

M'KENZIE AT CONVOCATION

PROMINENT THEOLOGIAN LECTURES TO STUDENTS ON SPIRITUAL MATTERS.

Rev. W. B. MacKenzie addressed the students at Convocation last night on "The Call to Service," and the chorus sang an oratorio from the "Creation."

Dr. MacKenzie is the president of Hartford Seminary, one of the largest seminaries of the country, and is making an extended tour studying the spirit and organization of the western colleges. He is delivering addresses at all the larger institutions.

He is a graduate of Edinburgh University and has been president at Hartford for eight years. He is a typical Scotchman and his lecture was very earnest and interesting. The purpose of his tour is to encourage students to engage in church and Y. M. C. A. work.

The chorus, directed by Mrs. Raymond, presented the selection "The Heavens Are Telling." The trio was taken by Miss Longtin, soprano; Mr. Buddenberg, bass, and Mr. Frackelton, tenor, all University students and members of the chorus. The piece was very well rendered and was highly appreciated.

Doesn't Appeal to Artist.

Some grandstand that's going up on Nebraska field! Nobody's criticising it but one faculty member, who objected that it "wouldn't look artistic to a Roman."

"The repeater" is necessary to the hunter—it's just as necessary to the merchant.

In one place the "repeater" is a gun, in the other a customer.

We aim to make every customer a repeater—to so satisfy him that he will come back again and again

We have a regular arsenal of repeaters among our customers.

CRANE'S CRITICISM ATTACKED BY STOUT

majority of the technical work is of routine nature which can be performed by men of only routine training, and that there is place for relatively few completely trained men. His point of view being what it is, he leaves out of consideration the large field of public service and sneers at the graduate of the engineering school who has become the head of a relatively small concern. To the mind of many it appears that the man who is his own employer is the most fortunately situated of all, even if his prominence be not great.

Stout's Reasoning.
"I believe that all who take a thoughtful interest in engineering education in America will agree that there are some wrongs to be righted in order that engineering may take the place among the professions which in the nature of things belongs to it, and which is accorded to it in many European countries. If the effect of the positive style of Mr. Crane's writing were not annulled by his disregard of fact and logic, it might well be that he would be able to impart a shock that would give an added impulse to improvement."
