committee, who spent so much time and energy in making plans and carrying them through and also to Professor Conant, who very shrewdly decoyed them into the park only to be formed into an "ox line" to get back outside to the "cats."

The barbecue was decidedly a success and one more step in the desired direction, namely, the promotion of brotherly feeling, which is an essential even among successful bandits.

M'CONNELL SUCCEEDS TAYLOR

Elected Managing Editor—Ruth Munger Appointed Associate Editor.

The Publication Board met yesterday to fill the vacancies which have recently occurred in the Nebraskan staff. Fred McConnell was elected managing editor and Ruth Munger, as associate editor. The latter action is somewhat of an innovation, but bids well to be successful, especially in the case at hand, for Miss Munger has shown remarkable ability and energy in her position as reporter.

The board further recommended that during the week of camp the publication of the Nebraskan be turned over to the girls, it being understood that the editor still exercises the power of selecting the news. In view of the decided success of the coed issue of last fall, the present action is considered expedient.

The date for election of next year's staff will be set in the near future.
