

PLAY BY TEMPLE HIGH SENIORS

"Cupid at Vassar" Will Be Presented Night of April 27.

"Cupid at Vassar" is the clever little play which the senior class of the Temple High School will give at the Temple theatre, Saturday night, April 27. This is one of the most popular of college plays and the high school folk expect to put on a good production.

Several songs and novelties have been introduced that will add to the work of the individual actors. Julia Proudftt, of Lincoln, has the leading part. The play is being directed by F. C. McConnell of the University.

How China Aids Students.

While Uncle Sam doesn't worry about the little Japs much and still less about the Chinamen, it is well that we all study the Chinaman with a view to improving our own conditions in many ways. It is hard to tell what we would have done with a sum the amount of which was paid to the Chinese government as an indemnity fund at the time of the Boxer trouble, but here is what China did with that fund:

"Columbia boasts of thirty nine Chinese students, whose expenses are being paid out of the Boxer indemnity fund from the United States to China."

A STANDARD NOTE-BOOK.

Engineers Set What May Be Precedent for Other Departments.

The engineering college has adopted a standard note-book, which will be put on sale in two bindings at the University Book Store. This is the only note-book handled by the book store. It is to be 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size, the paper to have three holes, and will be required for all work in the engineering college, and may be adopted by other departments.

Phi Alpha Tau Elects Four.

The following men were elected to membership in Phi Alpha Tau, the honorary public speaking fraternity: T. G. Thompson, law '13; J. E. Ray, law '14; Z. Z. Dickenson, arts and sciences '14, and Harry Burtis, arts and science '13.

Frat Games Postponed.

The baseball games scheduled between Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Upsilon on the 16th and between Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta on the 17th were indefinitely postponed on account of the cold weather.
