtedly be held before the Charter day meet this year. There are usually many en-

HOW KANSAS BEAT NEBRASKA IN 1899 BY SCORE OF 39 TO 10

The recent disclosures at Michigan call to the minds of old football men the days of Coach Yost at Kansas. Yost coached the Kansas team in 1899, and he was hired because he had the reputation of turning out winning teams against all kinds of odds. Soon after Yost arrived in Lawrence to take up the work of the season, ten well-built strangers came into the camp and stated their intentions to try for the team. In those days Kansas' team was pretty strong, and some of the strangers laughed because they saw that they had no chance to make the team and collect the money that had been promised them if they made good. That year the merchants of Lawrence had raised a slush fund for the purpose of financing a winning team, as by the use of a liberal amount of money victorious aggregations had been turned out.

Yost was said to have paid every man on the team in '99 that expressed a desire to have some cash, and most of them were not slow in expressing their desire to have a little spending money. Yost kept the fact that the men were paid well under cover, and the faculty did not suspect that money played a star part in giving the school a winning team.

One of the men that Yost imported was a star of the season. He played under the name of "Krebs" and to this day it is not known just who this star was. He was, however, imported from the east, but at the same time the faculty thought he was one of the huskies from one of the tall grass states. The old heads never tired, telling how Yost roped in Dr. James Naismith. The doctor has always been the purest man in athletics at the university, and one day he strolled out to see Yost put his men through some stiff scrimmage. The doctor was always on the watch for any likely football men, and his eagle eye soon spied the easterner, Krebs. The doctor went over and asked the big fellow why he did not get out for the team. Krebs acknowledged that he would like to mix in the sport, but that he had never played. The doctor got Krebs a suit, and he went out for practice, and appeared in poor form. He was very awkward, and did not get into the spirit of the game. "Doc" thought that his find was a fizzle and pronounced him a "dub." But a little later in the season was dumbfounded when Yost announced that Krebs would make a trip with the team for the Nebraska game.

Yost announced that he might have to use Krebs, and his surmise was correct. Krebs played a great game against the Cornhuskers, and without him Kansas would have been wiped off the map, as Nebraska had a powerful team. But Krebs saved the day, as he was a great fullback, and was a splendid lineman, and his performance gave Kansas a victory by the score of 36 to 10, the closest score of the season for Kansas.

When Yost left Kansas many of the men went with him, and in 1900 the Kansas team was a joke. There were very few men who could or would collect football players with such facility as Yost in the good old days when he coached in the west.

NOW IT IS "MYSTIC MUGS."

Junior Laws Organize Society Without Dues.

Mystic Mugs is the name of another organization to be added to the already numerous clubs at the state university. It was formed last night at the Acacia house by about fifteen junior law students who had gathered to review their subjects in preparation for the semester examinations which come next week. For about two weeks the members of the gathering of last night have been holding nightly "seminars" or quiz club meetings. One of the principal features of the organization is that there are no dues, which is an unusual custom in case of university organizations. The Mystic Mugs will hold monthly meetings next semester in order to review their law subjects and in that way relieve the strain which comes at the close of the semester. The president, Magnus Mund, is J. M. Swenson; secretary, Inkslinger, R. M. Switzer.

NOTICE.

Those desiring positions on the reportorial staff of the Daily Nebraskan for the second semester should file their applications before 5 a. m. Friday, January 27. Address all communications to the Editor, Station A, or leave at the Nebraskan office.

HOME CONCERT ON MARCH 3

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB PREPARING ENTERTAINMENT.

CLUB NUMBERS TWENTY MEMBERS

TO BE ASSISTED BY STRING QUARTET IN PROGRAM.

Have Been Working on Program to Be Presented Since Early in the Fall—Under Faculty Direction.

The first annual concert of the reorganized glee club will be held March 3 at the Oliver theater. This was the decision reached at a recent meeting of the members of the club. The club has been planning a concert in Lincoln ever since its organization, but this is the first definite move to accomplish this end.

The club has had a great deal of experience in concert work, having given eighteen concerts during Christmas vacation, when they toured the state, appearing in as many different cities.

Twenty Members.

At the present time the club numbers twenty members, and in addition music is furnished by a string quartet of four pieces. Since early last fall the members of the club have been working in anticipation of this concert for the students of the university and the citizens of Lincoln. While the tour of the state was taken to gain experience as well as to prove the success of a trip of this kind, the members have been really centering their efforts in preparing for this home concert which they have decided to give March 3.

The members of the club are as follows:

Tenors—Wickland, Graham, Todd and Frackleton.

Second tenors—Slater, Pierce, Wilson and Cockrell.

Baritones—Emley, Hodgkins, Munson and Clark.

Basses—McMasters, Barnes, Keith, Warner and Ross.

The members of the string quartet are: First violin, Esterbrook; second violin, Emley; viola, Saville, and cello, Nelson.

Faculty Management.

The club has been under the management of members of the faculty of the school of music. Professor Arvid Samuelson is leader of the club, and has had the men under his direction for the past three months. Professor Kirkpatrick is manager of the organization.

The club was recently entertained at dinner by George Beeman, manager of the lyceum bureau which had charge of the scheduling of the engagements for the musicians during the tour of the state.

No other dates will be scheduled for the evening of March 3. At the present time a formal party has been set for that date, but as this was arranged previous to the decision of the glee club to hold their home concert on March 3, the date will be allowed to stand. However, no other engagements will be allowed to be held on that evening.

All the students at Syracuse celebrated the victory of their debating team over Yale and Columbia by wearing tags.
