"CHRISTOPHER JUNIOR" A PREMIER PRODUCTION

ONE OF THE BEST AMATEUR PERFORMANCES YET.

MARCELUS AND BEVINS STAR

Katherine Willis an Artist in Handling Difficult Situation—Bates a Silent Comedian.

Undoubtedly one of the best amateur performance ever given in Lincoln delighted a large audience at the Temple theater Saturday night. The entire cast which presented "Christopher, Jr." did not have one weak member and displayed superior talent. The stage settings showed great care in arrangement and were worked out in a pleasing manner. All who witnessed the performance were complimentary in their praise. The play itself is clever to say the least. There are no tense scenes and still the interest of the audience is never lacking.

Byrne Marcellus in the leading role as Christopher Jedbury, Jr., did some fine work and handled the most difficult scenes with apparent ease. Miss Mildred Bevins took the leading feminine part, Dora Hedway, and her acting was of a high order. M. O. Bates as Mr. Glibb proved himself an efficient silent comedian, and although he only spoke one word throughout the play, applause and laughter greeted him at every appearance.

Minors Good.

The proud and egotistic father, Christopher Jedbury, Sr., was most aptly taken by S. P. Dobbs; and Alpha Warton did some fine work as his exiled spouse—the two never speaking to each other except through the medium of Whimper, which mental task was ably performed by Will Ross.

Harry Hathaway as Tom Bellaby did some clever acting and never failed to make the comical side of the situation appeal to the audience. The difficult part of Nellie Jedbury was played by Katherine Willis. One of the most difficult moments of the whole play fell to her lot, when in the midst of comedy she must be sad because of the departure of her brother. This delicate situation could not have been much better handled than by Miss Willis for the serious effect of the scene carried in spite of all the laughter of a few minutes before.

Bates in Unpopular Role.

W. L. Bates as Mr. Simpson, the defaulting manager, did some good acting in the unpopular role. Mrs. Olga Stastney as the talkative Mrs. Glibb was clever in saying everything for her husband, whom she believed a great man and so often quoted. Verne Gittings took the part of the bashful valet and used some clever pantomime. C. F. Radcliffe as the retired Major Hedway played his part well.

FIRST COMPET TODAY

TRACK ATHLETES WILL COMPETE FOR HONORS ON THE ATHLETIC FIELD.

The first weekly athletic compet will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the athletic field. This is the first of a series that will be held from now till the close of school for the benefit of all track athletes.

All of the regular track events will feature the meet today with the exception of the pole vault and broad jump. These have been withheld for reasons unannounced by the coach. Nearly all of the entries have been made, which were published Saturday in the Daily Nebraskan. This does not mean, however, that the time for application has closed, for up until immediately before the meet entries will be received. But it is advisable for aspirants to enter as soon as possible in order that the officials may make a fair estimate of the handicap. Coach Field will referee most, if not all, of the events in the local compets. Ben Cherrington will act as starter this afternoon. The meet, as announced, will be strictly handicapped. Some predict an unfavorable outcome for the first compet because of the more or less inaccurate handicap for the freshmen. Better than have any scratch events, however, Coach Field has made his own estimate of the ability of the first year men, which will serve in the meet today.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in all of the events. No admission will be charged and it is urged that all Nebraskans who are interested in the success of the Cornhusker track team make an effort to see the best material of the school in action.

SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED

CLASS BASEBALL MANAGERS DECIDE TO BEGIN ON APRIL 22.

Managers of class baseball teams met Monday in the Nebraskan office and arranged a schedule of games which has been approved by Manager Eager. All games will be played on Saturday afternoon with the exception of those on May 6 and 13, which begin at 9:30 in the morning. This is the permanent schedule for deciding the class championship and no changes will be made except notice be given to V. C. Hascall a week in advance of the time when the game should be played.

The winning team in this series will play the college teams for the championship of the university. At the present time the Outlaws seem to be the most dangerous rivals in the last mentioned class and already have an aggregation which would give a great many university teams throughout the country a severe trial. The class teams are all getting into shape. However, little has been done by the seniors thus far and some of the prophets are saying that the fourth year class will not be a strong factor in determining the championship of the university.

Following is the schedule as arranged yesterday: April 22—seniors vs. juniors; sophomores vs. freshmen. April 29—seniors vs. sophomores; juniors vs. freshmen. May 6—seniors vs. freshmen; juniors vs. sophomores. May 13—seniors vs. sophomores; juniors vs. freshmen. May 20—seniors vs. juniors; sophomores vs. freshmen. May 27—seniors vs. freshmen; juniors vs. sophomores. This gives each team two games with the others.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR CORNHUSKERS

EXTRA ORDER TO LEATHER AND PAPER MILLS GIVES OPPORTUNITY.

Those who have heretofore failed to order a Cornhusker have a last chance today. So many orders have been received that it was found necessary to make a second order to the paper and leather mills for material, and as long as a second order is going in, the Cornhusker management decided to give students one more chance to order.

The orders received so far have exceeded the number of books printed last year by 160. Orders are being taken in the library hall and at the office in the Administration building. Several samples of cuts and photographs that will be used in the book are displayed on a poster over the table in the library.

One new and attractive feature of this year's book is the novel way of arranging material. It is unlike anything ever seen in the Cornhusker in previous years. Practically all material is in except for literary and joke departments and the staff is fast rounding this into shape.

FOREST CLUB ANNUAL IS OUT

THIRD NUMBER CONTAINS MANY INTERESTING ARTICLES ON FORESTRY.

The Forest club annual has been received from the printers, and is now being distributed. This is the third volume of the annual and contains 120 pages. The cost of editing is borne chiefly by the members of the Forest club and its patrons. Among the patrons this year are Dean Bessey, Hon. C. C. Ernest of Omaha, The Lincoln Commercial club, Hon. A. J. Sawyer of Lincoln and the State Horticultural club.

The annual contains many interesting articles by members of the club, some of which are especially good are "The Planting by Machinery," by Wade R. Martin; "A Method for Making Topographical Maps," by L. H. Douglas; "A Bud and Twig Key," by Prof. D. L. Sponslor; "A Method of Using the Aneroid Barometer in Contour Mapping," by C. E. Korstian; "Forest Types and Their Relation to Burns on the Gila National Forest," by O. F. Swenson.

These articles are well illustrated. About 300 copies of the annual are printed, and sent to other colleges having forestry departments, and also to the high schools in the state.

Wade R. Martin, '11, was editor-in-chief, and Richard Guthrie associate editor.

THIRTY-EIGHT HONORED BY PHI BETA KAPPA

ELEVEN MEN AND TWENTY-SEVEN WOMEN SUCCEEDED.

NO THETA KAPPA NU ELECTION

Prof. O. V. P. Stout Reads List and Makes Short Address—Better Grades Than Last Year.

Thirty-eight seniors received announcement this morning that they had been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. The announcement was made at the close of the class championship debate. Prof. O. V. P. Stout, secretary of the Nebraska chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, read the list after a few short remarks regarding the class of 1911. One of the interesting features of this list of honored students is that the grades are much higher than they have been in some other years.

In choosing the members this year the grades were all above 88 per cent, while last year 87 per cent was the lowest grade accepted. The thirty-eight are all that are allowed to be picked from a class of the size of the present senior class. Only a certain percentage of the class can be elected to Phi Beta Kappa, according to the regulations, regardless of how many may seem to be within range of receiving honors.

No Theta Kappa Nus.

Theta Kappa Nu announcements were not made as had been expected. Dean Hastings does not care to encourage laziness among the seniors of the law school so will withhold the awards until later in the term.

The following seniors were honored and will be presented with the Phi Beta Kappa key:

Florence N. Allen, Hugh J. Bolinger, Helen Bissing Davis, Nellie Boyd Drake, Jessie Fay Dufur, Maude Hazel Gaeckler, Lucy May Green, Paul John Halldorson, Estelle Fern Hardy, Ina Hattie Hendricks, Lucille Hrubesky, Harry Goodhue Huse, Mary Lorena Keech, Otto Kotouc, Ella Imogene McCaig, Alice John McCullough, Nelle McIntosh, Millie Lucille Miller, Alfred Case Munger, Grace Esther Munson, Julia Margaretha Nagl, Grace Vivian Newbranch, Bessie Noyes, Hattie Ruth Ogden, Emma Gerdes Outhouse, Meroe Jaynes Outhouse, Alice Reynolds Pomeroy, Anan Richard Raymond, Isa Dolores Reed, Penelope Patch Ring, Clayton Ord Rost, Carl Shively, Edward Marion Short, Victor Bunnell Smith, Cecile Maud Snapp, Annie Maxon Sprague, Joseph Thomas Votava, and Mary Emeline Wolfe.

The Debate.

Prof. Miller Moore Fogg presided over the debate. A number of new features were noticed this morning, the most prominent of which was the printed program. The team representing the seniors was composed of James E. Lawrence, W. T. Wolvinton and A. M. Hare. The sophomore team members were H. B. Hastings, C. S. Radcliffe and G. R. Mann.

Dean Hastings, Prof. H. W. Caldwell and Prof. F. M. Fling were the judges. All classes from 10 to 12 o'clock were dismissed. This afternoon, however, classes will meet as usual.

Mrs. H. R. Esterbrook will entertain Alpha Chi Omega tonight at an informal musicale in honor of Miss Jessie Elliott of St. Paul, Neb.
