MAY 9, 1911.

The Kansas meet has demonstrated the fact that Nebraska is to be counted in Missouri Valley track athletics. The showing of the team and the individual was good. There was a large crowd present, but the number of spectators was smaller than it should have been. The relay race alone was worth the price of admission.

The students have put the dandelions under control. Now let the gardeners keep busy and the yellow flowers will not be prominent.

senate is to be congratulated on the wisdom of this regulation.

BILLIE BURKE AT A MATINEE.

Request of Students for Afternoon Performance is Granted.

Owing to the fact that many students had sent in requests to the management of the Oliver theater that Billie Burke play a matinee performance on Saturday afternoon, May 13, the favor has been granted. There were many who desired to go to the military ball that evening and at the same time did not want to let the chance go by to see the famous actress. Now the two events will not conflict in the least. Those who desire to go to the ball may attend the play in the afternoon. The matinee performance has been scheduled entirely because of the request of university students. It was no easy matter to get Billie Burke herself to consent, and the efforts of the Oliver management to arrange their shows so as not to conflict with a university function should be appreciated by all.

IVY DAY MAY 20.

A Week from Saturday May Be Chosen for Festivities.

While there has been nothing definite announced it is probable that Ivy day will be held May 20. It is also probable that some features of the program will be omitted. This has been made necessary by the postponement. At first it was thought the program would be given on fete day, May 19. For good reasons the change to May 20 will likely be made.

YATES RIFLE CLUB SHOOT.

Beckman and Wöhienberg Secure Highest Averages.

The Yates Rifle club, which is composed of cadet officers, has been engaging in regular practice. The shoot was held indoors and artificial light was used. The range was seventy-five

Rev. Arthur Weatherly of the All Souls' church, who was yesterday to have addressed Dr. Eaves' class in poverty and dependence on the subject of "The Nebraska Plan of Caring for Dependent Children," was unable to keep his engagement and will probably meet the class at a future date.

Professor and Mrs. H. W. Caldwell and daughters will sail for Europe in the middle of June to be absent for a year or more. The misses Stuart, who are to reside for the present in the Caldwell home, at 1919 E street, took possession last Tuesday. Professor Caldwell and family are located at 1327 H street, with Mrs. Hagenow, where they will remain until they leave for the east.

Next year should be a great one for track athletics, since with the exception of one man the university athletic board is composed of men who take to the cinder path.

Some of you smokers have been forgetting and crowd over on the walk at the south gate. Step aside a little farther if you must smoke between hours. The pedestrians must have the unrestricted use of the walk.

That idea of abolishing examinations will be hailed with delight. After all it is a sort of barbaric way of testing the mental strength. The examination has been the Mecca of all sluffers. If a man were reasonably bright it was no difficult matter to get through the year without doing any work and then by a few hours' cramming come out with higher grades than a consistent student who was not so lucky.

Getting through on chance will be done away with. It is the real, hard, steady work that counts under such a system. There are many who do good daily work and get a little excited in the examination and are then unable to pass. This is an unavoidable injustice under the examination. Now the undeserving will fall and the deserving will pass. Such a method will undoubtedly raise the standard of scholarship at the university. The
