

DEBATE SEMINAR MEETS

SQUAD CONTESTANTS CHOOSE SIDES FOR PRELIMINARY CONTEST TONIGHT.

"Every candidate for a place on the Intercollegiate Debate Seminary (Rhetoric 22) should be at the meeting of the contestants this (Thursday) evening at 7:15 o'clock sharp, in University hall 106, to decide on the order of speaking and to make other arrangements for the preliminary debate," was the statement given out by Professor Fogg yesterday. It is practically settled that the trial debate will be held on Saturday.

All candidates are being urged to be present at this meeting.

The candidates are also requested to notify Professor Fogg in writing by 5 o'clock this afternoon, which side they wish to argue on at the preliminary debate.

BULLETIN BOARD EDUCATION

Fine Art Studies To Be Posted On Announcement Boards.

Turning a University bulletin board into an art gallery is the latest stunt in Fine Art circles. Prof. W. F. Dann of that department, believes in initiating the general student body, as well as his own classes into the beauties of ancient art. He will soon display some splendid pictures which he promises will be worth watching for. They will appear on the old faculty south entrance to University hall, bulletin board, immediately facing the

This bulletin board will also be used hereafter as the official place of posting convocation announcements. Programs for each week will be put up every Monday.
