SUFFRAGETTES IN FOOTBALL.

Owing to the recent defeat of Colorado College by their ancient enemy, the University of Colorado, the co-eds of the former school have taken matters in hand, and have formed a team of their own. In their zeal to defend the honor of their alma mater they have dared to invade the territory formerly held by men; they have challenged the girls of the university to a game of football.

Small black beaver hats with waving willow plumes will take the place of headguards; face-powder will replace noseguards. Rumor has it that silver and gold pumps with hosiery to will undoubtedly witness a bitter struggle between our "Fair Ones" and those of Jayhawk land.

We prophesy an overwhelming victory for the Cornhusker co-eds, for if they possess the boundless spirit which they have evinced this year, nothing can beat them.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank all those who sent me the beautiful flowers during my recent illness. They were greatly appreciated.

match will be worn. After considerable debate, it was decided to adopt football suits of white or pale gray serve lined with gold.

The co-eds are seriously in earnest about the imminent struggle and declare that they will retrieve the honor lost by the team composed of the inferior sex.

The editor notices with pleasure this evidence of the growing suffragette spirit in Colorado, but realizes that the Golden State has a considerable lead over Nebraska in that respect. It would not seem advisable to inaugurate any such movement at Nebraska this year—the season is too far advanced and besides we think too much of the beauty of our co-eds. However, if the wave of feminine fighting spirit now rampant in Colorado should reach us before next football season the Cornhusker rooters

COBURNS AT CONVOCATION

HOLD THE BOARDS AT FRIDAY AFTERNOON EXERCISES.

The renowned Coburn Players will have charge of the Convocation hour Friday evening in Memorial Hall. The Coburns have been playing for nine years, and their success has been phenomenal. They represent the very highest in classic drama, and are recognized by the colleges of the east, west and south as standards in Shakespearean presentation.

The program at Convocation will probably be devoted to a sketch of the varied and interesting career of the company.
