

FRUIT JUDGES WIN

NEBRASKA CONTESTANTS PROVE THEIR METAL AT ST. JOSEPH.

Nebraska's fruit judging team won an easy victory in the judging contest at St. Joseph on November 28. A repetition of this success will mean the permanent possession of the trophy which has been the envy of all the valley.

The team, consisting of W. F. Becker, '14, Will Forbes, '12, R. H. Camp, '13, F. L. Miles, '12, and H. W. Ritchey, '14, were accompanied by Professor Howard and Roy E. Marshall, and scored an easy triumph over their competitors, making 391.6 points out of a possible 500. Iowa was second, and Kansas third in the contest. Nebraska was winner of this contest once before, in 1909, but Ames stepped in for the laurels last year.

According to the rules of the contest, if Nebraska wins again next year, making two years in succession, she will be awarded the trophy for good. Professor Howard entertains the highest hopes for the team of next fall, and neither effort nor enthusiasm will be wanting in the attempt to make Nebraska the permanent victor of the valley.

Rule Interpreted.

We, the undersigned committee appointed to investigate the validity of the protest filed against certain players on the junior team who played in the junior-senior game on November 10th, report as follows:

We believe the provisions of the Interclass Athletic Board Constitution, Rule III (a), to apply solely to those men who accompany the regular 'varsity team as substitutes to the regular players. We therefore declare the men protested to be eligible to participate in interclass athletics.
