CORNHUSKER ROOTERS GET NO RATES TO MINNEAPOLIS

Cornhusker rooters, who wish to make the trip to Minneapolis, will have to pay the full fare to the Minnesota camp this year unless somebody takes action and gets a low rate for the Nebraska rooters who want to go to see their team meet the Gophers.

No arrangements were made this year for any special train as it was not thought that there would be enough Nebraska students who would make the trip and the full fare there and return makes it almost prohibitive.

Students Want to Go.

Talk of the trip around the campus indicates that there are a number of the supporters of the scarlet and cream who would have gladly gone to the game had there been any rate that would have made it possible. Manager Eager had such trouble finding sufficient number of people to take the train the last time he chartered one that he did not feel he would take the risk this season.

There will be twenty-five in the official party of Cornhuskers to go after the scalps of the Gophers, and possibly a few rooters will go also. Several of the groups of students of the school have been quietly figuring how many they could get to go in case any rate could have been obtained, but it looks as if the regular fare of $16.20 is the best that the rooters will get.

CORNHUSKERS TOO SPEEDY FOR MANHATTAN ELEVEN

Proving itself a wonderfully developed offensive football machine, the Cornhuskers walloped the Kansas Aggies 59 to 0 on Nebraska Field, Saturday.

The work of the backfield developed this season by Coach Stiehm was the wonder of the spectators all through the game, the perfect interference of the Cornhuskers combined with the speed of individual players bringing one tally after another to the credit of Nebraska.

The Kansas Aggies' team came up here with the expectation of losing the game, 25 or 30 to nothing, although two or three of the Aggies were optimistic enough to hope for a touchdown on the Cornhuskers. The score piled up on the Manhattan eleven is a neat little testimonial to the work done by Stiehm and the team in the past week.

Raceley a Cornhusker Find.

Raceley, the track man football player, proved himself more than worthy of his name, making four touchdowns, the fast Cornhuskers in the backfield providing him perfect interference for the first thirty yards, and from there on Raceley simply ran away and left the Kansans gazing after him.

Owen Frank starred in his usual good game, racing clear across the field for a touchdown. Russell made an 83-yard dash for another touchdown, and indeed the whole backfield showed itself more than worthy of the title of the Valley champs.

Nebraska's Showing.

Fumbling was a little more frequent than the Cornhusker supports wished to see it, and in straight football they did not hit the line for the gains that might rightly have been expected. The Aggies played lower than the Cornhuskers and not an inch did they relinquish until it had been fairly earned by Nebraska.

Nebraska's showing in the game has, however, raised the hopes of the school, and there is not a student who does not believe that his team can whip Minnesota. The Cornhuskers look like a better team, with a good line, a speedy backfield and several stars of large magnitude to lead their teammates against the Gophers.

Fresh-Soph Gridiron Game.

Freshman and Sophomore athletes who have their minds set on the Olympics are pulling for an interclass football game as one part of the day's program.

The one objection to the football contest is that only eleven men can play on one side and that it takes up all the field, when other sports in which all the class might join might be held on the field.

SHINGUARDS

Anyway—The Band is going!

We are going to beat Minnesota. Think that all this week.

No excursion to Minnesota this year but begin saving your money for Kansas.

Tickets to the Michigan and Missouri games are on sale at Harley's. Michigan game reserved seats are $2.00; box seats, $2.50. Missouri game reserved seats are $1.50; box seats, $2.00.

How about that Freshman-Sophomore football game. Can you beat the Fresh team you Sophs.

We understand that two bright youths made away with two season tickets from the Co-Op. Shows somebody wants season tickets anyway. Bet you wished you had one last Saturday.

Oh! you team. Darn right we're proud of you.

Save up one night this week to see the team off for Minneapolis.
