BRINGS BACK HONOR

DAIRY STOCK JUDGING TEAM
WINS FIRST PLACE.

MANY INDIVIDUAL HONORS

Second Victory for Nebraska's Team,
Like Result in 1909—Ames Takes
Second Place, with Many Following.

Nebraska's dairy stock judging team returned Monday from the National Dairy Show with a glorious victory of over 200 points over their nearest competitor—the Iowa Aggies. Remarkably great ability was shown by the members of the team, not only collectively but as individuals, carrying off the highest honors in the Holstein contest, two individual scholarships, a trophy in the Guernsey contest and a prize of $50. The scholarships and the money prize were won by Steven Whisenand, while the second place in the Guernsey contest went to R. H. Camp. In the big contest they were assisted by Arthur George and L. C. Robertson, alternate.

Three members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture accompanied the team to Chicago as coaches—Professors G. C. White, J. H. Frandsen and O. H. Liebers.

This victory is the second one which has honored Nebraska's dairy stock judging team. In the fall of 1909 the same award came to the team for the first time, and every year since then those picked for the squad put in many hard days' work in a hard fight to repeat the same performance. No small amount of effort is necessary to even make a fair showing in such a contest with teams entered from all parts of the country, and great credit should be given the men who brought home this honor.

Fourteen other colleges were represented in the contest. Michigan, Missouri, Kansas, Cornell, Kentucky, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and South Dakota all made strong showings, but yielded to the Ames bunch, who were placed second to Nebraska.

The trip, which included the Chicago show, extended over almost a week's time, the team leaving last Thursday, making a two days' stop at Waterloo, Iowa, putting in a day at Waukesha, Wis., another at Milwaukee, and the remainder of the time at the national show. —Sn.

TRUST PROBLEM PARAMOUNT

Wilson and Roosevelt Discussed at Phi
Alpha Tau Meeting—Marcellus and Raymond Speak.

Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson came in for discussion at a meeting of Phi Alpha Tau held at the Lincoln Hotel last night. Incidentally a few remarks were made about the progressive and democratic parties, and before the evening closed the issues that separate the two parties were pretty clearly drawn.

Speaks for Wilson.

Byrne Marcellus, in defending the New Jersey governor and the democratic standard, declared that the tariff question is playing the most important part in the campaign, and that the democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only was the only solution of what seems to have become a national economic problem. His contention was that the American consumer is buying his goods at a greater price than the same goods are sold for abroad, and the only way to protect this exploitation is to reduce the tariff to a revenue basis.

The progressive cause was espoused by A. R. Raymore, who declared at the outset that he was not a devotee of Theodore Roosevelt as a personality, but more a believer and advocate of the progressive propaganda. He declared that the country was committed, through international necessity, to a protective tariff policy, and that for this reason it was not the issue in the campaign.

Trust Problem Paramount.

He declared the trust question to be the essential one and urged that the progressives are the only ones that attempt to outline their solution. The main contention is that corporations cannot be dissolved, and the best way to handle them is by regulation.

Through the economies of monopoly, the cost of production is reduced, and by the proper supervision and regulations prices could be correspondingly reduced. —McC.

SORORITIES PLEDGE SISTERS

Eleven Girls Follow Footsteps of Sisters—Rest Pledge in February.

The several sororities have some solace in the fact that they can at least pledge their sisters before the first of February. They seem to have taken advantage of the privilege as the following list shows:

Alpha Chi Omega—Clara McMahon, Lincoln.

Alpha Phi—Vivien Ayers, Lincoln.

Alpha Xi Delta—Madge Daniels, Ord.

Chi Omega—Louise Piper, Lyons; Mabel Roberts, Alma.

Delta Gamma—Ruth Clark, Omaha; Ella Bocher, Columbus; Julia Miller, Beatrice; Marian Watkins, Lincoln; Genevieve Wesner, Lincoln.

Kappa Alpha Theta—Dorothy Wallace, Lincoln. —W. F. G.

FIVE MORE MEN ON BALLOT

Investigation Shows Larger Number of Ex-Nebraskans As Aspirants for Office.

Upon further investigation it has been found that five university graduates who are candidates for state offices were omitted in a previous article. This makes the total number thirteen instead of eight. The five candidates on the state ticket that were omitted are:

Otto W. Meier, '98 A. B.; '00 LL. B., at present a well-known lawyer in this city, democratic candidate for state senator from Lancaster county.

Allen Johnson, '08 LL. B., at present a lawyer at Fremont, progressive candidate for presidential elector.

Joseph C. Cook, '95 LL. B., the acting county attorney at Fremont, republican candidate for congressman of the third district.

Robert P. Starr, '02 LL. B., at present a lawyer at Loup City, republican candidate for state senator of the twenty-second district.

F. L. Bollen, '06 LL. B., of Crofton, democratic candidate for state representative of the seventh district. Mr. Bollen also received a B. Sc. degree at the Fremont College in 1897.

The other eight candidates, on the state ticket mentioned before are:

D. B. Gilbert of Fremont, Paul E. Clark of this city, John A. Maguire of this city, congressman of the first district; Charles M. Skiles of David City, E. E. Placek of Wahoo, J. H. Kemp of Fullerton, Frank W. Bartos of Wilber and Walter V. Hoagland of North Platte. —J. K. F.

STIEHM AND SYSTEM ENDORSED

Omaha Club Adopts Resolutions
Friendly to Coach And Supporting Alumni In Their Attacks On Valley Conference Policy.

At a meeting of Omaha students held yesterday morning, a set of resolutions endorsing Coach Stiehm and repudiating some of the sentiment that has been created against the athletic management were passed.

The meeting was presided over by Stuart Gould, who was later made chairman of the Omaha organization. The resolutions were drawn up by Gould, Chandler Trimble and W. E. Kavan and were sent to Omaha to be presented to the alumni who were advertised to have met last evening at the University club.

The resolutions, besides endorsing Stiehm, freed the athletic mentors from responsibility for the poor football schedule, declaring the same to be caused by other forces out of the control of the managers.

The club went on record as endorsing the attitude of the alumni who are opposed to the narrowness of the policy pursued in the Missouri Valley conference and who declare for a more broad and liberal policy in Nebraska athletics. —CUT.

GET OUT YOUR TORCH

BIG SENDOFF FOR TEAM PLANNED FOR TOMORROW NIGHT.

TEAM GOES AFTER TIGERS' PELTS

Torches to Be Placed On Sale Today
By Innocents at Daily Nebraskan
Office—Dime Apiece.

Next Thursday night the annual torchlight sendoff for the team will be given. The team leaves for the Tigers' lair about 9 o'clock over the Burlington and the same kind of a rousing rally is expected as came last year before the Kansas game. Every indication now points to a victorious outcome of the struggle, although after a fight to the teeth and this expectant enthusiasm is expected to make the event a success.

The torchlight parade is an annual custom which has extended back a number of years. When the game with the Jayhawkers is at Lawrence, the squad gets its sendoff then, but when, as this year, the Kansans come to Lincoln, the trip to Missouri gets the boost. Immense spirit is the ever present result of the rally and seemingly victory is always easier for the team.

The Innocents are in charge of the affair. They will have torches on sale today in the office of the Daily Nebraskan—price ten cents each. Oil and wicks will be furnished. The parade will be formed on the campus at 8:30 and a circuitous march by way of O street will probably consume an hour or so. Every effort will be made to give the citizens of the burg of Lincoln a thrill which will compare favorably with the ordinary mortal's conception of the eruption of Vesuvius or the last republican convention. A number of cheer leaders will be appointed to act for the occasion and no one wants to buy a torch if he expects to talk above a whisper at recitations the following morning.

At the train Coach Stiehm, Captain Frank, Purdy and all the rest of Nebraska's warriors will be given a chance to tell their supporters how large the score will be in the Missouri game and the promising chances of winning the Valley championship.

A feature which always makes this procession of intense interest is the large number of fair ones which line the highways on the path to the station. A man naturally feels more like waving a torch and shouting like a wild Indian if he knows that someone realizes the amount of oil he is getting on his clothes for the sake of his team. While the Innocents do not expect the girls to shoulder torches they do ask that they get out and in this manner help make the sendoff the best of years. —Sn.
