

GIRLS RUN THE HURDLES.

University of Washington Co-Eds Play Ball and Row.

(Special to the Daily Nebraskan.)
Seattle, April 4.—Girls at the University of Washington take part in many forms of athletics. The university is situated near a lake and rowing teams are as popular with the girls as with the boys of the college. Not only basketball but also baseball is a favorite game with the co-eds. A baseball team is being formed in each class.

The latest form of athletics for girls, however, is track work. The young women are getting out for the hurdle races, broad and high jumps, 40-yard dash and the basketball put. Interclass co-ed track meets are being arranged.

SALTED PEANUTS ON CAMPUS.

Rumored that Girls Will Sell Delicacy Next Friday.

According to rumor, students and all others who have the price, will be given an opportunity to purchase salted peanuts on the campus Friday. The time, as stated, has been announced, but the place and the girls remain something of a mystery. Later in the week full information will be available and on Friday the students who so desire may satisfy their craving for the popular delicacy without leaving the campus.
