STUDENTS INVESTIGATE TURTLES

TO EXAMINE MISSISSIPPI RIVER INHABITANTS IN UNIVERSITY CLASSES.

The department of zoology has just received a second consignment of soft-shell turtles from the U.S. government laboratory at Fairport, Iowa. One hundred turtles have been received varying in size from two inches to eighteen inches long. These turtles sell for twenty-five cents a pound and are a source of considerable revenue to the fishermen along the Mississippi river.

Dr. Barker has been asked to investigate and report on the parasites which infest these turtles. The students in parasitology will assist in this work.

All interested in this work are urged to attend.

MOUNTAIN ASH MALE CHORUS COMING TO THE OLIVER.

Those who attend the Mountain Ash Male Voice Choir of Wales, Great Britain, when they appear here Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee at the Oliver, will have, it is said the nearest thing to a guarantee of a wonderful evening of song that it is possible to imagine in the field of art. The reason for using the word "guarantee" lies in the fact that this choir of musical Welshmen have, long before coming here, fought their way to the top, for they have competed with and beaten every known choir in that most musical of all nations, Wales.

This wonderful choir has won no less than twenty-nine national eisteddfodic contests. The Mountain Ash choir have beautiful voices, of course, but their wonderful record in the face of wide competition much credit is deserving of Conductor T. Glyndwr Richards. It was he who trained them, brought forth their fine powers, made them sing like one man, and taught them the thousand and one little details that go to make up absolute perfection.

In other words, he who sits down to hear this choir, to listen to the strange folk songs of far off Wales, the old melodies of this country, and the waltzes of Strauss, can pledge himself in advance a rare evening of harmony because of the long records of severe struggles this choir has had in the wide field of art.

See Les Hyde when in need of programs, menus and other printing.

ALEXIS TO ENTERTAIN.

Friday Afternoon Convocation to be Talk on Scandinavia.
