Nebraska's fortunes do not soar as high this year as they did last in the matter of placing men on the All-Missouri Valley team. Last season the consensus of opinion gave places to seven Nebraska men, while this year the Cornhuskers will have to be content with four. Pearson, Harmon, Purdy, and Captain Frank are the Nebraska men on the mythical eleven this year, and none of them were members of the first string team last year.

The end positions go to Brownlee of Kansas and Nagl of Ames. These men were especially strong on the defense and very good on getting down the field under punts. Brownlee was a star in the Nebraska-Kansas game, and very seldom were the Huskers able to circle his end for any great gains.

The tackles go to Harmon of Nebraska and Barton of Missouri. Both men were good on the defense, opening holes on the offense, and men to be relied upon for gains whenever called upon to carry the ball.

Pearson of Nebraska and Pfund of Ames are given the guard positions for their aggressiveness and especially good work at that position during the season.

The position of center is given to Wilson of Missouri, who held that position last year. Although Allan of Nebraska played a good game against him in the Tiger contest, the work of the Cornhusker pivot was not of the best quality in the first part of the season.

In the back field there are only four positions open, as compared with thrice that many men who are capable of filling them. Eliminating those who come below the grade of the best, and judging on the grounds of resourcefulness, aggressiveness, and general ability to make gains with the ball, the

TO ELECT CAPTAIN TOMORROW

Squad Will Have Picture Taken at St. George's Studio— Elect in Gymnasium.

Coach Stiehm and his corps of assistants are endeavoring to finish up this week all matters connected with the football season. At 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the thirteen men who received their "N's" in football this year will meet at St. George's studio for the purpose of having their pictures taken. Immediately afterwards they will adjourn to the gymnasium and at 5 o'clock next year's captain will be elected. Two or three of the most prominent players on this year's team are being mentioned in connection with the captaincy.

All men who have been furnished with football equipment this year are requested by the coach to hand it in at the equipment room by 4:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.—O.H.

RECENT MILITARY PROMOTIONS.

Versaw, Flansburg, and O'Hanlon are Given Higher Positions.

There have been a few promotions made recently in the military department. On account of the withdrawal from the department of the first sergeant of Co. C, P. E. Versaw has been appointed to fill the vacancy. In the same company R. H. Flansburg has been promoted to the position of quartermaster sergeant.

A. R. O'Hanlon, second lieutenant of Co. M last year, has been appointed first lieutenant and adjutant of the third battalion.—C. N. B.

back field has been chosen from Ames, Nebraska, and Missouri.

In generalship and speedy work with the ball, Hurst of Ames is the premier of the valley quarters, for he has had much experience at that position. He keeps excellent control over the team and accomplishes good results with his forward passes.

The halfback positions go to the Nebraska players Purdy and Frank. Frank is a demon when it comes to open field work, excelling in fast, shifty runs. He is a consistent player, good on end runs and line bucking, and in addition handling the forward pass well. Purdy, because of his great work in all of Nebraska's hard games, is given the other half. He is a hard line plunger, making good in short, shifty runs. He, too, catches a forward pass well and is a whirlwind on the defense.

The fullback position is given to Knobel of Missouri. Knobel was the best ground gainer for Missouri and is very heavy and aggressive. He hits the line hard and is good for sure gains. Knobel and Purdy working together as interference have the weight to effect a powerful, aggressive wedge for the man with the ball.

Simons of Drake is a good open field man, a fine forward passer, and no doubt would have been the class of the valley in the back field had he played in more games, but he seems to be too susceptible to injury to be given a place.—Jimmy.

BLUEPRINT TAGS OUT ON TIME

Subscription Campaign for Engineering Publication Started Yesterday. After Engineers' Support.

The Blueprint editors started their subscription campaign on the dot yesterday. Among the first sights to greet the eyes of students returning from their Thanksgiving vacation Monday morning were groups of engineers wearing cards inscribed, "I subscribed for the Blueprint. Why don't you?" Those engineers who were not wearing these symbols of their support of the college publication were met on every turn with queries of "Where's your tag?"

It is believed that this campaign will result in more support of the Blueprint than has been given in past years and that it will mean increased college spirit among the engineers. G. A. Walker, who is in charge of the campaign, states that an effort will be made to get the subscription of every engineer.—Ly.

CARTOONIST AT CONVOCATION

Johnson, Former Nebraska Student, Will Speak in Memorial Hall This Morning.

Herbert Johnson, a former student of the University, will speak at convocation this morning in Memorial Hall. Mr. Johnson has become quite a famous cartoonist and is at present connected with the Philadelphia North American. During the campaign just brought to a close he cartooned the political articles by Samuel Blythe that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and after the first of the year he will devote all his time to the Post.

Mr. Johnson will be remembered as being the managing editor of the Arrow, a publication gotten out by the University students a few years ago, and which became conspicuous in one of the state campaigns. His cartoon work in this magazine was one of the interesting features.—L. W. H.

ZOOLOGICAL SEMINAR TONIGHT.

Miss Mantor Reads Paper at This Evening's Meeting.

At the Zoological Seminar tonight Miss Edna C. Mantor will read a paper on the Dynamics of Morphogenesis and Inheritance in Experimental Reproduction.

The seminar meeting will be held in the zoology library at 7 o'clock.—B. M.

PLACE HIGH AT CHICAGO

NEBRASKA STOCK JUDGING TEAM WINS FIFTH PLACE.

WISENAND SIXTH AMONG SIXTY

Twelve Colleges Entered with Teams of Five Men—Iowa State College Wins First Place, Pennsylvania Last.

After the week spent on the road in preparation for the event, the Nebraska stock judging team finished fifth in the contest at Chicago Saturday. There were twelve schools entered, and Nebraska's team is considered to have placed favorably in so large a field.

Perhaps the greatest intercollegiate competitive stock judging contest, and the only one that is international in scope, is the annual student judging contest held at Chicago in connection with the International Stock Show. The contest this year was the twelfth one held and was the largest and hardest of the series. Twelve agricultural schools were represented with teams of five men each, making sixty picked stock judges from the best schools in the United States and Canada.

Wiseland Sixth Man.

After the hard days' work of Saturday, November 30, was over and the statisticians had averaged and checked all figures, the results showed that Nebraska placed fifth among the twelve teams entered. For individual honors W. J. Wiseland was Nebraska's high man, placing sixth among sixty individual contestants.

The rating of the Nebraska team on the different classes of farm animals was as follows: Horses, fifth; cattle, ninth; sheep, third, and swine, sixth.

Contest Hard Fought.

It was a hard-fought contest from beginning to end, and the Nebraska team worked with creditable results. The coaches feel well satisfied with the team, although they did not do as well as the judging team at Kansas City and the dairy team at the National Dairy Show.

Members of the team were H. B. Pier, Hugh Raymond, R. J. Posson, Wyatt Richey, and W. J. Wiseland.

The schools entered in order of their standing were: Iowa State College, Kansas Agricultural College, University of Missouri, Ohio State University, University of Nebraska, Ontario Agricultural College, Agricultural College of Texas, University of Kentucky, Manitoba Agricultural College, Arkansas State Agricultural School, University of Nevada, Pennsylvania State College.
