FINAL REHEARSAL TODAY

PLAYERS IN GOOD CONDITION AND EVERYTHING GOING SMOOTHLY.

COSTUMES ARE WORTH SEEING

Tickets Are Going Fast and Those Intending to Go Must Secure Reservations Soon or Take Poor Seats.

The final rehearsal for the junior play will be held today in the Oliver theatre. The costumes are here and they will be used this afternoon so that the actors will become acquainted with their peculiarities.

Each individual is doing very well in his part and the play as a whole is expected to satisfy the audience.

The lead, Nathan Hale, taken by Guy Kiddo deserves comment as this part is being played well. The feminine lead, the part of Alice Adams, taken by Helen Sorenson needs equally as much praise for the way this part is to be put on.

The villain, Jay Fritzon, taken by Don Ahrens is a very important part as it is through the vigilance and alertness of this man that Hale is finally discovered and detected as a spy.

Every member of the cast might be mentioned or commented upon because of the unusual ability he or she is showing but it will be sufficient to comment on the play as a whole, which will include them all.

Not too much praise can be given for the way in which the cast and the coach, Miss Howell, have been working in trying to produce a success.

Both nightly and afternoon rehearsals are being held in final efforts to polish the play up in the best possible way.

The business manager reports that nothing will be spared from his position in trying to make the play a successful one. The tickets were going very fast yesterday and it is supposed that the house will be sold out before Friday evening. The regular Oliver orchestra will furnish the music and the stage and house will be decorated in flags and other things appropriate to the occasion. This occasion will not only call back to memory the vallant work and bravery of the man, Nathan Hale, who gave up his life that his country might be saved from the rebels but it commemorates the birth of the father and hero of our country, George Washington.

GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUBS TO SING AT CONVOCATION

Memorial Hall This Morning to Be the Scene of Much Good Vocal Music.

Today's convocation promises to be of greater interest to the greatest number of any given this year. It will charm even the most profound scientists in our midst. After much urging the glee club and the mandolin club have combined and will render a most finished program.

The mandolin club has several numbers from late popular operas. The club has about eighteen members this year, and has been limited to expert musicians. It has one member from an eastern school who is considered especially good. They will give the "Chocolate Soldier," "King Midas" and several new "rags" as encores. This will be the students' first opportunity to hear some of the music that is going to be given on the trip across the western part of the country.

The glee and mandolin clubs are two of the few things aside from athletic teams that advertise the school through the country. The songsters have one fairly heavy bit of music, but the others are all more or less light.

COTILLION COMES SATURDAY

Big Dance of the Year but Short Time Away—Will Start Promptly at 7:45.

Two days more—a matter of fifty hours or so to the anxious committee—and the two glittering lines of beautifully attired damosels and swallow-tailed gallants will wind through the mazes of the grand march, and the first annual cotillion of Nebraska will be started on its glorious career. Incidentally, the dance will commence promptly at 7:45. Notice the 7. The eighth dance is scheduled as the "favor" dance and the suspense will be over. The committee gives assurance to the timid ones that they need have no fear of a "mob," for only a comparatively small crowd is expected. They further announce that everything is in the finest shape for the big formal, and that there is not the slightest chance for any hitch in the program.

Cabs are absolutely prohibited. Ever since the stirring discussion of a couple of years ago, "Cabs is Cabs," and the fem-wagon has been "sam la mode" in Nebraska society.

KATHERYN YATES MEETS DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Prominent Member of Senior Class Is Thrown Out in Unfortunate but Unavoidable Collision With Cab.

About 8 o'clock last evening in a seemingly unavoidable accident resulting from the collision with a cab of an automobile driven by Ed Jones, son of C. I. Jones of Lincoln, Miss Kathryn Yates a prominent member of the senior class was thrown out and almost instantly killed.

Miss Yates did not regain consciousness after the accident. The body was taken to her home immediately.

The machine was moving at a moderate speed according to statements made by witnesses. The street is especially narrow at that point and when the cab with no lights, loomed up in the dark, the unavoidable collision occurred.

Miss Yates was on her way to see "Hamlet" and was accompanied by Frederic C. McConnell in the machine. With no warning whatever the accident occurred and all three occupants of the machine were thrown out. Although badly shaken up none but Miss Yates suffered injury.

In all lines of school activity Miss Yates was both prominent and popular. She has had leading parts in many dramatic productions both of her class and of the Dramatic Club and was now considered a certain member of the coming senior playcast. For several years she has held offices in her class and has been a strong factor in school affairs. Miss Yates was especially well known for her great number of friends and acquaintances on the campus.

DEFEAT DRAKE 21 TO 4

STIEHM'S WARRIORS SHOW IOWANS HOW TO PLAY GAME ON HOME FLOOR.

CLEAN BALL ALL THROUGH

Hanzlik and Carrier Star for Nebraska—Both Teams Seem Unable to Make Baskets.

(Special to The Daily Nebraskan from C. H. Cline, Sporting Editor Drake Delphic.)

Des Moines, Iowa, February, 19.—Nebraska's team work proved too much for Drake in the second half here today and the Cornhuskers won, 21 to 4. Drake held the Nebraskans well in the first half which ended 6 to 2. In the second Underwood and Myers entered the game and the team work improved.

Hanzlik and Carrier were the stars for Nebraska, McCormick and Lansing excelled for Drake.

Both teams played clean basketball. Although Nebraska displayed the best game seen here, they aroused the hostility of the crowd by their seemingly conceited attitude.

Haskell was held to one basket in each half under close guarding. Tupper outplayed Stryker holding him scoreless and tallying himself. Captain Carrier did remarkable work at dribbling in second half and also did the best defensive work.

Both teams were decidedly off on basket shooting and the Nebraskans passed many easy shots. Drake fought hard and played their opponents even in the first half but the heavier Nebraskans were them down in the final session.

Referee E. Hyland was far too lax in his decisions and this detracted greatly from the interest of the game.

The two teams will play Thursday at 4:15 in the afternoon.

Line up:

Nebraska	Drake
Hanzlik	Lansing
Haskell	McCormick
Stryker	Tupper
Carrier	Page
Hyde	Denny

Substitutes: Jordan for Page, Higgins for Lansing, Colville for Tupper, King for McCormick, Underwood for Hanzlik, Myers for Stryker.

Field goals, Hanzlik, 3; Carrier, 3; Haskell, 2; Hyde, Underwood, Tupper, Lansing. Free throw: Haskell. Hyland, referee.
