SPEEDY TACKLE PUT OUT OF TOMORROW'S GAME.

CORNHUSKER BACKFIELD LIGHT

Aggies' Average on Line Less, But More Experienced, While Nebraska Lacks Weight in Support of Green Line.

On account of wet grounds and a continuous rain in the afternoon, yesterday's practice was held in the gymnasium. All of the regulars were out for work but Purdy, Mastin and Pearson, the latter still suffering from a bad ankle. The big, husky tackle will not be able to get into Saturday's engagement. This will weaken the already too weak line. The Aggies in their game last Saturday played a line-plunging game and made good with it. This will hit the Cornhuskers' weak spot, and we will have to fight all of the time to get away with the large end of the score.

The Aggie aggregation is heavy, the line averaging 175 pounds, and the backfield weighs about 167 pounds per man. The Cornhusker line averages 180, with the backfield about 160. This gives Nebraska a heavier line than the Kansas team, but our line is green and theirs experienced. Coach Stiehm said yesterday: "We have a comparatively new team, as compared with that of last year. They have an old team with a year of experience, and we will have a hard game Saturday."

The freshman team did not practice yesterday as the weather was too bad for outdoor work, and the gym was given over to the varsity's signal running. Hard work and continual roughing has been the part of the poor, abused reserves this week, for they have had a good deal of straight scrimmage with the varsity bunch. The strength which several of the first-year men have been showing of late promises well for next year's varsity, even with all this year's veterans leaving. While no especially fast showing has been made as yet by any individual among the youngsters, they are keeping at it with terrible stick-to-itiveness, and some of these days they may show the older squad some pointers on playing the game, as did the famous reserve team of 1911, the members of which are the strongest regulars this year.

A regular game between the freshman and varsity squads is to be instituted every Thursday on the athletic field. The band will be out and the cheer leaders will be there with their howling hundreds to cheer the varsity on to victory. The coach thinks the players will do better in practice and get more life into their work through this innovation. By having a day set aside for the weekly freshman game the students will have a chance to practice their yells and songs and get the co-eds more interested in football.

WILL THE GIRLS SWIM?

Miss Gittings' plans, as announced in the Daily Nebraskan Wednesday, of having swimming classes for the co-eds in the Y. M. C. A. pool, is not meeting with as hearty co-operation on the part of the Y. M. C. A. men as might be desired. Although a side entrance could be used which would eliminate the undesirable feature of the girls passing through the lobby, the objection is made that the association is strictly a men's club, and for this reason the feminine element would be out of place. Formal action for or against the proposition will be taken October 15.

RUBE WINS GIANT VICTORY

Americans Lose, Though Getting Marquard for Seven Hits, with One Run in Ninth Inning.

Rube Marquard won the game for the Giants yesterday against the Red Sox at Boston by a score of 2 to 1. Each team made seven hits, and New York made one error. Buck O'Brien worked for Boston, but was somewhat unsteady and was replaced in the ninth by Bedient. Murray started the scoring for the Nationals by getting a two-base hit off O'Brien in the second inning. Marquard held the Americans scoreless for eight innings, but eased up a little in the ninth and allowed them to run in one score.

The crowd yesterday was as large as that of two days previous, either due to the rain the night before or because two days in succession was too much for them. The game today will be held at New York, and Tesreau and Wood will probably oppose each other again.

STEWART MADE NEW ASSOCIATE

Successful Reporter Goes Notch Higher—Is Well Known in College.

At a special meeting of the Student Publication Board yesterday Cloyd V. Stewart was elected associate editor of The Nebraskan to fill the vacancy in the associate staff.

Stewart is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences and has been on the staff of The Nebraskan for a year previous to this. He is a member of the Dramatic Club, of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, and is well known on the campus. His promotion comes as the result of efficient service on the reportorial staff, where he has made good on the daily grind of covering assignments.

The Daily Kansan says "Coach Frank thinks that Nebraska doesn't know anything about football." This distinguished gentleman may have a chance to change his mind about November 16.

TENNIS MEET STARTS.

The annual tennis tournament will begin next Wednesday on the newly completed courts north of Nebraska Hall. This event will be given under the auspices of the University Men's Tennis Association. This association is a new acquaintance in University circles, as it was formed Wednesday night, when the following officers were elected: President, G. H. Williams; secretary-treasurer, E. L. Meyer. An entrance fee of 25 cents will be charged. Entries must be made at the office of the Daily Nebraskan before Tuesday night in order to have games scheduled for Wednesday.

BAND FEATURE IN PARADE

Prominent Place in German Day Festivities Held by University Musicians—Show Good Form.

One of the chief features of the German Day parades was the University of Nebraska Cadet Band. The boys were at their best and, despite the fact that they were only one-tenth of the musical force of the parade, were given the "glad hand" by the large crowds. This is perhaps due to the earnest efforts of Director Cornell and Captain Wilson.

Major Cornell is now serving his second year with this musical organization and deserves a great amount of credit for turning out one of the best bands in the history of this school. Captain Wilson is also accountable for the appearance made by the band.

The striking feature of the boys' appearance was the way in which they marched. Every line was perfect, every foot came down at the same time, and every one acted strictly military throughout. This is a vast improvement over the way the band appeared at the football game last Saturday, and whether or not the band shows up as well from this on in attendance and uniformity will be the determination as to whether they will accompany the football team to Minnesota, the game following the Kansas Aggies. It is also rumored that the band will go to the Missouri game.

Girls' Club Breakfast.

Don't forget the Girls' Club breakfast at the State Farm on Saturday. Take 8 o'clock Bethany car. If it rains the party will be held on the second floor of the Temple.

Freshmen Candidate Notice.

All candidates for minor offices in the freshman class must file their names at once with Professor Engberg, who, as a member of the committee on student organizations, will determine their eligibility. A meeting for the election of a vice president, secretary and treasurer will be held in Memorial Hall on Tuesday, October 15, at 11:30. PHIL. A. WARNER, President.

CARNIVAL WILL GO

AGITATION STARTED AGAINST STREET SHOW SUCCESSFUL.

POPULAR DEMAND OF STUDENTS

Innocents Conduct Investigation—Results in Agreement by Which Carnival Is to Move Out of the City Today.

As a result of the agitation started by the students Wednesday night against the carnival on Twelfth street, it has seemed best to the city authorities to do away with it, according to the last reports at the time of writing. It is billed to leave the city this morning, and with its departure quiet will fall on the campus.

This action came only after a long consultation between the city authorities and the forces opposing the carnival. Chief among the latter were the Innocents, Dr. Condra and the general attitude of the student body. Moved by their demands, Mr. J. E. Miller and Secretary Whitten of the Commercial Club affected an agreement with the Eagle lodge whereby the carnival is to vacate.

The movement of the University students, starting in the disorder Wednesday night, was a general protest against the indecency and cheapness which was characterized by the carnival. A group of students met previous to the uprising, and as a self-appointed committee voiced the sentiments of the student body in saying that it ought not be permitted to run in such close proximity to the campus.

This movement crystallized into an investigation of the lawful right of the carnival to block a city street and operate so close to the campus, conducted by the Innocents. The committee appointed by them for the investigation consisted of Carrier, Meade and Sinkie. These men represented the voice of the students, as entrusted to them by Chancellor Avery, who gave them power to act.

In the investigation it was brought out that the riot of Wednesday night had been precipitated by one of the "spielers" of the carnival. He had taunted the University boys in the crowd, reminding them of a bruising which he claimed the show had administered to them five years ago, and their fighting blood had been brought to a boil.

Furthermore, it was charged that because of the noise accompanying it study was impossible in the women's building just across the street.

During the investigation it was found that no license had been paid the city and the committee asked why it was lawful for the street leading to the campus to be blocked. This was used further as a basis for the objection to its proximity to the campus. However, no reflection was cast upon the Eagles' lodge, which brought the carnival to the city.
