MARCH 1, 1911.

A new month has begun—have you?

So cruel, the girls can not talk to the boys. But if every department would follow the example set by this one and urge the young ladies not to entertain in the hallways between and during classes, it would result in a great benefit to the students as a whole. If these few who are so regular in forming blockades during the intermission periods would divest themselves of their visiting nature, there would be a great fall in the percentage of tardiness. This fact was evidently recognized by one of the professors yesterday when he stepped down in front of his class and with a husky voice filled with much anger called out to a certain young man, "Read what the Daily Nebraskan has to say about Thomas Jefferson." Now this student was not reading about Thomas Jefferson. He was reading about what was going on in this institution and it did not date back anywhere near so far as the time of the "illustrious founder of democracy." Of course we can not blame the student ourselves and would not urge him to give up his paper, but it might be better if he could read it at some other time.

NEW GREEK BABY BOY HAS BEEN CHRISTENED KAPPA TAU EPSILON.

Kappa Tau Epsilon is the name of a new fraternity which has been organized at the University of Nebraska. It is a local organization and is not seeking any national ties, so it is asserted. With seventeen active members and one alumnus it made its formal debut last night when its charter membership list was given out to a Nebraskan reporter.

Rumors had been afloat on the campus for some time, but no definite information was given out by the men until yesterday. The new fraternity is the result of a secret club which has existed for over a year and has one alumnus. H. M. Nicholson, county attorney of Cuming county, is the graduate member of Kappa Tau Epsilon. He graduated in 1910 from the law school. He is also a member of Phi-Delta-Phi, the honorary law fraternity.

A chapter house has been rented and furnished at 226 North Twenty-sixth street and several of the men are living there. The announcement was given out last night by some of the members, who stated that the sole aim of the fraternity would be to build

Dramatic Club is Preparing the Second Semester Play.

The Dramatic club has begun the preparation of the play which it will give the second semester. In addition to the regular play given during the first semester, the club presents one annually the second semester, and also an Ivy day play. The latter usually is given at the state farm, where the rest of the Ivy day celebrations are held, but this year it is probable that the production will be staged in the Temple. The club is contemplating this move in order that a more finished performance can be given than would be possible if it were presented out of doors.

The club will present "Christopher Junior" April 8. The cast includes most of the upper classmen of the club, and it is being held at this early date that it may not conflict with plans for the senior day, the cast of which usually includes many members from the Dramatic club.

centage of tardiness. The French department has solved the problem of dealing with the mutual admiration societies. Keep the good work going.

The spontaneous outburst of applause at the game Monday evening which resulted in much delay was over-enthusiastic. There was no intention on the part of the rooters to be rude or unkind to the visitors. On the contrary they were so well satisfied with the game that when one exciting play followed another they lost their heads and yelled like wild Indians. Such a situation is often embarrassing to the players and puts the referee in a difficult position. While good rooting goes a long way toward making a game interesting, it should be governed by a little common sense. It is no easy task for the official to keep the game within his control and make it conform to the rules. This is especially the case when the teams are evenly matched and the play is fast. When the whistle can not be heard it is almost impossible for the game to be of the best order.

University people have begun to appreciate their college paper at Nebraska. It has really become popular and the desire to read it has in-up a strong local organization. The following are the charter members: Frank Rhode, W. J. Lempke, E. R. Spalding, Glen V. Tunks, W. R. Power, F. A. Wirt, Clifford Hardin, Albert Hall, Dean McBrien, Vernon Andrews, J. Merle Dye, Jesse H. Quinn, Harry E. Cotton, Glen Ruby, Paul P. Bliss, C. G. Chamberlin and Lloyd Hardin. The active chapter roll contains the names of two seniors, six juniors, seven sophomores and two freshmen.
