HE WAS ONLY ENGAGED

CALLER AT "RAG" OFFICE RESENTS BEING MARRIED IN PRINT TO WRONG GIRL.

"You married me when I'm only engaged," was the mournful complaint that reached the office of the Daily Nebraskan, Wednesday morning. "What is more, you married me to the wrong girl. I could stand the first, but the last never."

Dismay filled the faces of the editor and his staff. "Why, we never put anybody under the bonds of matrimony, at least so far as we remember. Don't we have enough troubles of our own without your accusing us of marrying you to the wrong damsel?"

Explanations followed, and the fact was finally discovered that in an item in the personal column it had been stated that Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown, nee Jones, had visited Lincoln. Furthermore, it was found that Mr. Brown was not married, but only engaged, and that the girl he was about to wed was not Miss Jones. This slight discrepancy was easily explained from the fact that the reporter writing the item was very much in love at the time and consequently wrote of things as they should have been, and not as they really were.

FARM JUNIORS ARE CHAMPS.

Third Year Men Win Annual Inter-class Basketball Tournament.

The Juniors are now recognized athletic champions of the State Farm. The victorious class received a handsome banner, indicative of this honor, for winning the inter-class basketball tournament.

As preliminaries the Juniors defeated the Seniors, 30 to 11; the Sophomores the Freshmen, 19 to 11, and, in the finals, the Juniors won over the Sophomores 24 to 9. Professors Chase, Rail, Westgate, and Ludden officiated.

BATTLE ROYAL AT FARM.

Faculty Members Forced to Quell an Encounter Over Colors.

A battle royal, exceeding in bloodshed most of the encounters in the late Mexican revolution, occurred at the Farm Tuesday when the Juniors placed their colors on the Farm buildings. Seniors and Sophomores attempted to drag them down and the Freshmen joined in, aiding the third year men. The engagement lasted through three class periods and was finally quelled by the faculty. The Junior colors were still flying at the end.

CHATBURN TO TEST ROOF

Lincoln Commercial Club Employs University Professor.

Prof. George R. Chatburn has been retained by the Lincoln Commercial Club to examine and report upon the condition of the concrete in the roof of the new club building. This concrete was laid during freezing weather and it is a well known fact that freezing before the concrete has hardened is injurious. The question is whether or not the injury is sufficient to warrant the removal and replacement of the roof. Tests in the laboratory and loading tests upon the roof will probably be made.
