TOMORROW'S CONCERT.

Several months ago we mentioned the fact that band concerts were to be held on the campus this spring. At the time that seemed like an empty boast, but at this stage of the game it gives every indication of being a certainty.

The band has signified its intention of appearing for the first time tomorrow evening at seven o'clock, at which time it will render such selections as are fitting to the season of the year. The musicians showed the proper spirit by turning out at the track meet last Saturday (in fact they composed about half of the spectators) and playing at every available opportunity. The occasion reminded one of the football games of last fall when the band performed; it made up in enthusiasm what the other three spectators lacked in numbers.

Owing to the intervention of Camp the band will be unable to play during the week of May 14-18; hence, including tomorrow, there can be only four concerts. For this reason, if for no other, the students should turn out to lend an attentive ear, and thereby prove to the band that they appreciate the body which has probably done more advertising for the school than any other non athletic organization.

CORNHUSKER FORMS MADE.

Some New Ideas are Being Tried in Annual This Year.

Several forms for the 1912 Cornhusker have been made, and Editor Van Dusen reports some very fine work done upon them. The first plan was to run sixteen page forms, but on account of the extra quality dull finish paper that is to be used, eight page forms were decided upon to insure better workmanship.

The book this year will be oblong instead of square as it formerly has been; the dimensions being ten and one-half inches by eight. Instead of leather, the 1912 Cornhusker will be bound in brown burlap. There will be a large block "N" in the center of the outside cover, a Nebraska seal in the upper corner, near the inside, and "12" in the lower corner, near the outside.

The title of the book will not appear on the outside cover at all, but will first be seen on the title page. This idea is a new one belonging to Editor Van Dusen.

OPERA A SOCIETY AFFAIR

TICKETS FOR "THE DIPLOMAT"
GO WITH STARTLING RAPIDITY FIRST DAY.

On Friday evening there will be perpetrated upon the university public an innovation in the dramatic line. At that time the wide areas of air in the Oliver theater will be rent with music not that kind that can be purchased every Saturday at the ten-cent stores for a nominal sum, nor that variety which makes its weekly debut at the Orpheum, but rather a new and original variety.

The idea of staging an original musical comedy written and executed by college students is not a new one. There are now at nearly all the bigger and more important universities clubs organized for this purpose, and it was only at the close of last school year that such an organization was formed at Nebraska. Nebraska is so up-to-date in every other respect that the investigators decided that it should not fall behind in this one—hence the Kosmet Klub.

Encouraged by the glowing successes of such clubs as the Triangle Club at Princeton, the Black Friars at Chicago, the Powder and Puff at Yale, the Red Domino at Kansas, and a similar one at Missouri, the members, twelve in all, have worked long and diligently and now feel that they can put before the university audience (which is, in every instance, the most critical that can be collected) a performance which need never be referred to as "good for an amateur production."

The tickets were put on sale yesterday and for the first day went with startling rapidity, in fact, over two hundred and fifty were disposed of. On the fateful evening it is expected that every seat will be occupied, not only by musical connoisseurs and dramatic critics, but by society in gala attire, fussers in blushing embarrassment and new clothes, and, in fact, everyone who is interested in the growing importance and ever increasing culture of Nebraska.

A Hint to the Laws.

Yesterday morning the law librarian found a young owl perched upon the picture of the late Sir William Blackstone. Unlike Poe's raven he had not been invited in and asked to perch upon the bust of Pallas, but had been lured to the place by the great magnetic influence that affinities have for each other, and also the atmosphere of the place. The laws are contemplating the adoption of the bird and raising a fund to provide for his future care.

It may here be said that there is really nothing in the bird's actions to indicate that "birds of a feather flock together"—but we cannot disregard the apparent omen, that it means more attention should be paid to Blackstone, dead, but whose memory is immortal, and whose history reveals that Blackstone was one of the grind in list of grinds.
