NEBRASKA VS. IOWA MEET IN ANNUAL CONTEST

FINAL TOUCHES ADDED TO LOCAL TEAM'S STRONG CASE.

SHIPPING SUBSIDIES THE QUESTION

Governor Aldrich to Preside and Band
Will Furnish Music in Intermission.

In its first, last and only effort of the year, Nebraska meets a formidable foe this evening in a debate with three forensic artists from the University of Iowa.

The question which the Nebraska men have been working on ever since the opening of college is "Resolved, That the United States should adopt a policy of Shipping Subsidies." From the standpoint of the local team the issues in this question have been run to the ground, and the crowd of loyal Nebraskans who have already purchased their seats have in store for them a discussion that will not only be interesting, but enlightening.

Nebraska Well Represented.

Nebraska will have to represent them tonight, three men who merit the high position which they have been found capable of holding. Joseph Goldstein, Law '13, of Dawson, who opens the argument for Nebraska, is a graduate of Peru Normal and prior to his graduation won several honors in public speaking.

Ralph W. Garrett, '13, is a graduate of Madison High. While in the University he has maintained an average of "excellent" and has been prominent in debating circles. This is his second year on the squad.

A. R. Raymond, Law '13, is the leader of the Nebraska team and will close its case. He has won scholarship honors at the University, and was member of the victorious debating team against Illinois last year.

Iowa Never Defeated.

Iowa has a strong team this year, composed of men who have already obtained one degree.

Iowa has never been defeated in its debates in the Central League, so will present its best this evening against the Cornhuskers.

The debate will be held in the Temple. Governor Aldrich will preside and the band will play. Tickets are thirty-five and fifty cents and reservations can be had at either the City Y. M. C. A. or Poster's.

PHI ALPHA TAU BANQUETS

ENTERTAINS THE DEBATING TEAMS AT BANQUET AT THE LINCOLN.

Phi Alpha Tau, the honorary debating fraternity, will give a banquet to the Nebraska and Iowa debating teams immediately following the debate.

E. F. Schram will be toastmaster and will preside, and the following will respond to toasts: Prof. A. B. White, University of Minnesota; R. F. Clough of the Iowa team; A. R. Raymond, Dr. Edwin Maxey, and Earl M. Cline.

INFORMAL AFTER DEBATE

You will miss more than a debate if you do not come out tonight, for after the big fight in which Nebraska proves that "ships should subside," there will be a big informal for all those possessing debate tickets.

Realizing that several parties and dances have been postponed for this occasion, the management of the debate have arranged for an informal dance after the debate is finished, so that you can enjoy both festivities. If you get the "fights" at the prospect of sitting through a long debate, just remember you can give full vent to your feelings in the big blow afterwards. If you are a football man, you ought especially to return the loyalty shown you throughout the whole season by coming out and supporting the Scarlet and Cream in other fields.

Oh, yes, if you don't come tonight you certainly will lose out, for you will see a real live debate, you can watch Nebraska clean Iowa, and finally, you can have a high time after the debate is over—what more could you ask for your money?

CLASSICAL CONVOCATION

MUSICAL PROGRAM OF MERIT AT-TENDED BY BUT FEW STUDENTS.

Fewer in number than the enrollment of the University of Nebraska warrants, a little band of appreciative listeners were given an excellent program of vocal and piano music at the Convocation period in the Temple, Thursday.

Miss Vera Upton was applauded and encored enthusiastically in her rendering of her vocal solos. She gave "Tis All That I Ask," by Campbell Tipton; "I Know a Lovely Garden," by D'Hardelot; "The Awakening," by Mason; "In My Garden," by Liddle, and "A Song of Thanksgiving," by Allitson.

Ovid Sanderson, always a welcome number on the Convocation program, rendered two of Chopin's pieces beautifully, The Nocturne in F sharp, and The Polonaise.

FIRST VESPERS TONIGHT

SUCCESSFUL EVENING MEETINGS
OF LAST YEAR WILL BE CON-TINUED ON HIGH PLANE.

The first vesper service of the year will be held in Memorial Hall this evening at 5 o'clock. These meetings were instituted last year with great success and it is hoped that they will meet with even more favor this winter.

The services will be of the highest quality and no effort will be spared in offering to the student body programs which will be at once enjoyable and educational. The management will cater to quality of production rather than quantity of attendance, and those who come will find it well worth their while. "There are certain elements in a university education which cannot be obtained by poring over books," and those who are seeking after a development cannot afford to miss these services, which are given each Friday evening in Memorial Hall. The music will be led by the Chorus, a string orchestra and the pipe organ.

BEGIN RIFLE PRACTICE

COMPANY A TRIES OUT NEW RANGE IN THE M. E.
BUILDING.

Rifle shooting in the new range under the Mechanical Engineering building began Thursday evening, when Company A freshmen received their first instruction. From now on the companies will shoot in alphabetical order, each having possession of the range for one week.

The new indoor range is a great improvement over the old one. It has eleven targets and has excellent facilities for quickly changing them and announcing the results after the squad has fired.

The rifles to be used are exactly the same as the Springfields now used, except that they are arranged to shoot a 22-caliber cartridge. These were used last year, but only poor target facilities were available and the results obtained were not as good as can be expected with the new equipment.

Before actual shooting begins, the different positions will be taught and drill in the operations of shooting will be given.

All is being done in preparation for the rifle compet which is held in April.

With the new equipment it is thought that a winning team can be picked to enter the contest held by the National Rifle Association, of which the Nebraska Rifle Club is a member.

For Men Sunday.

Prof. Carl Steckelberg of the University School of Music will give a violin program at the men's meeting at the Oliver next Sunday afternoon. Rev. A. J. Northrup will give a short lecture on "The Market Place." Many students attend these Sunday meetings.

Earl Jackson Back.

Earl Jackson, who was operated upon for appendicitis before the Thanksgiving recess, has returned from his home at Nelson and is taking up the "grind" again.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT "A ROYAL FAMILY"

CLEVER MODERN PLAY FINALLY SELECTED BY COMMITTEE.

TRYOUTS TO BE HELD NEXT THURSDAY

Twenty-five Characters to Compose the Cast—Manuscript on File at Reserve Desk in the Library.

"A Royal Family" is the title of the play which the junior class will present February 23 for their annual dramatic event. This announcement was made yesterday at a meeting of the third year students.

Faculty to Judge.

The tryouts are to be held in the Temple next Thursday evening, December 14. The judges of the contest have not yet been appointed, but they will be chosen in a few days from members of the faculty. The committee in charge of the play will have nothing to do with the selection of the cast; preferring to adopt the plan of last year's senior play committee of having the cast chosen by outside and impartial faculty judges.

The manuscript of the play had at the reserve desk in the library. It can be taken out at any hours at a time. In the front of the manuscript is a list of suggested scenes which are particularly available for tryout purposes.

Many Characters in Play.

The committee spent several weeks reading plays and finally selected "A Royal Family," because it affords a greater opportunity for the class to develop all of its material. There are over twenty-five characters in the play covering a considerable range.

Candidates are urged to read the play at once, select the character to which they feel most fitted, copy the part and spend the rest of the time in working up their scene. All those intending to try out must register between eleven and twelve next Tuesday, or twelve and one, Wednesday, in room U. 106.

DEPUTATION CONFERENCE MEETS

REPRESENTATIVES FROM OTHER SCHOOLS MEETING TO DISCUSS PLANS.

Intercollegiate Deputation Team Conference will convene in the Temple today with representatives from Wesleyan, Hastings, Doane, Cotner and other colleges present. The sessions, which will last through till Saturday night, will be addressed by many prominent speakers, such as Elliott, national student secretary, and Crossman of Omaha.

The purpose of the council is to inspire and instruct the so-called "Gospel Teams," which each college, including the University, will send out for evangelistic work during the Christmas vacation. This year the Nebraska teams will go to Friend and Fremont. Everyone should attend this conference.
