ALUMNI ASSOCIATION RAPIDLY GETTING BUSY

SECRETARY KLINE TO STUMP
THE WHOLE STATE.

TO ORGANIZE COUNTY CLUBS

A New Directory of Nebraska Alumni
To Appear Soon—The Club
Officers.

With University of Nebraska alumni clubs in every county in the state and clubs in prominent cities throughout the country, the strong and rapidly growing Nebraska spirit will have been given a mighty boost when the proposed work of the newly reorganized alumni association is completed.

Secretary Kline at Work.

George W. Kline of the class of 1900, who is executive secretary of the association, will start early in October on a whirlwind tour of the state to organize Nebraska graduates and former students in each county. The first club will probably be launched at Cambridge October 9.

Chancellor Samuel Avery, Senator Elmer J. Burkett, '93, Congressman McGuire, '96, William H. Hayward, '97, A. A. Bischoff, '98, Allen Field, '77, Frank E. Edgerton, '00, several University professors who are alumni, and other prominent Nebraskans will assist in the organization of the clubs. E. B. Parry, '99, of Cambridge, will be the principal speaker at his home town organization.

To Compile New Directory.

The bringing together of the thousands of loyal supporters of the scarlet and cream, in something more than a mere social organization, is the outlined work of the officers and directors. They want to direct the spirit of Cornhusker grads into the channels of University promotion and service, and have already opened offices in the First National Bank building of Lincoln, and sent out circulars to alumni. A new directory of alumni is also being compiled, to let everybody know what the sons of Nebraska are doing.

Nebraska Clubs Everywhere.

Outside of the state flourishing Nebraska clubs have already been started in several large cities, and others are being organized. Kansas City has a club of forty members, who will be addressed by Chancellor Avery November 9. Fort Collins, Colo., has a club of twenty, and Seattle, Chicago, Portland, Ore., Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles and other cities will soon have clubs which will be a credit to the alma mater of their members. Within the state, Omaha already has a strong club.

Means New Students.

New students for the University will undoubtedly be secured by the alumni association's campaign of publicity and county organization, for when High school graduates learn the advantages of the University from alumni, and note what staunch specimens of manhood and citizenship are produced under the tutelage of the scarlet and cream, they will be impelled toward the state institution of knowledge, rather than to a small college.

With a united alumni and body of ex-students, valuable service in the upbuilding of the University will be

CHANCELLOR AVERY

NEBRASKA'S EXECUTIVE HEAD
IN OPENING ADDRESS TO STUDENTS

That Chancellor Avery has faith in the characteristic individualism of the average Nebraska student is attested by remarks made in the course of the delivery of his annual address to the students of the University at convocation Tuesday. He describes him as one who "thinks and acts for himself and does not take orders as to his individual conduct from any source. At his best he represents that type without which no democracy can long greeted the chancellor warmly as he mounted the platform. His remarks were met with thorough approval especially as he treated upon some of the topics upon which students have earnest convictions.

Chancellor Avery spoke at some length upon the alleged condition of depravity in our colleges and expressed gratification in the fact that the moral atmosphere at Nebraska is unusually high. And for the most endure, namely the man who thinks his problem through, solves it in his own way, and acts in accordance with the suggestions of his own brain. The Nebraska type is individualistic which it is our duty to fix and make as vigorous as possible. His ego is not exaggerated; he realizes both his own worth and his own impotence, and likewise his insignificance in the economy of things. Pride without egotism, self-respect without self-glorification or vanity, characterize the best Nebraska type."

Good Moral Atmosphere.

Memorial hall was filled to its capacity with attentive listeners who part he attributes this condition to the following: the influence of eminent professors; the character of the homes from which the students come; the efforts of our local clergy; and finally to the fact that the school is graced with the presence of a large body of high minded young women.

Discusses Frat Problems.

Dr. Avery also briefly discussed the fraternity and sorority situation, and the criticisms made that they tend to make members of such organizations snobbish. As a matter of fact he said these organizations should cultivate

FIRST SCRIMMAGE HELD BY CORNHUSKER WARRIORS

TWO TOUCHDOWNS ARE MADE
BY REGULAR ELEVEN.

FIRST PRACTICE GAME SATURDAY

Regulars and Freshmen to Clash—A
Full Quartette of Candidates
For Quarterback.

Led by Captain Shonka, the Cornhuskers went through for two speedy touchdowns at the state farm grounds against the Freshman squad and the scrubs, in two twenty-minute halves. The scrimmage was the first of the year and to those who watched the red and white squad run smoothly through their signals, there are no fears for a great team this fall.

Coach Stiehm vouchsafed no opinion as to how the team looked at the end of the day's work, but he announced that Saturday the regulars would be seen in a game against the Freshman squad.

Fullback Uncertain.

The fullback position which has been one of the worries of the year up to date, was filled Tuesday by Purdy and Gibson. Both men are good line plungers and carried the ball ten and twelve yards each time through each time their numbers were called. Russell and Owen Frank filled the halves and there will be no trouble about these places this year.

Pearson, the big lineman, who has aroused so much interest, showed up well in the few minutes in which he was in the game, and he will probably get a position if he goes after it all the year in the spirit he showed Tuesday. Goss, the other man on the guard, is fast and heavy, and will give the husky Pearson a run for the place because of his aggressiveness in going after the tackles.

Four Out for Quarter.

Four men are now being tried for the quarter position. Ernest Frank, Potter, Mulligan and Racely, are the prospects. Racely is the speediest man on his feet, but he is light and as yet his knowledge of the game is an unknown factor.

Elliott and Freitag played the center position and Shonka and Harman filled the tackle positions. Chauner the star end of last season, was on the job and one forward pass tried went off like clock work.

CHORUS TO GET BUSY SOON

MRS RAYMOND HAS SOME VA-CANCIES TO BE FILLED
NOW.

The University chorus is not yet as large as it might be, and there are a limited number of openings for students who can sing. As is the rule each year, registration for chorus will be received for several days yet, even though the regular registrations are over with.

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, meets three days in the week in the Temple building. One hour credit is given for satisfactory attendance and work. A number of drill men may partially substitute chorus for drill and are planning to take the preliminary tryout which is always held before registration is permitted.
