Some Kick.

Prof. Wilson (in freshman law, explaining cause of Chicago fire): "A cow, while being milked, kicked over a lantern. The lantern started a blaze, which spread till the whole city was burned up." Then suspecting inattention, the professor asked, "What was I talking about?"

Cut Brannon. "The cow that kicked Chicago."

says that more interest is taken in drill and more loyalty to the flag has been shown this year than ever before.

Long ago we set a goal in the clothing game.

We strived toward it—we reached it.

That goal was to carry clothes that could not be excelled, clothes that would give perfect satisfaction.

We made our first touchdown with Kensington suits—$20 to $40.

We have been scoring constantly ever since.
