PEACEFUL ARBOR DAY.

Is of Little Moment at the University of Nebraska.

This is Arbor day, set aside as a legal holiday in this and many other states as a time to plant trees. The idea of observing a certain day each year for this purpose was conceived by the late J. Sterling Morton and has brought about the planting of many fine shade trees to grace the prairies of Nebraska. Since the adoption of Arbor day in this state as a holiday many commonwealths have come to recognize it as a stimulus to tree planting. Although a holiday, Arbor day has never been recognized as such at the university, and classes go on as per schedule. Sometimes an enterprising ground keeper sets out a tree or two, just to keep up appearances, but the tendency of late years has been to tear up the trees to make room for new buildings.

FINANCE CAMPAIGN.

Y. W. C. A. to Undertake Next Week to Raise $500.

Owing to other business affairs and interruptions from the outside, the Y. W. C. A. has been unable previous to this time to plan for the annual finance campaign. Next Monday, however, the campaign will begin and during the week the girls are expecting to raise from new membership and contribution of old members, faculty and friends, $500, which will complete the budget for this year. Everyone please remember this and have your purses in your pockets.
