CORNHUSKERS LINING UP IN GOOD SHAPE

The opening of the season but a week away, finds Nebraska with unusual strength in some places and uncertainty in the back field.

The line is one of the best machines that the Cornhuskers have ever boasted.

The possibility of Elliott leaving school may rob Nebraska of a tower of strength in the center position, but with Hornberger and Freitag to do duty there, no trouble should arise.

Plenty of Material.

There is plenty of other good line material and Chauner and Lofgren fill in the ends. Potter, Ernest Frank and Mulligan are working for the quarterback honor, all three being good men. Potter is the heaviest of the three and has a little advantage over the other two because of weight.

Purdy will take full this year if he keeps up the pace he has set and at the halves Owen Frank, Russell and Racely are working hard.

Team Not Yet Picked.

Coach Stiehm is not conceding that any man has won a position as yet. Captain Shonka and Harmon, the two tackles, are the strongest seated, but in the backfield changes are liable any time.

The plan of the Thursday practice games should produce more school spirit, more interest in the team, and bring out bigger crowds than any idea tried for years.

Many Free Games.

The student body will be admitted free to the games and cheer leaders will be chosen to lead some rooting on each day. The event will be one of the big weekly gatherings of the school.

SHINGUARDS

Say, Dog Eager, does the band play at the games this year?

Now really, we don't wish to appear rude and curious, "But have you bought that season ticket?"

Feels kind of good to think there is a game today to go to. Remember the joys of football of last year?

How about getting out sixty or more football gladiators to clear a pathway for the President Monday?

"Jelly" Elliott has not left yet, so there is still hope in spite of the obituary notice set in type about him. Stick with us, Jelly, we like you.

The press agent for these cross-country runners says that they are starting with short distances at first. Does he call a three and one-half mile run short?

Just because the waiter gives you a sharp knife it's no sign the meat is tough. We're going to have a good team this year 'cause we have a worker for a coach and lots of good men. Cheer up and come today.

From the efficient manner in which these frat fiends tackle and down unsuspecting Freshmen and furnish their interference while on the way to pledging goal, why not look among the Greeks for some football material.

"JELLY" ELLIOTT MAY LEAVE FOR FAR WEST

Nebraska appears to be having a run of hard luck in football this year, for now it looks as if "Jelly" Elliott, one of the letter men of the Cornhuskers, and relied upon to hold down the center position with Hornberger this fall, may leave school.

Elliott has not definitely decided to go as yet, in fact will not leave unless absolutely necessary. He has an established law practice in Klamath Falls, Oregon, in connection with his uncle, who writes that the big center is needed there.

Don't Want To Go.

"I don't want to leave unless it is necessary, and will probably know within a week," said Elliott Friday.

Elliott won his letter in 1909 in the Denver game, when he saved the day for the Cornhuskers by downing the Denver half on the three-yard line after he had passed all the others of the Nebraskans. Since then, the big center has had a warm spot in the hearts of all Nebraska rooters.

perplexing question of the center of the line this year, but if Elliott leaves it will make fresh worry for hard working Coach Stiehm.

Elliott a Wrestler.

Besides being the great football player he is, Elliott holds the Missouri Valley conference heavyweight wrestling championship, which he won last spring in Minneapolis.

Elliott has been three years at Nebraska, two of which he has been in football. His loss would be felt not only by the football squad, but by his many friends. Stay if you can, Elliott, the best wishes of all are with you.

OUT FOR CROSS-COUNTRY.

The call for cross-country men was answered by a large and enthusiastic turnout. Coach Stiehm, Captain Anderson and Swanson of last year's team, spoke to the fellows. It has been arranged so that squads work at eleven, four and five o'clock. The present workout consists of short runs which will be lengthened in a week or ten days.
