

ANNUAL TO COST $4,046

STUDENTS ORDERING LATER THAN THURSDAY OR FRIDAY MUST PAY EXTRA.

According to the printing contract, all copy for the 1912 Cornhusker must be in by April 12. Owing to this fact, members of the staff have been working overtime in order that their work might be in by that date.

More time and expense have been lavished on this year's annual than on any previous book, therefore there is no doubt but the 1912 Cornhusker will far surpass anything that has yet been done in that line.

A few figures from the business manager, H. B. Coffee, show that the cost of printing alone, for 1,000 copies, will be $2,046; the engraving will come to $1,200; art and cartoon work to $300, and other sundry expenses are estimated at $500. This renders the total cost $4,046.

Last year, according to G. E. Reed, editor-in-chief of the 1911 Cornhusker, the total cost of 1,000 copies did not exceed $3,600; nor did the annual of 1910. Judging from these figures, it can be plainly seen that nothing has been spared in the way of expense.

That the best talent of the University has been obtained to produce the material of all kind, serious and frivolous alike, is also true. Editor Van Dusen has been very careful to choose those whom he knew could do the things that had to be done to make this book a corker.

It is advised that every one wishing a Cornhusker should order Thursday or Friday, owing to the fact that any order coming in late will cost 25 cents extra. The price of the book will be $2.00. Figures show that the actual cost of the annual is $4.00, but in view of the fact that the advertisers have been especially liberal this year, the business manager can afford to give the book to the students at a cost to them of only $2.00 if ordered Thursday or Friday. Other annuals of the western universities will cost that much or more. From a statement made by a Kansas student we learn that the Kansas book will cost the students $2.75.

From present indications, there will be at least 1,500 Cornhuskers sold, which will be about 200 more copies than were sold last year.
