COLD RECEPTION OFFERED TO RETURNING STUDENTS

STORMY WEATHER PREVENTS RETURN OF MANY STUDENTS

TUESDAY CLASSES POORLY ATTENDED

Celebrations at Home Make Students Reluctant to Return to Arduous Duties at the University.

The New Year offered a very cold reception to the reluctant students who began pouring into Lincoln yesterday. Most of the aforesaid students, not wishing to cut short the celebration at home, resolved to start the new year right by arriving as late as possible—hence the numerous yawns in Tuesday's classes. In fact, some resolutions went even farther, for the absence list is still alarmingly large.

These, however, are minor details in comparison with the hardships endured by the great majority, who returned promptly, and with a firm determination to brave the elements, and to prepare their lessons. Frozen water pipes, locked doors, dusty books, disheveled rooms, whose atmosphere would intimidate even the dauntless Dr. Cook—such were a few of the obstacles to be overcome, by plumbers at $1.00 per hour, and will power at the expense of great physical suffering.

In the face of all these trials, to arise at seven a. m., Tuesday, to be arrested in the process of dressing by the sight of one's own breath congealed in mid-air, to rush breakfastless to class, and then to be greeted by a cold room and the announcement that the instructor will be unable to be present—can one wonder at the increase of crime?

Vacation days had been busy with the most of the students, social doings in every town keeping the returned Nebraskans busy each evening until early into the morning some nights. Days were filled in similar manner and there were few who did studying in the vacation days, but all returned to Lincoln feeling that they would be glad to get into the harness again.

A few students stayed in Lincoln—those who lived here and those who lived too far away to make it worth their while to go home. The members of the Kickerbocker Club and the Cosmopolitan Club were all in Lincoln and the foreigners, who attend the school here, practically all remained.

Nebraskans Marry.

Two former University of Nebraska students were married at Columbus, Neb., December 27. Mr. Leroy Taylor of South Omaha, former engineering student, and Miss Margaret Nouman, a former A. B., were married at the home of Miss Nouman's parents in Columbus on that day. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will live in South Omaha, where Mr. Taylor is employed with the Omaha Ice and Cold Storage company.

Uni students are invited to try the Y. M. C. A. Barbers. You will like their work.

FRATERNITIES FROZEN OUT

AQUA PURA GETS COLD FEET AS MEALS ARE PREPARED.

"Frozen out" was the icy greeting which met several of the fraternities and sororities upon their return to Lincoln after the vacation days. Not only frozen out, but on account of the freezing of pipes and boilers stoves in the Phi Gamma Delta, the Phi Psi, and in the Alpha Phi houses the members of those organizations went hungry Monday night and all day Tuesday. Indications late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning indicated that any dinners that were eaten Wednesday would probably be of restaurant brand.

King Boreas had merely performed his annual little trick on Nebraska fraternities, for there is hardly a year passes that several organizations do not come back to Lincoln and pay out several fortunes to plumbers to have the house fixed up again.

Pipes that had not been sufficiently drained when the owners left for over Christmas had either burst or frozen tight and no kind of inducement was sufficient to induce the recalcitrant aqua to return to a condition of warmth that would heat the frigid atmosphere. But such is life....

ROBBERY DEPRIVES TWO CO-EDS

THEFT AT SIGMA NU HOUSE DESTROYS XMAS PLANS OF TWO GALLANTS.

At least two fair co-eds were deprived of expected Christmas presents because of the robbery of the Sigma Nu house on the Saturday before Christmas.

A pearl pendant belonging to Ed Adams and a locket studded with diamonds, the property of Will Randall, were taken from the boys' rooms. The jewelry was placed in a drawer and the door of the room locked. Mr. Adams is not absolutely sure that he locked the door on the day of the robbery, although he had been in the habit of doing so previously.

Thinking that some of their fraternity brothers were playing a practical joke on them, the two boys did not report the affair to the police until a couple of days ago. So far no trace of the jewelry has been found. Nothing else was taken from the frat house.

Professor Hoffman Goes East.

Prof. J. D. Hoffman of the Engineering college will leave Saturday on an extended business trip throughout the east. He will visit in Buffalo, N. Y., Kokomo and Lafayette, Ind., returning home about January 1.

LEAP YEAR BRINGS NEW WOES

MASCULINE CONTINGENT MUST PLAY THE WAITING GAME FOR TWELVE MONTHS.

Look out, boys, your time has come. LEAP YEAR IS HERE AT LAST. Sunday evening a large number of fair co-eds were seen wandering about the campus armed with marriage licenses. Two weeks ago the Daily Nebraskan issued a warning that such would be the condition after January first, but the clarion note passed unheeded. Already one student of old Nebraska has fallen before the onslaught and rumor has it that many more are on the verge of capture.

The situation as it now looks is critical. Always foremost in giving its readers all the news and keeping nothing from them, the Daily Nebraskan has put on a special staff to cover this during the next twelve months and the readers will at all times have advance information on the condition of affairs.

MAYLAND DIES AT SEWARD.

Prominent Medical Student Succumbs to Heart Trouble.

William F. Mayland of Seward, Nebraska, a first-year medical student at the University of Nebraska, died of heart trouble at his home in Seward last week and was buried Sunday.

The death came at the close of a sickness which began before Thanksgiving. Mayland was not feeling well when he returned from his Thanksgiving vacation, and three days later he was again taken ill, from which he never recovered.

Mr. Mayland was a member of the Phi Rho Sigma fraternity. He was regimental quartermaster sergeant and an announcement of his death was made last night in a special order issued by Commandant H. E. Yates.

ENGINEERS TO DANCE.

Annual Hop of Mechanics Held Next Saturday.

Next Saturday evening the engineers will give their annual hop at the Lincoln. Plans have been made for several novel features, and the committee definitely announces that the attendance will be limited to eighty-five.

In view of this fact, the price will be $1.50.

All tickets have been disposed of, and as no more will be issued, those who have procrastinated at purchasing will be obliged to go elsewhere on Saturday evening.

Dr. Sherraden Ill.

Dr. William D. Sherraden of Omaha, father of Jasmine Sherraden, is very ill in his home in Omaha. He was attacked by typhoid fever on Christmas and since the first day of serious illness has not materially improved. Tuesday evening his condition was reported very low.

NEBRASKAN FORCES TO MOVE OFFICE SOON

NEW CAFETERIA CAUSES SOME UNLOOKED-FOR TROUBLE.

CORNHUSKER STAFF TO GO ALSO

Book Store to Be Placed in Basement of the Administration Building.

Great Guns! The Daily Nebraskan is soon to have a moving day. Its publication office will be moved to the east end of the Administration building basement.

While the Rag pen-pushers and moulders of student sentiment were at home enjoying Christmas turkey, the powers that be got the best of them and decided to oust the whole push from the present office and put the Regents' book store in the room now occupied by the Nebraskan and Cornhusker.

It is a sudden move. It has taken the management by surprise, but all are ready for anything that may come. More space is needed by other departments.

The new University Y. M. C. A. cafeteria is responsible for the editorial and business offices being thus moved. The book store is to be moved into the present editorial quarters in order to make room for the eating house in the Temple building. The change will be made as soon as possible.

STUDENTS ELOPE

RALPH KISSINGER AND MISS TROXEL MARRIED IN ST. JOE ON SHORT NOTICE.

Eloping after an acquaintance of three short weeks, Ralph Kissinger of Fairfield, Nebraska, and June Troxel of Lincoln, both University students, were married in St. Joseph, Mo., during vacation.

Three weeks before the time of the elopement, the pair were introduced, the time being the big Michigan-Nebraska football game. It was a case of love at first sight and shortly after the meeting the two were secretly engaged.

When Christmas vacation came Mr. Kissinger and his bride started for Fairfield, where Miss Troxel planned making a visit at the Kissinger home. On the way the idea of the elopement was formed and, first going to Omaha and then to St. Joe, the marriage was performed.

ALPHA THETAS HAVE ACCIDENT.

Boiler Explodes When Fire is Built in Stove—No Injuries.

H. B. Pearse and Sid Evans were slightly injured during the holidays by the explosion of a water tank of the stove at the Alpha Theta Chi house. The boys, not knowing that the tank had been drained, attempted to build a fire, and a serious explosion resulted. Fortunately, neither of them were seriously injured, merely receiving small cuts about the hands and wrists.
