THE GLEE CLUB.
The revivification of the Nebraska glee club marks an important step in the course of the present college year. A glee club is always one of the features of a live college, and like a football team, one of the best possible advertising mediums. The next thing in order, and a natural accompaniment, is a mandolin-guitar club. Several efforts have been made this year to promulgate such an organization, but nothing has materialized, chiefly through lack of confidence on the part of new men, as the club has been dead for several years. With a glee club officially under the management of the university, as a fellow organization, however, all practical obstacles should be eliminated, and steps taken at once to perfect a mandolin club that would be a credit to Nebraska.

An Eastern philanthropist presented a young man with a gold watch recently because until his 21st anniversary he had not kissed a girl. A gentle hint, no doubt, that time is flying.
The Philadelphia "North American" has discovered that college girls "do not wear rats, pads, furs, high heels, corsets or jewelry." Has Munchausen become reincarnate, or does the American refer only to the Bostonese?

TOMMY JOHNSON.
Tommy Johnson, one of the greatest athletes in the history of college sports in the Missouri Valley, is slowly losing in his brave fight with death, and announcement has been made that he will not live much longer. It seems fitting that Nebraska, one of the schools that Johnson competed against in the days when he was at his best, should extend its share of the meed of praise and recognition of his worth, that is being given him. For Nebraska has known of the prowess of Tommy Johnson when he has lined up against the Cornhuskers athletes. Physicians attending Johnson declare that he has for years been afflicted with tubercular bacilli and that his vigorous athletic training has warded off the disease and strengthened the organs that were affected. The athletics in which he so excelled saved him many years of life. Johnson lies now in the University hospital at Rosedale, Kansas, knowing that nothing can aid him now, not even operating. "I know that I have to go," said Johnson to his friends who visited him recently. "I have fought hard against it and they tell me I am gaining, but it is not true. I fought as long as there is a chance and now I would like to go." Tommy Johnson's magic name will Minnesota has a co-ed cross-country squad. The race is not always to the swift you know, but the chances favor the long of wind.

An exchange tells of a woman football coach. Some college widow, no doubt, is endeavoring to develop a bunch of brawlies all her own.

SOUSA.
Auditorium, November 11th.
Sousa and his band have returned from their tour of the Antipodes and on their way east they will stop here long enough to give two concerts at the Auditorium on November 11th. The famous conductor and composer declares that he has had an enjoyable trip, but he asserts that if his reputation depended only on marches and if he was asked to go around the world playing marches he would step out and retire. "I have made some reputation from the standpoint of versatility and progress," says Sousa, "and to follow the traditional line is not for me. I flatter myself I have built up a new instrumental composition that can compare with the best symphony orchestra in the world, and I would never agree to confine myself to one kind of composition or one composer, even though that composer be myself."
