

SENIORS SELECT CLASS PLAY HEADGEAR CAUSES COMMENT

TO PRESENT "A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM" IN JUNE.

The Senior Play committee has decided upon "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as the Senior dramatic effort of the year. The play will be held some time in June and will be coached by Miss Alice Howell of the Rhetoric Department.

Big Chorus Planned.

Besides the regular cast of ten important characters, it is planned to have a chorus of fifty University girls, and a special orchestra to play Mendelssohn's score. Carl Steckelberg will have charge of the music, while Miss Charlotte Whedon will train the dancers.

All arrangements for the play are in the hands of the committee, of which Ernest Graves is chairman. Tryouts will not be held for some time, but the committee of judges has already been selected. It consists of Miss Howell, Professor Scott, Professor Stuff, Dr. Tyndale of the Journal, and Mr. Roy Sunderland.

ETHNOLOGIST AT CONVOCATION.

Francis La Flesche of the Government Service to Address Students.

Mr. Francis La Flesche, of the U. S. Bureau of Ethnology, will deliver an address at convocation today. Mr. La Flesche is in Lincoln to speak before the Historical Association. He was born and raised on a reservation, and is an authority on Indian problems. He is now in the government service and is probably the most widely read man in the United States on subjects relative to ethnology.

MASCULINE POPULATION SUBJECT OF CURIOSITY DURING PRESENT COLD WAVE.

Have you noticed the novel head coverings now in vogue among the young men of our University? They are of material of all possible texture and colors, and rival in shape the prevailing headgear among the fair sex. Some are a bright yellow, suggestive of dandelions and sun-dogs, others are grey, suggestive of the prevailing leaden skies, while a few are red, and are no doubt calculated to give the greatest possible amount of heat.

But not to pass over one of their distinctive features, their shapes—most of them are large enough to cover the fizz of the wearer, and all of them are enriched by the presence of a tassel. When spread to their fullest extent they are awe-inspiring, to say the least, and would do credit to the taste of Barney Oldfield or Jack Johnson.

NEBRASKA JEWELS SHOWN.

Interesting Collection on Exhibition at Historical Convention.

Prosaic old Nebraska can show a collection of home-product jewels that would make the uninformed open their eyes. In the Historical Library there is on exhibition a cabinet of semi-precious jewels and stones collected from the Republican Valley by Father Dennis Fitzgerald of Red Cloud. There is an exceptional collection of agates, garnets and topaz. Part of these are cut and polished, and a great many are in the rough.

The collection is loaned by Father Fitzgerald during the State Historical convention.
