CORNHUSKER CO-EDS FORM ROOTING SQUAD

WILL RIVAL BLEACHERS IN BOOSTING FOR TEAM.

BLACK MASK GIRLS TAKE CHARGE

Are Selling Tickets and Will Lead the Cornhusker Girls at Games.

Girls and athletics are to be inseparable at Nebraska this year.

In years gone by, girls have been permitted to attend a game now and then, if some nice boy asked them. But the coming season they are to be the best part of the "show."

There will be no reason why every girl in the school cannot attend every game, and feel as much at home as Shonka on the gridiron. When a score comes home, and the band plays and men throw up their hats and try to follow them, the girls will have something to do beside giving a sympathetic little feminine shriek, that sinks into oblivion ere it is uttered.

Black Mask Busy.

The Black Masks have taken things in hand and are laying extensive plans to carry on the idea of a girls' "rooting squad."

They are planning to profit by the experience and things are going to be even bigger and better—so much so that to visiting schools, Nebraska and her co-eds will stand for a new era in athletics.

Will Be Effective.

The girls' idea for the "squad" is effectiveness, not necessarily noise, but an effectiveness that will let visitors, and all outsiders, know that Nebraska co-eds have the Alma Mater's athletic prestige as much at heart as the best of her sons.

The Black Masks are industriously selling season tickets. They consider it the duty of every girl who can possibly afford the price, to buy a book and swell the ranks of the squad. The price is $3.00, and this admits the owner to every game of the year, football, basket ball, and track.

It is ridiculously low, considering the price of one good game, or of any good amusement.

Will Get Together.

The Black Masks have a plan by which they hope to encourage Freshmen and to get out girls who are not yet acquainted. They ask all such girls to meet just before each game in the girls' rest room, on the first floor of the Armory, where several Black Masks will be waiting to introduce them around and to escort them over to the athletic field.

In fact, the prospects for the coming athletic season looks as bright from the co-ed side as they were wont in days gone by, to assume a hue of indifferent drab.

BULLETIN BOARD MOVED.

The Registrar announced Friday that the official bulletins announcing convocation speakers and topics would be posted on the faculty bulletin board at the west end of the old University hall.

Miss Storey Returns.

Vernon Story, '13, registered yesterday. Injuries received in a runaway accident prevented her from returning sooner.

GIRLS' TICKETS ON SALE

Season tickets are on sale by the Black Masks today, from ten to twelve, in the library entrance.

Before and after the game they will be on sale upon the campus.

This will be a good opportunity for girls to join the "girls' rooting squad."

FIND ENGINEERS JOBS

PROF. STOUT EVOLVES EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FOR HIS ALUMNI.

A new system of records has been installed in the College of Engineering, so that the graduates of this college may be kept track of. Prof. O. V. P. Stout has been investigating the systems of employment bureaus in use in the best schools of engineering, and this is the result.

It is a combination of parts of the bureaus used in the Ohio University and the Porter Institute of Technology. There are five files in the system, and through them the college can keep in touch with all its graduates.

Record of Graduates.

The general file keeps a record of every graduate, while another file has the active engineers who are fair representatives of the University. The positions open and the applicants for positions are kept in two other files which constitute the real employment bureau. One file is reserved for the correspondence which the engineers send in.

Now Three Bureaus.

Through this system, which includes every necessary point of information, the department will be able to follow the engineers in their work and place them in good positions. This makes three employment bureaus in use at the University, the others being the Teachers' College bureau and the bureau of the College of Agriculture.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS PROSPER

Varsity Basketball Team to Re-enter Field This Year.

Prospects for girls' basketball are brighter than for some time past. Although regular practice does not begin until after Thanksgiving, a large number of Freshmen have signified their intention of entering the sport.

Last year, because of a ruling of the faculty that girls should not play in intercollegiate games, interest in basketball died out. Few girls tried out for the class teams, especially in the upper classes.

This year, however, basketball will again be placed on the schedule of girls' sports.

WISCONSIN HONORS HER DEAD.

A great memorial arch is to be constructed in Wisconsin this year in honor of the civil war veterans. The University students are urging the project and are actively engaged in pushing it along.

SAVED CADETS MONEY

HAVE CUT ALL COMMISSIONS FROM PRICE OF UNIFORMS.

A few easily compiled statistics reveal that during the past five years under the administrations of Captain John G. Workizer and Captain Halsey E. Yates, $5,600 have been saved University of Nebraska cadets in the price of uniforms.

In 1906 the price of a blue uniform was $17.00.

Captain Workizer cut this to $15, and when Captain Yates came to take charge he lowered the price first to $13.50, then to $11.50, and this year by cutting out every cent of commissions paid to anyone, he was enabled to give the new men complete outfits at $11.20.

Pershings Out of It.

For years the uniform contracts were handled by the Pershing Rifles, who received a small commission that came from the pockets of the cadets, but this has now been entirely done away with, according to Chancellor Avery, and Captain Yates, who have taken the matter in hand personally.

It is estimated by them that 400 new uniforms are purchased annually by new cadets.

DEBATERS CHOOSE PLACES

DECIDE ORDER OF SPEAKING IN COMING TRYOUTS.

In the drawings for places held Thursday evening in Prof. Fogg's office, the following order of speaking was decided upon for the preliminary debate which is being held this morning in Memorial hall beginning at 8:45 a. m.

Affirmative—Homer L. Kyle, Arthur Erickson, Anan R. Raymond, C. S. Radcliffe, Benj. Harrison, J. R. Forbes, L. A. Welch, Ralph W. Garrett.

NEBRASKANS AS WRITERS.

Pool and Montgomery Write for the Popular Science Monthly.

Prof. Pool of the Botany Department, and Prof. Montgomery of the State Farm are each preparing an article for the Popular Science Monthly.

Dr. Bessey was asked by the editor of this publication to pick two men for the purpose and his choice fell on Professors Pool and Montgomery.

CORNHUSKERS FOOTBALL SEASON STARTED TODAY

GRIDIRON YEAR OFFICIALLY BEGINS THIS AFTERNOON.

PLAY KEARNEY NORMAL SCHOOL

Nebraska Starts Hardest Schedule of History at Call of Whistle.

Nebraska's 1911 football season starts this afternoon on Nebraska Field at 3:30 o'clock, the Cornhuskers meeting the football eleven of Kearney State Normal school in the initial game.

Hard Schedule.

The schedule to be started today is the hardest that Nebraska has undertaken in years, having Michigan, Kansas, Ames, Missouri, Minnesota, on it as the big games, and Kearney, Doane and Kansas Agricultural as the lighter ones. But on the other hand the Cornhuskers are looking in splendid shape this year—looking already as if the wearers of the Scarlet and Cream would be able to hold for another year the championship of the valley.

Kearney a Dark Horse.

As the Kearney team is practically an unknown quantity the game today may be hard or easy for the Nebraska warriors. Kearney has been putting in many hours of practice and although the team is light it is rumored to be speedy and perhaps Coach Stiehm's pupils will need to put in some hard licks to run up a very large score on the teachers.

No announcement of the Cornhusker lineup is to be made until shortly before the game. Coach Stiehm will probably use a varied lineup all through the game, especially in the backfield. With the material on hand for the four back positions he has almost a complete shift of players in back of his line.

Out at Farm Friday.

Friday night the team again traveled out to the State Farm grounds for a practice, no let-up in work being allowed in spite of the game today. Drill work in the weaker points of the Cornhuskers, observed by Mentor Stiehm in the Thursday game against the Freshmen team, made up a good part of the day, with signal drill and light scrimmage work by all the squads.

The Thursday game was most instructive to the coach, as to the working powers of his men. His shifts of lineup in backfield and line were a good test of how the team worked with the different players in, and the same program will be continued today.

Although the sale of tickets has been a little lighter than Manager Eager had expected, there will be a good bunch of Nebraska rooters out to witness the starting of the season and to give the team good cheer in the battle.

Following is the lineup of the team for the game:

NEBRASKA.

Chauner Left End
Elliott, Hornberger Left Guard
Hornberger, Elliott Center
