WILL RANDALL CANDIDATE JUNIOR PRESIDENT PLUM

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT MADE FOR THE BIG CAMPAIGN OF SECOND SEMESTER.

PROBABLY OTHERS OUT SOON

Law Student First in the Field With Promise of a Hot Contest.

The first political gun of the new year was fired yesterday when William Randall, a Sigma Nu and junior law, announced himself as a candidate for the presidency of the junior class.

The elections of the junior class are usually the most important political events of the year and the early opening of hostilities indicates a lively season for the politicians.

Two more candidates are expected to appear upon the field in a short time and the contest will probably become rather hot.

CHANCELLOR TO ENTERTAIN

DR. AND MRS. AVERY TO GIVE DINNER TO MASQUES AND INNOCENTS.

Following the example of last year, the Chancellor and Mrs. Avery, and Miss Alice B. Ensign, will entertain the Black Masques and the Innocents at a dinner, January 27th. The affair will take place at the Chancellor's home.

These two representative organizations of the senior class stand for Nebraska policy and Nebraska "spirit," and this joint gathering with the heads of the University is regarded as most appropriate. The delightfulness of last year's affair led to its repetition this year.

GIRLS' KID PARTY SATURDAY

CO-ED CLUB TO ENTERTAIN KINDERGARTEN PARTY AT ARMORY.

The Girls' Club is becoming active again. Saturday afternoon they had a kindergarten party in the Armory for the members of the club.

Everything is being done to make the affair unique and delightful. Miss Luikhart, who has successfully engineered similar affairs, is in charge. "Kid" games and "kid rats," and, of course, "kid" costumes, will be the special feature.

Tickets can be obtained from Lela Berry, Florence Schwake, Fanny Drake and Miss Ensign. Membership blanks will also be left with this committee for those who wish to join the club. The membership fee is 25 cents.

Printed invitations are being sent out to the members, but the president announces that if any member fails to receive one she is to consider herself invited, as oversights are unavoidable.

Don't forget the time, January 20th, at 2 o'clock; the place, the Armory. Come dressed as a "juvenile."

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Lincoln and vicinity: Fair and slightly warmer. Coldest temperature for Monday was 11 below zero.

HOFFMAN AT CONVOCATION

M. E. PROFESSOR TO TALK ON INFLUENCE OF VOCATIONAL COLLEGES.

Prof. J. D. Hoffman, head of the Mechanical Engineering department, will give a lecture at convocation today on "The Influence of Vocational Schools." Professor Hoffman came to Nebraska this fall from Purdue to take charge of the Mechanical Engineering. He will make his first appearance this morning before the student body.

His talk will deal particularly with the manufacturing and agricultural industries.

American Institutions.

The idea of the vocational school, though not original with America, has been developed to a large extent in our country and the percentage of attendance is far greater proportionately.

Another feature which Professor Hoffman will discuss is the general advantage and profit derived from such schools, not by the student alone, but by the community in general.

Mr. Hoffman will devote most of his discussion to the broader effects of these colleges, as they effect the life and growth of the country at large.

Imperial Quartette.

The Imperial Quartette will open the hour with a selection. Those desiring to hear them must be prompt, for interruptions will not be permitted.

OMAHA CLUB WILL MEET

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND PLANS FOR BOOSTING NEBRASKA TO BE TAKEN UP.

The Omaha Club will meet in the chapel, Tuesday, at 11:30, for the purpose of electing officers and discussing plans for the future.

The plans of the club at present are to start at once to send University men as speakers to Omaha to talk to the students of the High School and to the business men as parents.

The intentions of the club are to arouse some interest in the University in Omaha, so that Omaha will be better represented in the University and to keep so many of the Omaha High graduates from going East to finish their college education.

It is the hope of the members that they may have the power of boosting the University, and for that reason the club will not be limited to just Omaha men. All boosters living in the vicinity of Omaha will join and do their best for the interest of the University.

NEW REGIMENT FORMED

FARM BATTALIONS ARE TO BE GROUPED AS ONE UNIT.

A new cadet regiment is to be formed at the State Farm. The six companies have hitherto been drilled as one battalion, but will now be divided and will constitute one regiment.

The commandant has issued a call for applications from the aspirants for the positions created by the change.

NO REGISTRATION WEEK

FACULTY DECIDES STUDENTS MUST SCHEDULE BETWEEN CLASSES.

A new system of registration will be used for the second semester of this year. Owing to the abolishing of examinations by the faculty, students will be given no holidays in which to register. Instead, they will be requested to do this between their classes.

In place of the two separate hour tickets formerly given out, each student will be presented with one card, allowing him to register in one two-hour period. Students are, however, requested to see their deans and advisers, to obtain approval of their registration slips, the week before registration.

Schedules will be ready on Monday, January 22nd. The schedules will be in the form of a book, instead of the usual flat sheet, which have been found in the past to be too awkward to handle easily.

IMPERIAL CONCERT TONIGHT

QUARTETTE, ACCOMPANIED BY LOCAL TALENT, AT TEMPLE TONIGHT.

The Imperial Concert Company will give an entertainment at the Temple Theatre Tuesday evening. An excellent program was rendered recently in Omaha and a treat for music lovers is expected this evening.

The quartette, which is a Nebraska production, is composed of M. O. Gable, first tenor; W. C. Humes, second tenor; Ray Overman, baritone, and W. J. Lambert, basso. Accompanying these will be Miss Lauretta Spencer, pianist, and Harry Duboff, violinist.

Miss Spencer is a former Cornhusker. She took work at the Conservatory for several years and achieved some prominence. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Duboff is a protege of Professor Steckelberg of the Conservatory. He has played before the leading violin players and shows great skill in his work.

THE SIGMA NU PLEDGES

THE MEDICAL FRATERNITY ANNOUNCES MEN SOON TO BE INITIATED.

Nu Sigma Nu announces the following pledges, who will be initiated as soon as they are registered in the College of Medicine:

M. R. Bowman, Lincoln; G. W. Hoffmeister, Imperial; F. L. Horton, Newcastle, Wyo.; C. F. Andrews, St. Paul; W. L. Ross, Omaha; E. C. Sage, South Omaha; R. E. Curtis, South Omaha; W. T. Wildhaber, Plymouth.

Dr. Bessey Speaks.

Today at 2 o'clock, Dr. Bessey is to speak before the Historical Society at the Farm. The subject of his address is "Wild Fruits Which Ought to Be Cultivated."

Delta Gamma Recovers.

Madge Meredith, 1915, who has been ill with the gripe since New Year's at her home in York, has returned to school.

AMATEURS DO CLEVER WORK IN "THE AMAZONS"

PINERO'S FARCE-COMEDY EFFECTIVELY PRESENTED BY THE DRAMATIC CLUB.

PLAYS TO A WELL FILLED HOUSE

Annual Performance of Local Actors' Club Pleases a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Before a well-filled house the University Dramatic Club presented Pinero's clever farce-comedy at the Temple Theatre, Saturday night. The play was effectively staged, and well coached, and the acting done by the members of the cast brought out frequent and merited applause.

The interest in the play centers around the adventures of a young English lady and her two sisters, raised by a sternly masculine mother to think and act as boys. In carrying out her mother's precepts the girl in question gets into some trouble, from which a young English lord rescues her. Although she is disguised as a man, he recognizes her sex, and becoming interested, follows her to her country estate, where follow many amusing adventures, for men are forbidden at Overcote Park. Two other characters appear on the scene, who occupy the attention of the two sisters, and after some humorous complications, the situation results in the decision of the girls that they after all prefer to be girls.

Hazel Perrin led in the part of Lady Neoline, the girl of the adventure. She was excellently supported by Florence Hostettler, who did admirable and clever work in the role of her sister, the Lady Tommy, and by Marjorie Kunkel, her other sister, who introduced a little song as a pleasing variation. Two other feminine roles, the charmingly militant sergeant and the masculine old mother, were cleverly portrayed by Marie Douglass and Florence Farman.

Harry Coffee did lifelike work in the part of Litterly, and Louis Horne, as the mercurial Frenchman, was the laughing hit of the evening. Clarence Clark also did effective character work in his portrayal of an insipid and conceited English fop. The other masculine roles were likewise well worked out, and showed the selection of an all-star cast.

Mildred Bevins coached the play and is deserving of a great deal of credit for her painstaking efforts in producing an artistic performance.
