MARCH 16, 1911.

YET IT IS SO.

What would you think if you were told that you could witness some of the famous battles of the past, see them as they actually occurred? Do you not think it would seem marvelous to behold the Greeks defending the pass at Thermopylae, Caesar fighting his way through the Gauls, the charge of the light brigade at Balaklava, the old consular guard hurling itself on the terrible hollow square at Waterloo, the patriots defending Bunker Hill, or Jaul Jones fighting the Serapis with Wrestling is going on daily in preparation for the tournament and the meet with Iowa. This is an interesting sport and you should get acquainted with it. Science and strength are combined with agility and speed so that the wrestler is invariably a good all-round man.

At Yale, Princeton, Columbia, Harvard and other large universities of the east wrestling has taken its place in the intercollegiate sport along with basketball, track, baseball, football and gymnastics. Regular bouts between colleges occur every year. In the west the mat athletics have not received much prominence in the past, but are just beginning. Nebraska has arranged for its first intercollegiate contest with Iowa, and will hold the first tournament this week. Wrestling is well worth your support and you should not fail to see some of the matches in the tournament which begins today and ends Friday night. Nebraska has some good material and the finals will be close and interesting.

The wearing of class colors during the Junior Week by the third year students is a good scheme. The only trouble about it is that there are not enough bearing the distinction. But a few is better than none. All juniors should have them before the day is over.

Freshmen at Michigan expect the faculty to bar upper classmen from interfering with their class banquet.

The student senate at Iowa has recommended that dancing shall not be recognized as a college amusement.

Five hundred Chinese students are being educated in the universities of the United States, with Cornell as the largest drawing card.

By a recent ruling instructors at Chicago are forced to shave their mustaches, as co-eds refused to attend classes if the instructor has any hirsute adornment.

ONE MORE REPORTED.

Rumor that John Cutright is Seized by Smallpox.

A rumor reached the Nebraskan office last night to the effect that John Cutright was ill with the smallpox. On account of the lateness of the hour at which the report came in no final confirmation could be obtained.

Saint Peter—"Well, who are you?"
Candidate—"I am a student."
Saint Peter—"Did you read your college paper?"
Candidate—"I did."
Saint Peter—"Did you subscribe for it?"
Candidate—"I did not."
Saint Peter—"First elevator down."

Following the firing of a janitor at Wellesley for stealing cats for dissection by the students, an inquiry which its promoters believe will lead to Harvard medical school has been begun on the disappearance of cats and dogs in Cambridge.

A department for training degenerate children will be opened at Michigan.

craft? Perhaps you never have thought that you can see on the campus every day efforts as heroic, though less bloody.

If you have never seen any such thing, watch some poor lonely fellow doing his utmost to pass a dozen or more girls walking side by side on the walk or in the hallway. Sometimes he gets past and sometimes he does not. While the women are worthy of the greatest respect, they are hardly deserving of this self assumed importance. They should remember that the walks and halls are limited in width, and that there are others who must pass the same way. All are supposed to have an equal right and each one is on his or her honor not to usurp too much of the privilege. Watch where you are going and be so accommodating as to step far enough to one side to leave others room to pass.

Mid-semesters will soon be here. Burn the midnight oil to a good advantage before it is too late.

SOMETHING DOING.

Now that basketball is over, new lines of athletics will demand the attention of the university for the rest of the year. Those who think that there is nothing going should visit the gymnasium and see for themselves.
