

COBURN PLAYERS COMING

FAMOUS ARTISTS COMING TO LINCOLN TO PRESENT SHAKESPEARE.

Miss Emma Coburn, representing the Coburn Players, called at the office yesterday in the interest of her company. The Coburn Players present the plays of Shakespeare and the classic drama, and come to Lincoln highly recommended. This company will present three plays which have been selected with the advice of several of the University professors.

These plays are as follows: November 24, "Taming of the Shrew;" November 25, matinee, "Romeo and Juliet;" November 25, evening, "Macbeth." The Coburn Players appear annually before the foremost universities and colleges of the east, west and south.

Prices for a single performance are $1.50 to 25 cents. Transferable series tickets admitting to all three plays may be obtained at a price ranging from $3.50 to $1.25. Many students and faculty members will take advantage of this latter arrangement.

ENGEL AT CONSERVATORY

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH SCHOOL OF MUSIC—COMES WELL RECOMMENDED.

On account of the increased number of voice pupils in the School of Music this year, it has become necessary to secure another teacher. Mr. S. Camillo Engel of New York city has been engaged to take the position.

Mr. Engel studied at the Royal High School, Budapest, the Vienna Conservatory, and with Humperdink. He has had twelve years' experience with the conservatories and as a private instructor in New York city, and numbers among his pupils George Grosch, Royal Saxon Court, and Chamber Singer. His work on "The Bel Canto" has received warm words of praise from such eminent singers as Jean De Reszke, Mary Garden, Herbert Witherspoon and others.

Mr. Engel begins work at the School of Music this week.
