MAY 11, 1911.

If you were out on Nebraska field last Saturday you undoubtedly well remember how the dust was carried into the grandstand by the wind. But this is nothing compared with other conditions on the athletic ground. The field proper is covered with many stones ranging in size from a small marble up to a baseball. These stones are very sharp. It is impossible to use a baseball any length of time without having it cut to pieces. Then we wonder how the football men ever come through the season other. Game rooms, smoking rooms, reading rooms and the like are provided. Visitors and guests of the university are entertained by this representative organization.

That Nebraska is in need of such a thing is self evident. There is no place on the campus where the men may congregate. There is no place they may call their own. There is no place where they can enjoy themselves in a quiet way. There are several evils which would be eliminated by its establishment. The smokers would not be so prominent and obnoxious at the south gate. The pool halls would be deserted. As it is the Saratoga pool and billiard hall is the general headquarters for university men. Some people wail and howl because this is so. But what is the use of making so much noise about a result? Get down to the cause. The men have no other place to go. They must meet somewhere. If they can not have the kind of a place they want they will take the next best thing. Steps should be taken to organize a Nebraska union.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Now if the first sergeants care to rise in rank and become famous in military affairs they should gain the captain's favor. The opportunity has come. Be sure to select this dignitary's best girl for sponsor of the company.

alive. It sure is a miracle that they have any skin left on them.

Something should be done with it this summer. It would be a good thing to sod it down. The green grass would be far preferable to rock and dust. It is impossible to keep the ground in good shape so long as it has a coat of dust for its only covering.

A NEBRASKA UNION.

The University of Nebraska has a great many organizations and clubs. It has been said that they are too plentiful. That may be, but we need one more. This is of a different nature than all the rest and has found its way into all the large universities of the east. The Harvard commons, the Michigan and Illinois unions, have become so connected with the welfare of those institutions that it would be impossible to get along without them.

Every man in the university is eligible to membership. It is really a man's club. The Michigan union is considering the erection of a new building at a cost of not less than $30,000. Many of the clubs already own their own quarters, while others have rooms in some of the university buildings.

The object is to promote a feeling of commonality among the men and get them better acquainted with each
