TO THE LIVE ONES.

We are proud of Nebraska, but we would like to be still more proud of her.

There are features about life within her gates that cannot be beaten—them get together, and then they do bigger things.

What would happen if we could all get going toward the same thing? Can you imagine it?

It dreams fine.
What we need is some means of getting together, and sticking together.

The man who can solve that problem—who can suggest a method that will work, will be the BIGGEST MAN THAT EVER ATTENDED NEBRASKA.

It's worth a trial. Why don't YOU attempt it.

BAKER'S CAFE, "the best in the west." Reasons why. Best meats, best coffee, moderate prices. Best orchestra every evening.

Less Afraid of Slang.

Miss Howell (to embarrassed freshman in elocution): "Now, speak out loud and clear, 'I am not afraid.'"

Freshman: "I-I am n-not a-a-afraid."
Miss Howell: "Yes, but you don't act as if you meant it."

Put a little more life into it."
Freshman: "I'm not scared a darn bit."

CADETS ARE MOVING.

This is moving week at the Armory.

The adjutant and quartermaster have exchanged offices and the company first sergeants now occupy the old storeroom.

Part of the adjutant's office is being used for a storeroom.

but there are also some things lacking. One of these is the lack of life and ambition among her student body in things that make for the real University progress.

As cases in point we may cite the support of the "Rag," student season tickets, and the listless spirit with which the student body as a whole has witnessed the departure of our once loved baseball team from the field of play.

Such things, to the casual observer, might indicate that Nebraska was dormant; that her students danced all night, and slept all day, nor cared to do anything else. Careful thought will convince us, however, that there is no such thing as a dancing championship among the numerous college sports.

We who are old in college associations know, too, that Nebraska is not dormant—she is only disorganized. There are hundreds and thousands of Cornhuskers just as live, and bright, and ambitious as any that Yale or Harvard can show.

Individually they do things. Occasionally some half dozen or more of ALUMNI NOTES.

W. O. Forman, '10, is in charge of one of the draughting rooms in the Burlington shops at Havelock.

Ezra Ditterline, a former conspicuous student on the campus, is now taking an apprentice course in the Northwestern shops at Chicago.
